Pearlwomen Of Dhaka:

Pearl-women of Dhaka, Bangladesh Jahanara Huq Choudhury,1993 Pearl-women of Dhaka Jahanara Huq Choudhury,1998-01-01 A Study Of The Nomadic Shandar Community Of Bangladesh The 'Bedes' of Bengal Carmen Brandt ,2018 In the Bengali speaking regions of Bangladesh and India the Bengali term bede today often evokes stereotypical imaginations of itinerant people Of highly contested origin the term has in the last two hundred years become the pivotal element for categorising and portraying diverse service nomads of the Bengal region Besides an analysis of their portrayal in ethnographic and Bengali fictional literature this book traces causes reasons and processes that have led to an increasing perception of these so called Bedes as being ethnically different from the sedentary majority population Empowering Women in Bangladesh Shajeda Aktar,2021-08-05 This book investigates the deep linkages between gender and grassroots politics It studies how women candidates in Bangladesh are elected in reserved seats in the local government bodies and explores the challenges that they face both from within the domestic unit and from the government administration The book focuses on grassroots level governance and provides a comparative study between selected rural and urban local government institutions in different socio economic educational and cultural contexts It documents loopholes in the system of quota seats for women allocation of electoral constituency and elected representatives rights and responsibilities It also studies the life changing impact of women at different levels of governance and society and offers important policy implications for furthering their participation and empowerment A major intervention in the study of Bangladesh and its politics this key text will be of great interest to scholars and researchers of political science public administration gender studies public policy and South Asian studies Women and Islam in Bangladesh T. Hashmi,2000-03-10 This work of research by Taj Hashmi puts the issue of women s position in society in historical as well as Islamic perspectives to relate it to the objective conditions in Bangladesh In eight illuminating chapters he narrates how Quranic edicts about women have through the ages been misinterpreted by the power elites and the mullahs to suppress women Even NGOs are not immune from exploiting them Hope according to the author lies in the literacy and economic self reliance of the Bangladeshi women Justice for 1971 War Rapes Tureen Afroz,2022-07-11 The history of 1971 Bangladesh War of Liberation accords the mass rape of Bangladeshi women by the Pakistan Army and their local collaborators After about 40 years of the Liberation War the matter of rape of the Bangladeshi women was brought under litigation to a certain extent in the International Crimes Tribunal of Bangladesh ICT BD However the issue of justice for the rape victims of the 1971 Bangladesh War of Liberation still lacks comprehensive social and legal attention A question remained very much unexplored as to whether legal justice through trials essentially ensures social justice for the war rape victims of Bangladesh It thus remains an unspoken narrative in Bangladesh in respect of how the war rape victims actually perceive justice Another question that arises in this regard is whether complete justice is being done in the course of ensuring legal justice to war rape victims It may be mentioned that no systematic and or comprehensive research has been conducted so far on this subject This research would endeavor to get an account from 385 Bangladeshi war rape victims and their families about the socio legal aspects of the long awaited justice

Southern Postcolonialisms Sumanyu Satpathy,2020-11-29 Southern Postcolonialisms is an anthology of critical essays on new literary representations from the Global South that seeks to re invent reorient the ideological disciplinary aesthetic and pedagogical thrust of Postcolonial Studies in accordance with the new and shifting politico economic realities transactions between the North and the South as well as within the Global South in an era of globalization Since the emergence of Postcolonial Theory in the 1980s the shape of the world has changed dramatically Old Cold War boundaries have shifted in the wake of the collapse of communism Globalization on an unprecedented scale has dramatically changed the meaning of time and space The rise of the US as a new imperial power has profound implications for the world order In the South new emerging markets have challenged the older division of industrial first world and non industrial third world In most parts of the world the academy is struggling to keep up with these developments One result has been a major transnational turn in the humanities and social sciences Terms like world history globalization glocalization and transnationalism now dominate academic agendas worldwide These changing circumstances raise far reaching questions What does the new emerging world order mean for established models of postcolonial theory Is postcolonialism as a field of study being overtaken by models of globalization and transnationalism What implications do the new configurations in the South have for postcolonial theory This volume drawn from a major literary conference at Delhi University provides a set of perspectives on these questions With a majority of contributions by scholars from the South these research articles have a dual focus they revisit older debates on postcolonial theory while suggesting new perspectives and directions

Microcredit and Women's Empowerment Aminul Faraizi,Taskinur Rahman,Jim McAllister,2014-04-04 Using a case study of Bangladesh and based on a long term participatory observation method this book investigates claims of the success of microcredit as well as the critiques of it in the context of women s empowerment It confronts the distinction between women s increasing wealth as a consequence of the success of microcredit programmes and their apparent non commensurate empowerment looking at two organisations the Grameen Bank and the Bangladesh Rural Advancement Committee as they operate in two localities in rural Bangladesh in order to discover how enrichment and empowerment are often confused The book goes on to establish that the well publicised success stories of the microcredit programme are blown out of proportion and that the dynamics of collective responsibility for repayment of loans by a group of women borrowers usually seen to be a tool for the success of microcredit is in fact no less repressive than traditional debt collectors This book makes a contribution to development debates challenging adherents to more closely specify those conditions under which microcredit does indeed have validity as well as providing insights relevant to South Asian Studies and Development Studies

Dhaka's Changing Landscape Rita Afsar, Mahabub Hossain, 2019-11-05 Between 1991 and 2010 Dhaka's population more than doubled to 15 million. Simultaneously the city's contribution to the national economy almost trebled. Clearly population growth was accompanied by an unmistakable trend of economic growth and a significant decline in urban poverty and income inequality. On the other hand, Dhaka's high population density exacerbated serious environmental challenges and it was soon ranked as one of the world's least livable cities. In the context of these contradictory signals of rapid urbanization, Dhaka's Changing Landscape sets to answer three most intriguing questions: Are the poorer segments of urban population which migrate with dreams for better lives benefitting from positive economic trends? Are these benefits sustainable? Are these benefits creating scope for this group to have a stake in the city's growing prosperity? By studying 600 households and applying comparative analysis over a span of 20 years, the authors examine demographic and economic trends to understand the patterns, scale and complexity of urban poverty, income inequality and rural-urban migration. Going beyond the space and poverty debate, they enlighten the readers about the quality of life, questions of sustainability, matters of gender and generational roles and relations necessary to understand qualitative transformation and migrants' prospects for a better future.

Narratives of Difference in Globalized Cultures Belén Martín-Lucas, Andrea Ruthven, 2017-12-07 This book is about how the marketing of transnational cultural commodities capitalizes on difference and its appeal for cosmopolitan consumers in our postmodern globalized world. At what price? What ethical and political conundrums does the artist-writer reader confront when going global? This volume analyzes why difference, whether gender, sexual, racial, ethnic or linguistic, has become such a prominent element in the contemporary cultural field and the effects of this prevalence on the production, circulation and reception of cultural commodities in the context of globalization. At the intersection of globalization, diaspora, postcolonial and feminist studies in world literature, these essays engage critically with a wide variety of representative narratives taken from diverse cultural fields including humanitarian fiction, multilingual poetry, painting, text, image, art, performance, art film, documentary and docu-poetry. The chapters included offer counter-readings that disrupt hegemonic representations of cultural identity within the contemporary neoliberal and globalized landscape.

The Economization of Life M. Murphy, 2017-05-18 What is a life worth? In the wake of eugenics, new quantitative racist practices that valued life for the sake of economic futures flourished. In The Economization of Life, M. Murphy provocatively describes the twentieth-century rise of infrastructures of calculation and experiment aimed at governing population for the sake of national economy, pinpointing the spread of a potent biopolitical logic: some must not be born so that others might live more prosperously. Resituating the history of postcolonial neoliberal technique in expert circuits between the United States and Bangladesh, Murphy traces the methods and imaginaries through which family planning calculated lives not worth living, lives not worth saving and lives not worth being born The resulting archive of thick data transmuted into financialized Invest in a Girl campaigns that reframed survival as a question of human capital The book challenges readers to reject the economy as our collective container and to refuse population as a term of reproductive justice
