Peaceful Management Of Transboundary Resources:

Sharing Transboundary Resources Eyal Benvenisti, 2002-04-04 Why do states often fail to cooperate using transboundary natural resources inefficiently and unsustainably This book first published in 2002 examines the contemporary international norms and policy recommendations that could provide incentives for states to cooperate Its approach is multi disciplinary proposing transnational institutions for the management of transboundary resources Benvenisti takes a fresh approach to the problem considering mismanagement as the link between domestic and international processes As well he explores reasons why some collective efforts to develop the international law on transnational ecosystems have failed while others succeeded This inquiry suggests that adjudicators need to be assertive in progressively developing the law while relying on scientific knowledge more than on past practice Global water policy issues seem set to remain a cause for concern for the foreseeable future this study provides a new approach to the problem of freshwater and will interest international environmentalists and lawyers and international relations scholars and practitioners

The Peaceful Management of Transboundary Resources Gerald Blake, 1995-03-15 The apparently inexorable demand for natural resources in an increasingly overcrowded world is widely recognized as one of the most serious threats to the ecological and political stability of our planet A large part of the problem stems from the fact that distribution of resources rarely coincides with the world s political boundaries and thereby creates a tension between the need for effective management of resources as natural units and the desire of individual states to take full advantage of resources within their jurisdiction

Cross-Border Resource Management Rongxing Guo, 2021-07-20 Approx 538 pages Approx 538 pages

Peaceful Uses of International Rivers: The Euphrates and Tigris Rivers Dispute Hilal Elver, 2021-10-25 This book by a renowned environmental lawyer and scholar proposes a regime scheme that is not only based soundly on existing treaties concerning access rights to fresh water but also on the human rights of persons dependent on rivers and lakes for water and food Focusing on the Tigris Euphrates basin which is shared by Iraq Syria and Turkey Professor Elver explores the transnational arrangements among these three countries for the allocation of river resources The author clearly exposes the potential for conflict and sets forth the role that international law can play in resolving such conflict and protecting the human rights of local populations Published under the Transnational Publishers imprint

The Politics of the Caspian Oil B. Gokay, 2001-01-19 The Caspian Caucasus region has received considerable attention over the past eight years The old potential of this colossal territory is so significant that the analytical centres of the world s largest oil and refining companies consider it to be more long term than the unstable Persian Gulf The Politics of Caspian Oil is a collection of essays presenting the results of recent research which should serve as a reference book for the politics of Caspian oil

The Geography of War and Peace : From Death Camps to Diplomats Colin Flint Professor of Geography Pennsylvania State University, 2004-09-24 How and why war and peace occur cannot be understood without realizing that those who make war and peace must negotiate a complex world political map of sovereign spaces borders networks and scales This book takes advantage of a diversity of perspectives as it analyzes the political processes of war and their spatial expression Topics include terrorism nationalism religion drug wars water conflicts diplomacy peace movements and post war reconstruction Managing and Transforming Water Conflicts Jerome Delli Priscoli, Aaron T. Wolf, 2010-02-04 What is the one thing that no one can do without Water Where water crosses boundaries be they economic legal political or cultural the stage is set for disputes between different users trying to safeguard access to a vital resource while protecting the natural environment Without strategies to anticipate address and mediate between competing users intractable water conflicts are likely to become more frequent more intense and more disruptive around the world In this book Delli Priscoli and Wolf investigate the dynamics of water conflict and conflict resolution from the local to the international They explore the inexorable links between three facets of conflict management and transformation Alternative Dispute Resolution ADR public participation and institutional capacity This practical guide will be invaluable to water management professionals as well as to researchers and students in engineering economics geography geology and political science who are involved in any aspects of water management Management of Shared Groundwater Resources Eran Feitelson, Marwan Haddad, 2012-12-06 Most of the world's freshwater resources in the liquid state i.e. not in glaciers and polar caps are underground As the population grows and demand for water rises reliance on groundwater increases In many cases the groundwater underlies boundaries or is part of a hydraulic system that crosses boundaries In such cases there is always the danger that the prisoner's dilemma will run its course and all parties will compete over who will pump the most water ultimately destroying the storage potential to the detriment of future generations of all parties reliant on the groundwater This book explores the options and means for averting this all too realistic scenario by managing these shared groundwater resources Nowhere is the likelihood of excessive use of groundwater greater than in the water scarce Middle East and especially in the Israeli Palestinian case Here both sides are heavily reliant on a shared aquifer the Mountain aquifer This book is the outcome of a seven year effort to find ways to manage the Mountain aquifer perhaps the most important resource shared by Israelis and Palestinians As part of this cooperative study four workshops were held in which a selected number of Palestinian Israeli and foreign experts were invited The chapters in this book were originally presented in one of these workshops To these papers introductory and concluding chapters were added The Geography of War and Peace Colin Flint, 2005 Our world of increasing and varied conflicts is confusing and threatening to citizens of all countries as they try to understand its causes and consequences This book takes advantage of a diversity of geographic perspectives as it analyzes the political processes of war and their spatial expression Research Handbook on International Law and Natural Resources Elisa Morgera, Kati Kulovesi, 2016-11-25 Research Handbook on International Law and Natural Resources provides a systematic and comprehensive analysis of the role of international law in regulating the exploration and exploitation of natural resources It illuminates interactions and tensions between international environmental law human rights law and international economic law It also discusses the relevance of soft law international dispute settlement as well as of various unilateral bilateral regional and transnational initiatives in the governance of natural resources While the Handbook is accessible to those approaching the subject for the first time it identifies pressing areas for further investigation that will be of interest to advanced researchers Bringing New Law to Ocean Waters David D. Caron, Harry N. Scheiber, 2004-09-01 In this volume leading scholars and jurists in ocean law provide perspectives on the past record of legal change together with analyses of a wide range of institutional and legal innovation that are needed to meet current challenges The topics that are addressed here include policy process and legal innovation in marine fisheries management institutional capacity and jurisdictional conflict in ocean law adjudication regionalism and multilateralism in their various aspects the challenges posed by the sudden recent availability of technological access to underwater cultural heritage compensation for war related environmental damage and the problems associated with access to marine genetic materials Bringing new law to ocean waters the quest to adjust the legal order of the oceans to changing realities a quest that has produced both great achievements and grievous failures has constituted one of the major developments in international law in the last half century Legal Visions of the 21st Century Antony Anghie, Garry Sturgess, 1998-10-29 Wouter de Vos Maritime Border Diplomacy Myron H. Nordquist, John Norton Moore, 2012-09-06 Maritime Border Diplomacy examines critical issues in international maritime boundary disputes together with the important global role of Indonesia whose maritime boundaries are imperative to its sovereign status identity Stressing the seminal importance of the UN Convention on the Law of the Sea to world order international experts analyze root causes of boundary disputes including historical claims and competition for natural resources Issues of preventative diplomacy and activism in maritime affairs are explored as are legal issues arising in the context of creating zones of cooperation in the oceans Practical issues in fisheries and environmental management and the volatile questions involved in the South China Sea are detailed The volume concludes with a substantive presentation on dispute resolution mechanisms International Law in East Asia Zou Keyuan, 2017-07-05 As the world's political and economic landscape changes in response to the rise of Asian countries such as China so Asian influences on the global legal order will become more pronounced Many countries in the region such as Japan and South Korea influence the development of international law in various ways either individually or collectively through multinational organisations such as ASEAN This collection of published work by leading East Asian scholars covers Asian perspectives concerning various issues in international law ranging from general perspectives to particular themes such as international economic law international human rights law international ocean law international criminal law international security law and international dispute settlement For the first time it provides a comprehensive picture of how and why East Asian countries participate in international law making as well as comply with international law in their state practices In so doing the editors attempt to address the question whether the rising powers in East Asia will change the existing international legal order in future

The Law of Non-navigational Uses of International Watercourses Nahid Islam, 2010-01-01 Presentation de l'auteur
 Despite Asia's large share of global water resources and the importance of its water for sustaining one of the largest agrarian populations in the world Asia's trans boundary water resource management regimes are poorly developed There are only two working international regimes in South and South east Asia the Mekong and the Indus regimes The remaining international watercourses in Asia are used by riparian countries in a self interested manner without much consideration for the interests of other states or for the environment These national interests do not often represent the interests and needs of the local people This book is divided into three Parts Part I discusses the different contexts of law making in the industrialized west and in agrarian societies in Asia as well as the changing context of law making following the emergence of the concept of sustainable development Part II discusses the regime of international watercourses Part III of the book presents two case studies in Asia the Mekong and the Ganges The main argument is that in the absence of public participation in decision making and resource management the basin states revert to using the watercourses according to the principles of the classical regime The result so far has been unsustainable development environmental degradation and growing poverty of local user communities African futures: towards a sustainable emergence? UNESCO, 2016-09-12 Equitable Utilization Ibrahim Kaya, 2003 International watercourse law differs from the national laws of most countries It was of little consequence until the Industrial Revolution but as resources have become scarcer it has taken on a much greater political and economic significance Ibrahim Kaya's study addresses the key issues The Changing International Law of High Seas Fisheries Francisco Orrego Vicuña, 1999-03-04 This book examines legal economic and environmental developments including recent state and international practice International Watercourses Law for the 21st Century Surya P. Subedi, 2016-12-05 This edited volume presents a comprehensive and comparative view of the law of international watercourses with special reference to the issues facing the Ganges River basin It provides an analysis of the development of international waterways law and outlines the essentials of the UN Convention on non navigational uses of international watercourses Focusing on relations between the three riparian states of the River Ganges and the potential for cooperation the volume also examines the domestic legal regimes of the area and the political dimension to the issues of sharing the waters of the river The work presents a comparative picture with an analysis of developments in the Rhine and Mekong basins comparing developments in the legal regimes of these areas with the experience of South Asia Presenting an up to date analysis of the current law and pointing the direction for future developments this collection will be a valuable resource for academics researchers and policy makers working in this area Reflections on Principles and Practice of International Law Terry D. Gill, Wybo P. Heere, 2021-10-18 This collection of essays in honour of Professor Leo Bouchez covers a wide variety of topics within the field of international law and related disciplines which Professor Bouchez came into contact with over the course of his long and distinguished career as a practising attorney The contributions by a distinguished group of friends and professional colleagues reflect the diversity of his intellectual interests and professional activities of both a theoretical and a practical nature The essays include such topics as jurisdiction extradition law human rights and self determination the use of force and the enforcement of United Nations sanctions territory and the law of the sea as well as essays on municipal law topics relating to international law and on international relations Professor Bouchez was a senior partner in the firm of Houthoff and Associates and Adjunct Professor of International Law at the University of Utrecht until his retirement in 1998
