10 Facts About Pearl Harbor!

The attack on Pearl Harbor was part of Japan's larger strategy to establish dominance in Southeast Asia and the Pacific. It aimed to cripple the US Pacific Fleet and remove the threat it posed to Japanese expansion in the region.

Prior to the attack, tensions between Japan and the United States were escalating due to their competing interest in Chinese markets and Asian natural resources, and its alliance with Germany and Italy through the Tripartite Pact.

The attack on Pearl Harbor was carried out in two waves. The first wave targeted the battleships and other major warships, while the second wave primarily targeted the aircraft carriers.

While the focus of the attack was on Pearl Harbor, the Japanese government simultaneously launched attacks on other targets, such as the Philippines, Singapore, British Malaya, Wake Island, Guam, and the British colony of Hong Kong.

In the aftermath of the attack, efforts were made to repair and salvage the damaged American warships. Some of the sunken battleships were raised and returned to service, while others were ultimately deemed irreparable.
