Peace Operations And Asian Security:

Un Peace Operations and Asian Security Mely Cabellero-Anthony, Amitav Acharya, 2009-10-13 Based on selected papers from mostly Asian scholars this book offers regional perspectives from South Southeast and Northeast Asia on the changing nature of UN Peace Operations This book was previously published as a special issue of International Peacekeeping UN Peace Operations and Asian Security Mely Cabellero-Anthony, Amitav Acharya, 2005-09-27 This is an unparalleled analysis of the state of the United Nations peace operations and their impact on Asian security This new volume examines new strategies being adopted by the UN including doctrinal shifts in peace operation and assesses the division of labour between the UN regional organisation and non governmental organisations actors Based on selected papers from mostly Asian scholars the book offers regional perspectives from South Southeast and Northeast Asia on the changing nature of UN Peace operations and analyses some of the core issues that are of critical relevance to regional security in Asia In addition it reveals interesting new insights on the new players in the area of peace operations i e China and Japan and considers their projected roles as defined by their respective security concepts It also delves into issues of possible areas of concern caused by the new activism of these regional powers in peace operations Finally the book also revisits the significant lessons learnt from the UN experience in Cambodia and East Timor and examines their impact on future directions of peace operations This book was previously published as a special issue of the leading journal International Peacekeeping Peace Operations Donald C. F. Daniel, Patricia Taft, Sharon Wiharta, 2008-07-30 Trends in the number and scope of peace operations since 2000 evidence heightened international appreciation for their value in crisis response and regional stabilization Peace Operations Trends Progress and Prospects addresses national and institutional capacities to undertake such operations by going beyond what is available in previously published literature Part one focuses on developments across regions and countries It builds on data gathering projects undertaken at Georgetown University s Center for Peace and Security Studies CPASS the Stockholm International Peace Research Institute SIPRI and the Folke Bernadotte Academy FBA that offer new information about national contributions to operations and about the organizations through which they make those contributions The information provides the bases for arriving at unique insights about the characteristics of contributors and about the division of labor between the United Nations and other international entities Part two looks to trends and prospects within regions and nations Unlike other studies that focus only on regions with well established track records specifically Europe and Africa this book also looks to the other major areas of the world and poses two questions concerning them If little or nothing has been done institutionally in a region why not What should be expected This groundbreaking volume will help policymakers and academics understand better the regional and national factors shaping the prospects for peace operations into the next decade East Asia, Peacekeeping Operations, and Humanitarian Assistance and Disaster Relief Catherine Jones, Garren Mulloy, 2021-11-29 Focusing on East Asia this collection explores the paradox of functional regional cooperation in the areas of humanitarian assistance disaster relief and UN Peacekeeping operations in a context of increasing regional tensions and threats East Asia comprising the states of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations and China Japan the Republic of Korea and the Democratic People's Republic of Korea is facing a range of human traditional climate and ideational threats In addressing some of these threats particularly those arising from climate induced disasters this region has been able to develop some ad hoc cooperative practices that according to functional logics of regional integration could lead to longer term sustained coordinated responses and even regional partnerships Similarly the region is increasingly contributing to UN peacekeeping operations where these states also cooperate in the context of an UN led mission Yet despite the potential for these interactions to lead to greater regional integration and coordinated action in responding to a range of security threats these interactions are increasingly taking place in a context of animosity both between regional powers and with extra regional powers This edited collection explores these functional interactions and posits conclusions about the potential for longer term sustained coordinated action These papers engage with a range of theoretical approaches in explaining the patterns of relations that are present in the region in relation to humanitarian assistance disaster relief and UN peacekeeping operations The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of the Australian Journal of International Affairs

Malaysia's United Nations Peacekeeping Operations (1960-2010) Asri Salleh, Asmady Idris, 2021-01-04 Small and developing states make up the majority of participants in United Nations Peacekeeping Operations UNPKO and Malaysia is one of these The numerous previous studies on Malaysia's UNPKO are primarily historical narratives which focus on practical policy related issues and due process making no attempt to synchronize the nexus between theory and policy analysis Nor do they cover the theoretical aspect which can operationalize and address the question of the roles played by Malaysia's domestic actors foreign policy executives legislature military media public opinion in the respective decision making processes as well as those of external level such as international power politics and geopolitical considerations In other words they are predominantly a historical narrative of only several Malaysia's UNPKO This book fills the critical gap It deliberates on the respective national and international decision making processes especially from the Malaysian point of view and analyses the theoretical and practical impacts of Malaysia's UNPKO in understanding international politics Apart from providing a well researched account of Malaysia's UNPKO across the globe for 50 years i.e. 1960-2010 this book examines the determinants by using qualitative data particularly key informant interviews and documentary analysis Thus while most studies of Malaysia's UNPKO single out domestic imperatives as the most vital determinant this book on the contrary comprehensively identifies the prevailing world security order as the most important determinant influencing Malaysia's UNPKO followed by the domestic ones

Peace and Security in Indo-Pacific Asia

Sorpong Peou, 2021-11-21 Peace and Security in Indo Pacific Asia is for the informed the interested and the engaged Sorpong Peou brings together the skills of the pedagogue with the knowledge of the scholar Dr David Dewitt University Professor

Emeritus Senior Scholar York University Toronto Canada Peou's excellent book provides both the lay reader and the specialist with six important theoretical frameworks which should provide the basis for better appreciation of what a security community in Indo Pacific Asia means in our world today There are very few scholars who understand the region like Peou Dr W Andy Knight Professor of Political Science the University of Alberta Canada Sorpong Peou's extraordinary breadth of knowledge of both International Relations theory and the key trends in Indo Pacific Asia shines through in this authoritative analysis Dr Richard Stubbs Professor of Political Science McMaster University Canada A pedagogical approach of the textbook that is appreciated is how the author respectfully engages with the theories of IR and is not pushing an agenda of denouncing some theories and trying to persuade the reader of others We live in such polarizing times that it is truly refreshing to read scholarly work that avoids sensationalistic attacks on theories that have been debated for decades Each theory in this manuscript is explored on its own terms and the reader is encouraged to figure out where they stand on these enduring debates in the context of Indo Pacific security The approach will lead to compelling classroom discussions of the theories and the politics of the region This book is a must read for any student or observer of security trends in the region Dr Mark Williams Chair and Professor of Political Studies Vancouver Island University B C Canada

Regional Maintenance of Peace and Security under International Law Dace Winther, 2013-10-30. This book explores the scope and limits of what is appropriate for regional action in the maintenance of peace and security. It offers a comparative study of legal regulation of the use of force in the maintenance of peace and security of different security regions in the context of the UN system and general international law. The book examines the post Cold War legal documents and practice of the regional organizations of six security regions of the world: Africa, Asia, the Americas, the Middle East, the Russian sphere of influence and the Euro Atlantic region and in doing so offers a unique international and comparative perspective towards regional characteristics that may influence the possibility for coherent action in a UN context. Dace Winther explores the controversial topics of regional humanitarian intervention and robust regional peacekeeping without a UN mandate, what is regarded as appropriate for regional action in different security regions of the world and if the approaches of the regions differ, what factors could have an influence. The book is highly relevant in a global climate where regional mechanisms take an ever more active part in the maintenance of international peace and security including the use of force. The book will be of great interest to students and academics of International Law, International Relations and Security Studies.

ASEAN and Human Trafficking Naparat Kranrattanasuit, 2014-07-03. Trafficking in persons is a serious crime that affects the human rights, dignity and integrity of all its victims including women, men and children in the Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN) region. ASEAN has made efforts to fight human trafficking through inter alia the establishment of regional counter human trafficking laws and human rights bodies to establish best norms and practices for its member countries. Nevertheless, the International Labour Organization (ILO) recently declared that there are more than 11.7 million forced labor victims in the Asia Pacific region encompassing the biggest concentration of forced labour victims in the world. This volume reviews the achievements and the deficiencies of ASEAN's counter human strategies at the national and regional level. It offers suggestions for the reform of ASEAN's anti trafficking laws and for the creation of a regional anti trafficking human rights body specialized in preventing human trafficking, promoting equal protection of all trafficking victims and prosecuting human traffickers.
