Building a Future on Peace and Justice Kai Ambos, Judith Large, Marieke Wierda, 2008-12-04 Results of the 2007 Nuremberg Conference on Peace and Justice Tensions between peace and justice have long been debated by scholars practitioners and agencies including the United Nations and both theory and policy must be refined for very practical application in situations emerging from violent conflict or political repression Specific contexts demand concrete decisions and approaches aimed at redress of grievance and creation of conditions of social justice for a non violent future There has been definitive progress in a world in which blanket amnesties were granted at times with little hesitation There is a growing understanding that accountability has pragmatic as well as principled arguments in its favour Practical arguments as much as shifts in the norms have created a situation in which the choice is increasingly seen as which forms of accountability rather than a stark choice between peace and justice It is socio political transformation not just an end to violence that is needed to build sustainable peace This book addresses these dilemmas through a thorough overview of the current state of legal obligations discussion of the need for a holistic approach including development analysis of the implications of the coming into force of the ICC and a series of hard case studies on internationalized and local approaches devised to navigate the tensions between peace and justice The Future of East Asia Peter Hayes, Chung-In Moon, 2017-12-04 This book collects some of the most influential scholars in international relations who focus on Asia globally in exploring the challenges of diplomacy faced in Asia as US policy drastically changes The president elect has suggested policies which if implemented would radically transform the way that the region functions what will this mean in practice China s government is also retrenching nationalist positions what is the future of China and what does that mean for the region A wide range of distinguished scholars concerned about the future have contributed their thoughts in an attempt to spark a global dialogue

Toward a Moral Horizon Patricia Rodney, Janet L. Storch, Rosalie Catherine Starzomski, 2004 A Canadian nursing ethics book written specifically for study at an advanced level Back cover Emancipatory and Participatory Methodologies in Peace, Critical, and Community Psychology Mohamed Seedat, Shahnaaz Suffla, Daniel J. Christie, 2017-10-17 Offering a unique set of case studies that invites readers to question and reimagine the concept of community engagement this collected work provides an overview and analysis of numerous creative participatory research methods designed to improve well being at both the individual and societal level In a world where there are enormous differences in the wealth and health of people it is increasingly recognized that sustainable peace requires both a broad based public commitment to nonviolence combined with noticeable increments in the wellbeing of people who occupy the lowest socioeconomic strata of societies This volume focuses on the latter how to use qualitative research methods to improve well being of research participants and thus the wider society The participatory research examples described in these chapters are meant to encourage researchers scholars and practitioners to question assumed knowledge about community engagement research and practice and to inspire social justice oriented scholarship The cases studies and methods portrayed are as varied as the situations and cultures in which they take place In most of the case studies the personal is linked to the political with a social justice imperative as participants from marginalized communities express an understanding of their own position within power hierarchies deconstruct power relations and experience a sense of agency In other instances the methods are no less participatory but the aim is more focused on inner and outer harmony psychological wellbeing conflict resolution and intergroup reconciliation In all the cases studies there is a strong emphasis on methods in which community members are at the center of efforts to promote social change The methods described include group storytelling community arts asset mapping dialogues creative writing embroidery filmmaking Photovoice writing back to power and other means of engaging in emancipatory praxis and promoting personal wellbeing Taken together the chapters illustrate creative ways in which community members embedded in disadvantaged contexts can engage in a dynamic process that stimulates individual and collective agency Ultimately this volume will provide readers with a deeper understanding of a wide range of creative qualitative research methods and will encourage establishment of an effective social justice agenda essential to human wellbeing and sustainable peace

Strained Peace: Northern Ireland from Good Friday to Brexit Amanda Hall, 2024-09-30 As the United Kingdom continues to grapple with the aftermath of Brexit one corner of the Union has remained caught in the crosshairs Northern Ireland has been the subject of renewed scrutiny since 2016 as efforts to leave the European Union come up against the terms of the Good Friday Agreement and threaten the region's hard won peace. The reasons for these challenges can be traced back to the Agreement itself as the negotiated settlement and its immediate aftermath set in place a strained peace. This book examines the function and dysfunction of peace after 1998 to explain why its endurance cannot be taken for granted. Strained peace stands apart from the traditional peace-violence binary. Structures of conflict and patterns of division are reiterated in the structures of peace. Tensions might relax just as they might be inflamed by new challenges but the threat of a return to violence is never fully gone. This book explores how such a condition developed between Good Friday and Brexit, addressing variations in the quality of peace in the insecurity of official structures at Stormont, the shifting role of community groups and the third sector and the adaptation of culture as a culture war replaced physical violence on the streets.

Encyclopedia of Violence, Peace, and Conflict, 2008-09-05. The 2nd edition of Encyclopedia of Violence, Peace, and Conflict provides timely and useful information about antagonism and reconciliation in all contexts of public and personal life. Building on the highly regarded 1st edition 1999 and publishing at a time of seemingly inexorably increasing conflict and violent behaviour, the world over, the Encyclopedia is an essential reference for students and scholars working in the field of peace and conflict resolution studies and for those seeking to explore alternatives to violence and share visions and strategies for social justice and social change. Covering topics as diverse as Arms Control, Peace Movements, Child Abuse, Folklore, Terrorism and Political Assassinations, the Encyclopedia comprehensively addresses an extensive information area in 225 multi-disciplinary, cross-referenced and authoritatively authored articles. In his Preface to the 1st edition, Editor in Chief Lester Kurtz wrote: 'The problem of violence poses such a monumental challenge at the end of the 20th century that it is surprising we have addressed it so inadequately. We have not made much progress in learning how to cooperate with one another more effectively or how to conduct our conflicts more peacefully. Instead we have increased the lethality of our combat through revolutions in weapons technology and military training.' The Encyclopedia of Violence, Peace, and Conflict is designed to help us to take stock of our knowledge concerning these crucial phenomena. Ten years on, the need for an authoritative and cross-disciplinary approach to the great issues of violence and peace seems greater than ever. More than 200 authoritative, multidisciplinary articles in a 3-volume set. Many brand new articles alongside revised and updated content from the First Edition. Article outline and glossary of key terms at the beginning of each article. Entries arranged alphabetically for easy access. Articles written by more than 200 eminent contributors from around the world.

Peace, Reconciliation and Social Justice Leadership in the 21st Century H. Eric Schockman, Vanessa Hernández, Aldo Boitano, 2019-09-23. Bringing together leading scholars and practitioners from the worlds of leadership, followership, transitional justice and international law, this research provides a blueprint of how people-led bottom-up grassroots efforts can foster reconciliation and a more peaceful world.

Choosing Peace Bridget Moix, 2019-04-24. Despite deep roots in local community organizing and peace activism, the peacebuilding field over the past two decades has evolved into a stratified and often disconnected community of academics policymakers and practitioners While the growth into a more recognized and professionalized field has led to significant improvements in how decision makers and influential thinkers accept peace and conflict resolution theory and practice it has also left certain communities behind Individual activists community based groups and locally led civil society organizations in other words the people most directly experiencing the results of violent conflict and striving to overcome and transform it remain notably on the margins of what has become the more recognized international peacebuilding field As a result the inherent links between policies and practices of the global North particularly the United States where much of the professional peacebuilding community is concentrated and the daily realities of rising violence and collapsing order experienced by communities in the global South are glossed over or apportioned to the fields of political science or international affairs Similarly the daily community level efforts of people and groups within the United States and other global North countries seeking to address drivers of violence and injustice in their own communities are largely disconnected from the struggles of communities living inside recognized war zones for a more peaceful and just future These disconnects within the peacebuilding field have increasingly become obstacles to its further evolution and improvement Without a serious shift in direction toward more integrated interconnected and intersectional understanding and approaches the peacebuilding field threatens to become just another Western driven industry in which powerful decision makers politicized funding and large international bureaucracies sustain themselves Reconnecting the field with its roots of community based activism organizing and courageous leadership is urgently needed and a necessary step to improving our collective efforts to build a more peaceful just and sustainable world Drawing on the voices and experiences of community based peace leaders around the world this book envisions a new way of working together as a truly local and global peacebuilding field one in which undoing the roots of violence and injustice is not something that takes place in the field but in the streets of our own neighborhoods and in solidarity with others around the world

Innovative Community Responses to Disaster Brent Hales, Norman Walzer, James Calvin, 2017-10-02 Increasingly community leaders around the world face major natural and economic disasters that require them to find ways to rebuild both physical infrastructure and the local economy Doing this effectively requires an understanding of how various parts of the community are interconnected as well as information as to which revitalization approaches have succeeded in the past Community investment in recovery is essential and in some cases may require local leaders to rethink how it can be financed and arranged This book presents a conceptual framework based on the community capitals and describes approaches that have succeeded in situations where local leaders have coordinated efforts to rebuild and revitalize local conditions Contributions provide examples of successful approaches around the world thus analysing potential strategies for addressing disasters of many different types in various cultural settings In this way the book provides insights into a variety of approaches based on applications of accepted community development theory and concepts This book was originally
