Peer Response Groups In Action Writing Together In Secondary Schools:

Peer Response Groups in Action Karen I. Spear, 1993 Peer Response Groups in Action extends the work begun in Karen Spear's Sharing Writing Boynton Cook 1988 The book explores classroom applications of collaborative writing and learning at the secondary school level with each chapter detailing a start to finish collaborative learning project designed to apply to numerous classroom settings Rooted in the conviction that writing teachers need more than theories if they are to make meaningful changes in their teaching Peer Response Groups in Action presents the stories of eleven English teachers grades 7 through 12 and their efforts to create communities of writers by making collaboration central A concluding section focuses on response groups in college writing courses Secondary teachers and instructors of college writing will find a rich palette of techniques and insights into how to foster and maintain effective writing groups The contributors are veteran secondary English teachers who have drawn on their experiences in the National Writing Project to cultivate a spirit of reflective artistry toward their teaching Chapters include the uses of response groups in a variety of English courses from literature to the research paper and in a variety of settings from the conventional classroom to the computer lab The chapters are illustrated with drafts and revisions of student writing case studies transcripts and analyses of students in response groups as well as writing assignments that help students develop the skills and attitudes that make response groups work Teaching writing as a collaborative process moves instruction to the edge of what we know about composing to the edge of what is familiar and comfortable to teachers and to the edge of conventionally sanctioned expectations among colleagues students parents and administrators Peer Response Groups in Action is a series of explorations of what it means to teach and learn in this most challenging yet rewarding type of writing classroom Virtual Peer Review Lee-Ann Kastman Breuch, 2012-02-01 In a reassessment of peer review practices Lee Ann Kastman Breuch explores how computer technology changes our understanding of this activity She defines virtual peer review as the use of computer technology to exchange and respond to one another's writing in order to improve it Arguing that peer review goes through a remediation when conducted in virtual environments the author suggests that virtual peer review highlights a unique intersection of social theories of language and technological literacy In the Company of Writers Meadow Brooks Writing Project, Ronald A. Sudol, 2002-10 In the summer of 2001 teachers came from the urban and suburban areas of the greater Detroit area to share their vast knowledge and experience in the Language Arts As part of the Meadow Brook Writing Project elementary middle school high school and college level educators became authors In the Company of Writers is the wonderful result of their efforts to hone and challenge their personal writing skills With an enhanced understanding of the writing process and a wealth of knowledge gained from MBWP these dedicated teachers returned to their classroom to inspire their students to become writers Theory and Practice of Writing William Grabe, Robert B. Kaplan, 2014-09-25 This book undertakes a general framework within which to consider the complex nature of the writing task in English both as a first and as a second language The volume explores varieties of writing different purposes for learning to write extended text and cross cultural variation among second language writers The volume overviews textlinguistic research explores process approaches to writing discusses writing for professional purposes and contrastive rhetoric It proposes a model for text construction as well as a framework for a more general theory of writing Later chapters organised around seventy five themes for writing instruction are devoted to the teaching of writing at the beginning intermediate and advanced levels Writing assessment and other means for responding to writing are also discussed William Grabe and Robert Kaplan summarise various theoretical strands that have been recently explored by applied linguists and other writing researchers and draw these strands together into a coherent overview of the nature of written text Finally they suggest methods for the teaching of writing consistent with the nature processes and social context of writing

Teaching Language Arts in Middle Schools Sharon

Kingen,2000-02-01 This text is designed specifically to meet the needs of preservice teachers who have had little experience working in middle grade classrooms Three ideas are central teaching language arts at the middle level is a complex activity that demands expertise in the use of a variety of strategies reading and writing are key processes of language arts study but so are speaking listening and viewing visually representing and teaching the processes of effective communication is crucial but middle school students must also begin to learn the content of the field literature language and media Teaching Language Arts in Middle Schools gives balanced attention to various teaching strategies processes and content demonstrating how all of these connect to improve students abilities to communicate In this text Research and theory are summarized and applied to practice A non prescriptive approach is integrated with practical information Debates in the field are acknowledged Additional reading and research are emphasized The author s voice and point of view are explicit Collaborative Writing Bruce W. Speck,1999-07-30 Collaborative writing has attracted much attention in the last 25 years though it eludes clear definition In its simplest sense it is writing done by more than one person But in a broader sense even a work by one author involves collaboration The author typically builds on the work of others and revises the writing in response to feedback This feedback can come from a student s peers or teacher in a classroom setting it can come from experts and editors who assess a scholar s writing or it can come from colleagues and clients in the world of business This bibliography is a guide to research on collaborative writing published from the early 1970s to 1997 Included are nearly 1000 annotated entries for books articles reports bibliographies and other materials These entries are clustered in two broad parts each of which contains numerous topical sections The first part of the book is devoted to collaborative writing in academic settings and covers such topics as classroom issues peer review and tutoring the role of computers and technology particular types of classes and ethical and gender concerns The second looks at collaborative writing in nonacademic settings Included are works on corporate acculturation group dynamics policies and procedures industry university collaboration and technical reports Entries are arranged alphabetically in each section and detailed author and subject indexes provide easy access to the material Hitting the Mark Don Aker,1995 Discover time saving approaches to assessment using anecdotes assignments presentations quizzes tests examinations and simple strategies for generating a mark A solid framework to help create tests and arrive at answers that can be easily shared with students Teacher Identity and the Struggle for Recognition Patrick M. Jenlink,2014-04-09 Teacher identity is shaped by recognition or its absence often by misrecognition of others Recognition as a teacher or the strong and complex identification with one s professional culture and community is necessary for a positive sense of self Increasingly teachers are entering educational settings where difference connotes not equal better worse or having more less power over resources Differences between discourses of identity are braided at many points with a discourse of racism both interpersonal and structural Teacher Identity and the Struggle for Recognition examines the nature of identity and recognition as social cultural and political constructs In particular the contributing authors to the book present discussions of the professional work necessary in teacher preparation programs concerned with preparing teachers for the complexities of teaching in schools that mirror an increasingly diverse society Importantly the authors illuminate many of the often problematic structures of schooling and the cultural politics that work to define one s identity drawing into specific relief the nature of the struggle for recognition that all face who choose to entering teaching as a profession Preparing To Teach Writing James D. Williams,2003-03-01 Third edition of popular textbook for writing English and language arts methods courses provides a comprehensive survey of theories research and methods associated with teaching composition successfully Includes examples and pedagogical aids Marginal Words, Marginal Work? William J. Macauley,Nicholas Mauriello,2007 How can we tutor our campus communities administrators faculty and students toward the most effective use of writing center resources more productive and successful work this volume includes scholarship that provides historical theoretical and practical guidance for both writing centers and their campus communities This collection focuses on helping the academy understand writing centers and more importantly articulates how writing centers move beyond remediation and become centers of learning and teaching through fostering productive working relationships

Literacy in the Secondary English Classroom Lynn Langer Meeks,Carol Jewkes Austin,2003 Literacy in the Secondary English Classroom encourages secondary English language arts teachers to develop classrooms that are student centered literature focused and writing enriched In today s literacy learning environment students take responsibility for their own learning as well as collaborate to help each other make meaning while reflecting on their learning process in systematic ways This books proposes a cohesive and unique learning theory that provides a fresh approach to what teaching strategies teachers should use why teachers should use them and how these strategies promote students literacy Literacy in the Secondary English Classroom also addresses the needs of students with a diverse range of language competencies such as gifted and talented learners English language learners and at risk students who are typically disengaged in learning Multiple examples and scenarios lead both in service and pre service teachers through each strategy Designed for teachers of language arts and reading writing methods at the secondary level Incorporate these unique learning theories and teaching strategies in to your classroom Classroom scenarios provide concrete practical examples of teaching strategies Illustrations further clarify and define each teaching strategy and learning theory Focus Questions at the beginning of every chapter guide readers through important components of the chapter and stimulate further thinking about the topics NCTE IRA Standards appear as margin notes in each chapter connecting teaching strategies to national learning standards for reading writing speaking listening observing technology and second language learning Peer Response in Second Language Writing Classrooms, Second Edition Jun Liu, Jette G. Hansen Edwards, 2018-05-25 Since the publication of the first edition in 2002 there have been two major developments in L2 writing and peer response teaching and research The first is the increased interest in CALL and computer mediated communication CMC for L2 pedagogy the second is the accessibility and viability of research on L2 peer response from all over the world Both developments are thoroughly addressed in this new edition Now that classes are as likely to be online as held in physical classrooms and now that a new generation of digital natives can routinely read and respond to what others write via laptops tablets and phones peer response as pedagogical practice is not just more easily implemented but it is more likely to feel natural to L2 learners The Second Edition is a highly accessible guide to how the world is using peer response and serves as a motivator and facilitator for those who want to try it for the first time or want to increase the effectiveness of the activities whether via CMC or not The volume includes 11 forms useful in training students to provide good peer feedback including a final checklist to ensure teachers have taken all the necessary steps to achieve a successful peer feedback activity Coaching Writing William Strong, 2001 This book presents a coaching approach to instruction in written language The Blue Pages Regie Routman, 1994 Grade level 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11 12 k p e i s t Using Technology in K-8 Literacy Classrooms Rebecca S.
