and young people in care However progress to date has been slow and it is clear that there is still some way to go before effective multi agency working becomes widespread In response this book draws upon the experiences and perspectives of practitioners from a sample of co located Multi Agency Safeguarding Hubs as well as the latest research theory and policy developments in the field In doing so it explores both the benefits and challenges of multi agency working and concludes with recommendations for future policy and practice This timely study will be of great interest to students and scholars of criminology criminal justice policing studies social work health and childhood studies It will also be a valuable tool for practitioners and policymakers in the criminal youth justice and social service arenas Residential Care of Children Mark

E. Courtney,Dorota Iwaniec,2009-03-25 For centuries societies have relied upon residential care settings to provide homes for children and for much of that period a debate has raged over whether such settings are appropriate places for children to be raised In recent years this debate has taken on an international dimension as human rights policies have called into question the legitimacy of residential care of children Unfortunately the ideological fervor that usually accompanies such discussions prevents a more nuanced understanding of the reasons that countries continue to make use of residential care Residential Care of Children Comparative Perspectives fills major gaps in knowledge about residential care and is intended to inform debates within and between nations about the appropriate use of such institutions Eleven country specific chapters written by child welfare experts from around the world provide an in depth understanding of the historical development of residential care the current state of affairs and predictions for the future Chapters describe how residential care is defined in each country how it has evolved over time factors that have contributed to the observed pattern of development of residential care and potential concerns for the future An integrative chapter presents a critical cross national perspective identifying common themes and analyzing underlying factors Seeking to explain rather than cast judgment Residential Care of Children Comparative Perspectives will be fruitful reading for policymakers program administrators advocates practitioners and scholars interested in creating better services for vulnerable children and youth Bullying in Different Contexts Claire

P. Monks,Iain Coyne,2011-02-03 Bullying has a tendency to be associated with aggression between children in the playground but bullying and abuse can also be observed in other social settings Bullying in Different Contexts brings together for the first time leading international researchers to discuss these behaviours in a wide range of settings including preschool school the home residential care prisons the workplace and cyberspace The authors provide background to the different contexts discuss the impact and types of interpersonal aggression and the characteristics of those involved A final chapter collates the findings from each context to draw conclusions on the similarities and differences between the behaviours risk factors for involvement and theoretical approaches to explain bullying This original volume will further our understanding of bullying and inform preventative and intervention work The authors seek to show how research from diverse settings may inform our understanding of the bullying phenomenon as a whole Children Who Commit Acts of
