Since 1976 meteorites have been collected by a NSF-funded field team shipped for curation, characterization, distribution and storage at NASA and classified and stored for long term at the Smithsonian. It is the largest collection in the world with many significant samples including lunar, martian, many interesting chondrites and achondrites and even several unusual one-of-a-kind meteorites from as yet unidentified parent bodies. Many Antarctic meteorites have helped to define new meteorite groups. No previous formal publication has covered the entire collection and an overall summary of its impact and significant samples has been lacking.
