The Peace Psychology Bulletin ,1992 Handbook on the Politics of Memory Maria Mäklsoo, 2023-01-20 Providing a novel multi disciplinary theorization of memory politics this insightful Handbook brings varied literatures into a focused dialogue on the ways in which the past is remembered and how these influence transnational interstate and global politics in the present Advances in Reversal Theory M.J. Apter, J.H. Kerr, S. Murgatroyd, 1993-01-01 Explores some of the recent thinking in psychology along the lines that people are inherently inconsistent over time and that the differences within an individual are as important as the differences among individuals The 26 papers most presented at conferences since 1988 and many researchers have

Arab-Jewish Activism in Israel-Palestine Marcelo Svirsky, 2016-04-15 Applying the insights of Deleuze and Guattari's works to Israel Palestine Arab Jewish Activism in Israel Palestine sets out to re conceptualise the relationship between resistance and power in ethnically segregated spaces in general and the Israeli Palestine context in particular Combining many years of ethnographic study and political and social activism with a solid theoretical conceptual framework Marcelo Svirsky convincingly argues that successful efforts to decolonise the region depend on taking the struggle beyond self determination and making it collaborative Decolonisation depends on political and cultural changes that elaborate on the historical partition of social life in the region that have been an issue since the early twentieth century This elaboration means producing a civil struggle aimed at the destabilisation of the Zionist supremacy and resulting in a democratic political community from the Mediterranean Sea to the Jordan River Simply not just another book on Israel and Palestine Arab Jewish Activism in Israel Palestine provides refreshingly new empirical evidence and theoretical analysis on the connection between resistance intercultural alliances civil society and the potential for actualising shared sociabilities in a conflict ridden society An indispensable read to all scholars wishing to gain original insights into the transversal connections which transcend ethnicity

Peace and Security in the Postmodern World Dennis J.D. Sandole, 2007-01-24 This book analyzes how postmodern conflict such as the recent Balkan Wars and the post 9 11 new terrorism can be prevented and or otherwise dealt with in the future

Attracted to Conflict: Dynamic Foundations of Destructive Social Relations Robin R. Vallacher, Peter T. Coleman, Andrzej Nowak, Lan Bui-Wrzosinska, Larry Liebovitch, Katharina Kugler, Andrea Bartoli, 2014-07-08 Conflict is inherent in virtually every aspect of human relations from sport to parliamentary democracy from fashion in the arts to paradigmatic challenges in the sciences and from economic activity to intimate relationships Yet it can become among the most serious social problems humans face when it loses its constructive features and becomes protracted over time with no obvious means of resolution This book addresses the subject of intractable social conflict from a new vantage point Here these types of conflict represent self organizing phenomena emerging quite naturally from the ongoing dynamics in human interaction at any scale from the interpersonal to the international Using the universal language and computational framework of nonlinear dynamical systems theory in combination with recent insights from social psychology intractable conflict is understood as a system locked in special attractor states that constrain the thoughts and actions of the parties to the conflict The emergence and maintenance of attractors for conflict can be described by means of formal models that incorporate the results of computer simulations experiments field research and archival analyses Multi disciplinary research reflecting these approaches provides encouraging support for the dynamical systems perspective Importantly this text presents new views on conflict resolution In contrast to traditional approaches that tend to focus on basic short lived cause effect relations the dynamical perspective

emphasizes the temporal patterns and potential for emergence in destructive relations. Attractor deconstruction entails restoring complexity to a conflict scenario by isolating elements or changing the feedback loops among them. The creation of a latent attractor trades on the tendency toward multi stability in dynamical systems and entails the consolidation of incongruent positive elements into a coherent structure. In the bifurcation scenario factors are identified that can change the number and types of attractors in a conflict scenario. The implementation of these strategies may hold the key to unlocking intractable conflict creating the potential for constructive social relations.

Peace Psychology in the Balkans Olivera Simić, Zala Volčič, Catherine R. Philpot, 2012-03-06. The volume covers the development of peace psychology in the Balkans. The Balkans is a region marked by post communist and post conflict transitional turmoil and this book provides a comprehensive introduction to research in peace psychology in this part of the world written by scholars primarily working in the Balkan area. It brings together innovative scholarship that examines interdisciplinary aspects of peace psychology researched and written by scholars from Kosovo, Serbia, Bosnia, Bulgaria, Romania, Macedonia, Croatia and Slovenia as well as presenting research that responds to contemporary global issues by tracking the ways in which peace psychology is developing and implementing in the Balkans.

Emotion and Conflict Evelin Lindner, 2009-03-20. A social scientist with global affiliations among others with Columbia University in New York, University of Oslo in Norway and La Maison des Sciences de l'Homme in Paris, Lindner takes us across history and into nations worldwide to show how emotion spurs hierarchies of domination and therefore causes subjugation, human rights violations, abuse, conflict and fighting. She spotlights results ranging from the binding and subsequent deforming of Chinese women's feet to periods of slavery, bondage, feudalism, apartheid and other events across time. Related actions from political domination internationally to spousal or child abuse on the homefront are addressed. Lindner looks at how widely divergent societies from the Japan of Samurais to the Meso America of Aztecs up to the modern Iraq at war are driven by hierarchies of emotionally fueled control with rigid domination. Combining classic literature with emerging research, Lindner explains how similar dynamics are at work also in contemporary societies of the West albeit more covert. What is still lacking almost everywhere is access to the full range of our emotions together with the skills to regulate these emotions so that they become a liberating force in our lives. Play a constructive role for productive, fair and so called good conflict and inform our institution building. Lindner concludes her book by laying out a road map for how to reduce domination and increase human dignity both in our lives and in the world by using the power of emotion to implement global systemic change.

Ethical Loneliness Jill Stauffer, 2015-09-01. Ethical loneliness is the experience of being abandoned by humanity compounded by the cruelty of wrongs not being acknowledged. It is the result of multiple lapses on the part of human beings and political institutions that in failing to listen well to survivors deny them redress by negating their testimony and thwarting their claims for justice. Jill Stauffer examines the root causes of ethical loneliness and how those in power revise history to serve their own ends rather than the needs of the abandoned. Out of this discussion difficult truths about the desire and potential for political forgiveness transitional justice and political reconciliation emerge Moving beyond a singular focus on truth commissions and legal trials she considers more closely what is lost in the wake of oppression and violence how selves and worlds are built and demolished and who is responsible for re-creating lives after they are destroyed Stauffer boldly argues that rebuilding worlds and just institutions after violence is a broad obligation and that those who care about justice must first confront their own assumptions about autonomy liberty and responsibility before an effective response to violence can take place In building her claims Stauffer draws on the work of Emmanuel Levinas Jean Améry Eve Sedgwick and Friedrich Nietzsche as well as concrete cases of justice and injustice across the world

Peace Processes John D. Brewer,2010-03-08 Peace processes are mostly very fragile This engagingly written book takes a bold new approach to the topic by beginning from the premise that sociology can identify those factors that help to stabilize them The book draws a distinction between the political and social dimensions of peace processes arguing that each is dependent on the other Consideration of the social peace process neglected in conventional treatments of the subject is made central to this volume While complementing current approaches that emphasize institutional reform in politics law and economics it pays due attention to sociological factors such as gender civil society religion the deconstruction of violent masculinities restorative justice emotions hope forgiveness truth recovery social memory and public victimhood These important themes are fully illustrated with examples and in depth case studies from across the globe The book locates itself within the growing debate about the positive impact of global civil society on peace and identifies the new forms of peace work engendered by globalization It will be essential reading for students and scholars of peace studies in politics international relations and sociology departments
