Peasants Landlords And Governments Agrarian Reform In The Third World:

Peasants, Landlords, and Governments David Lehmann, 1974 Monograph comprising a symposium on agrarian reform in Latin America China and India considers the social implications theoretical aspects political aspects and economic implications of land reform and examines its effects on income distribution and interactions with peasant movements etc Maps references and statistical tables

Agrarian Reform in the Philippines Jeffrey M. Riedinger, 1995 This book evaluates the capacity of new democratic regimes to promote redistributive agrarian reform an issue of contemporary concern in countries throughout the world Agrarian reform is particularly complex and difficult for new democracies because it curtails the power and privileges of influential elements of society The author analyzes the problems attendant on political liberalization and social and economic reform by examining in detail the formulation and implementation of agrarian reform in the Philippines under the governments of Corazon Aquino and her successor Fidel Ramos The book explores how the interaction between state and society shapes reform policy decisions paying close attention to the role of cultural variables and social organizations It shows that what is needed for successful agrarian reform is a combination of sustained forceful leadership from a disciplined reform oriented political party and grassroots agitation by peasant organizations

Pro-poor Land Reform Saturnino M. Borras, 2007-09-06 Using empirical case materials from the Philippines and referring to rich experiences from different countries historically this book offers conceptual and practical conclusions that have far reaching implications for land reform throughout the world Examining land reform theory and practice this book argues that conventional practices have excluded a significant portion of land based production and distribution relationships while they have inadvertently included land transfers that do not constitute real redistributive reform By direct implication this book is a critique of both mainstream market led agrarian reform and conventional state led land reform It offers an alternative perspective on how to move forward in theory and practice and opens new paths in land policy research

Gender and Agrarian Reforms Susie Jacobs, 2013-05-13 The redistribution of land has profound implications for women and for gender relations however gender issues have been marginalised from both theoretical and policy discussions of agrarian reform This book presents an overview of gender and agrarian reform experiences globally Jacobs highlights case studies from Latin America Asia Africa and eastern Europe and also compares agrarian and land reforms organised along collective lines as well as along individual household lines This volume will be of interest to scholars in Geography Women s Studies and Economics

Land, Poverty and Livelihoods in an Era of Globalization A. Haroon Akram-Lodhi, Saturnino M. Borras Jr., Cristóbal Kay, 2007-01-24 A host of internationally eminent scholars are brought together here to explore the structural causes of rural poverty and income inequality as well as the processes of social exclusion and political subordination encountered by the peasantry and rural workers across a wide range of countries This volume examines the intersection of politics and economics and provides a critical analysis and framework for the study of neo liberal land policies in the current phase of globalization Utilizing new empirical evidence from ten countries it provides an in depth analysis of key country studies a comparative analysis of agrarian reforms and their impact on rural poverty in Africa Asia Latin America and transition countries Presenting an agrarian reform policy embedded in an appropriate development strategy which is able to significantly reduce and hopefully eliminate rural poverty this work is a key resource for postgraduate students studying in the areas of development economics development studies and international political economy

Land Reform in Small Island Developing States Karl John, 2006-02 In recent times the spotlight of international media attention has often focused on problems which have their roots in the inequitable distribution of agricultural land still a characteristic of many developing countries For example media coverage of the social unrest that has beset Zimbabwe since the closing years of the twentieth century has been relentless Large plantations still exist in the Caribbean a legacy of the erstwhile economic importance of sugar to the region However on several islands the traditionally highly skewed pattern of land distribution has been successfully reformed in most cases without recourse to violence and confiscation in a revolutionary context In St Vincent the demise of the plantation and the emergence of an independent peasantry are attributable to a significant degree to public policy formulated and implemented over a period of one hundred years Karl John's study chronicles the historical course of these official interventions aimed at reforming the land tenure structure in this small island developing state The work pays particular attention to the motives for the policies and strategies adopted for land reform critically evaluates the planning and implementation of related programs and projects and assesses the role of prevailing economic social and political forces in both limiting and enabling their success

The Challenge of Third World Development Howard Handelman, 2003 Prentice Hall's Research Navigator helps your students make the most of their research time From finding the right articles and journals to citing sources drafting and writing effective papers and completing research assignments Research Navigator simplifies and streamlines the entire process

The Challenge of Rural Democratisation Jonathan Fox, 2014-06-03 First published in 1990 The distribution of rural power in developing countries both shapes and is shaped by national politics Focusing on Latin America and the Philippines this volume addresses the question of why rural democratisation has proven to be so difficult across a wide range of national experiences

Imperialism and Capitalism in the Twenty-First Century James Petras, Henry Veltmeyer, Humberto Márquez, 2016-05-13 We live in a time of dynamic but generally regressive regime change a period in which major political transformations and a rollback of a half century of legislation are accelerated under conditions of a prolonged and deepening economic crisis and a worldwide offensive against the citizenry and the working class Written by two of the world's leading left wing thinkers Imperialism and Capitalism in the Twenty First Century takes the form of a number of analytical probes into some of the dynamics of capitalist development and imperialism in contemporary conditions of a system in crisis It is too early to be definitive about the form that capitalism and imperialism and socialism might be or is taking as we are in but the early stages of a new developmental dynamic the conditions of which are too complex to anticipate or grasp in thought they require a closer look and much further study from a critical development and Marxist perspective The purpose of this book is to advance this process and give some form to this perspective

Promised Land Peter Rosset,Raj Patel,Michael Courville,2006 This book represents the first harvest in the English language of the work of the Land Research Action Network LRAN LRAN is an international working group of researchers analysts nongovernment organizations and representatives of social movements pref

Economic Policy for Growth Salim Rashid,2012-12-06 Economic Development is but one facet of Human Development This forces us to ask how do humans develop Man is a social animal and the growth of our humanity requires various social institutions such as bureaucracy The paradox of capitalism is that it is a system ostensibly based on self interest yet wholly dependent on non market values for its success These non market values are shaped by two much neglected factors religion and ethnicity Economic Development is an applied field whatever it claims as a conclusion should be an applicable conclusion This requires attention to all those non economic factors which translate economic decisions into practice such as the forces of nationalism versus the pressures of such global powers as US foreign policy and the advice of the IMF IBRD Since policy is our goal theory whose intellectual basis is inaccessible to policy makers or which fails to have application should be minimized Mathematical models are best avoided and if they are to be used the burden of proof must be placed upon their proponents As insights about the market are limited neither by time nor space poor countries can learn from rich ones and vice versa It is most fruitful to focus on examples of success such as the East Asian economies They are the clearest illustration of the fact that rapid economic development is possible even to those who have suffered through imperialism and possess few natural resources but have their work and their determination intact One good example is enough

The Peasant Betrayed John H. Powelson,Richard Stock,1990-07-01 After studying land reform in 16 countries and offering illustrative examples from 11 more Powelson and Stock conclude that government land reforms generally harm the rural poor more than help them Detailing case after case in which government intervention has impoverished the peasant the authors find only a few cases in which the government has made the peasant better off In contrast they show that in Third World countries where the state has left farming to the farmer agricultural output has soared famine has been overcome and the welfare of the peasant has vastly improved

Managing Development In The Third World Coralie Bryant,2019-05-20 This is the first text to focus on the problems and processes involved in organizing implementing and managing programs and projects aimed at relieving poverty and underdevelopment in the Third World During the 1970s there was a shift in development assistance programs toward a greater concern for equity and the basic needs of the poor The auth

Natural Resources And People Kenneth A. Dahlberg,2019-03-08 In this book the authors provides an up to date assessment of research on human interactions with natural resource systems They pay attention to the interaction between theory and practice by including case studies and detailed examples involving specific natural resource systems

Land Reform and Peasant Livelihoods Kléber Bertrand

Ghimire,2001 The book provides a timely contribution to the discussion on land reform scrutinizing the inadequacy of the market oriented approach to land reform which is linked to structural adjustment policies and advocate convincingly a flexible approach toward re distributive reforms as the most appropriate strategy towards alleviating rural poverty

How Asia Works Joe Studwell,2013-07-02 A good read for anyone who wants to understand what actually determines whether a developing economy will succeed Bill Gates Top 5 Books of the Year An Economist Best Book of the Year from a reporter who has spent two decades in the region and who the Financial Times said should be named chief myth buster for Asian business In How Asia Works Joe Studwell distills his extensive research into the economies of nine countries Japan South Korea Taiwan Indonesia Malaysia Thailand the Philippines Vietnam and China into an accessible readable narrative that debunks Western misconceptions shows what really happened in Asia and why and for once makes clear why some countries have boomed while others have languished Studwell s in depth analysis focuses on three main areas land policy manufacturing and finance Land reform has been essential to the success of Asian economies giving a kick start to development by utilizing a large workforce and providing capital for growth With manufacturing industrial development alone is not sufficient Studwell argues Instead countries need export discipline a government that forces companies to compete on the global scale And in finance effective regulation is essential for fostering and sustaining growth To explore all of these subjects Studwell journeys far and wide drawing on fascinating examples from a Philippine sugar baron s stifling of reform to the explosive growth at a Korean steel mill Provocative How Asia Works is a striking and enlightening book A lively mix of scholarship reporting and polemic The Economist

liberalization reforms Ricardo Fort, 2023-08-28 This book discusses the links between land access property rights and economic development analyzing the results and limitations of a public intervention Land Titling and Registration that constitutes one of the main instruments for contemporary land policy in Peru It attempts to provide a comprehensive analysis and discussion of the importance of institutions like land property rights in the context of market liberalization reforms In operational terms this means verifying whether land titling constitutes a necessary and or sufficient condition to promote investments and increase land values This book reveals that titling and registration can be considered as a necessary condition to improve investment opportunities when its implementation procedure is based on the recognition of previous informal land rights and community networks because its effect on the reduction of transaction costs at a regional level improves the dynamics of land markets and facilitates the entrance of formal financial institutions A decentralized program is more likely to understand and correctly assess local conditions as well as to concentrate its work on poorer farmers confronting stronger limitations to acquire tenure security by other means Targeting must be applied also at the regional level identifying less developed areas that can benefit from the externality effects provided by increased levels of titling density The presence of other limitations that constrain the participation of small farmers in the formal credit market and the inability of titling to solve them by itself makes it difficult to consider this policy as a sufficient condition to improve the livelihood of poorer farmers Complementary policies that provide small farmers with the opportunity to increase their land holdings as well as the possibility to acquire insurance against negative shocks need urgent implementation Land Market Distortion and Tenure Reform Anthony Y.
