

What causes the sea level to change?

Terrestrial water storage, extraction of groundwater, building of reservoirs, changes in runoff, and seepage into aquifers

Surface and deep ocean circulation changes, storm surges

Subsidence in river delta region,
land movements, and tectonic displacements

As the ocean warms, the water expands

Exchange of the water stored on land by glaciers and ice sheets with ocean water

Handbook of Sea-Level Research Ian Shennan, Antony J. Long, Benjamin P. Horton, 2014-12-17 Measuring sea level change be that rise or fall is one of the most pressing scientific goals of our time and requires robust scientific approaches and techniques This Handbook aims to provide a practical guide to readers interested in this challenge from the initial design of research approaches through to the practical issues of data collection and interpretation from a diverse range of coastal environments Building on thirty years of international research the Handbook comprises 38 chapters that are authored by leading experts from around the world The Handbook will be an important resource to scientists interested and involved in understanding sea level changes across a broad range of disciplines policy makers wanting to appreciate our current state of knowledge of sea level change over different timescales and many teachers at the university level as well as advanced level undergraduates and postgraduate research students wanting to learn more about sea level change Additional resources for this book can be found at <http://www.wiley.com/go/shennan/sealevel> Rising Sea Levels Hunt Janin, Scott A. Mandia, 2012-10-09 The fundamental point of this book is that in the past the world's political economic military and social development took place during a time of relatively stable sea level That time however is now over The world must begin to cope with rising seas This book is a wide ranging introductory survey It addresses global warming the hydrologic cycle why we should care about the rise of the oceans storm surges and other extreme events the changing seas and their shorelines cities and countries of the Atlantic Pacific and Indian ocean basins the West Antarctic Ice Sheet and the Greenland Ice Sheet case studies on how the Netherlands and the U S plan to cope with sea level rise the likely impacts of this rise getting to know the experts on sea level rise and very long term prospects for the world's shorelines
