Roman Corinth Donald W. Engels, 1990-05-29 In the second century A D Corinth was the largest city in Roman Greece A center of learning culture and commerce it served as the capital of the senatorial province of Achaëa and was the focus of apostle Paul s missionary activity Donald Engels s important revisionist study of this ancient urban area is at once a detailed history of the Roman colony and a provocative socioeconomic analysis With Corinth as an exemplar Engels challenges the widely held view that large classical cities were consumer cities innocent of the market forces that shape modern economies Instead he presents an alternative model the service city Examining a wealth of archaeological and literary evidence in light of central place theory and using sound statistical techniques Engels reconstructs the human geography of the Corinthia including an estimate of the population He shows that given the amount of cultivatable land rents and taxes levied on the countryside could not have supported a highly populated city like Corinth Neither could its inhabitants have supported themselves directly by farming Rather the city constituted a thriving market for domestic regional and overseas raw materials agricultural products and manufactured goods at the same time satisfying the needs of those who plied the various land and sea routes that converged there Corinth provided key governmental and judicial services to the province of Achaëa and its religious festivals temples and monuments attracted numerous visitors from all corners of the Roman world In accounting for the large portion of residents who participated in these various areas outside of the traditional consumer model Engels reveals the depth and sophistication of the economics of ancient cities Roman Corinth is a much needed critique of the currently dominant approach of ancient urbanism It will be of crucial interest to scholars and students in classics ancient history and urban studies Riding the Crest of a Wave Peter A. Howard, 1992

Rhetorical Interaction in 1 Corinthians 8 and 10 Yeo, 2021-09-06 Rhetorical Interaction in 1 Corinthians 8 and 10 is a formal analysis of Paul s rhetorical interaction with the Corinthians over the issues of participation in the cultic meal 1 Cor 10 1 22 and the eating of idol food 1 Cor 8 1 13 10 23 11 1 The thesis is that Paul s theology and rhetoric are predicated on knowledge and love Major portions of the book employ rhetorical sociological archaeological and historical critical approaches to examine the triangular interaction between Paul the Corinthians and the biblical texts paying particular attention to the complex configuration of the Corinthian congregation including the influence of proto Gnosticism as well as the ways Paul responded to the shifting situation and different issues The two chapters on rhetorical hermeneutical theory and criticism are especially creative as the author suggests a Chinese hermeneutic for cross cultural dialogues the issue of ancestor worship being a specific example The Palgrave Handbook of Non-State Actors in East-West Relations

Péter Marton, Gry Thomassen, Csaba Békés, András Rácz, 2024-09-28 The Handbook introduces to readers accessibly for specialist and non specialist scholars students and layman audiences the diverse universe of non state actors NSAs that have played or are currently playing a significant role in the context of East West relations from 1945 to the present With a view to the oft seen political debates about which non state actors may be independent or controlled by particular states and in what ways they may be useful or harmful to the interests of particular actors this volume is interested in analysing and assessing the relationship of NSAs to key state actors in the context of the politics of East West relations Key state actors in this context include more than just the United States on the one hand and the Soviet Union or Russia on the other hand To offer a structured overview the volume explores possible typologies of the relationships conceivable between NSAs and states New concepts and organising principles are presented to support a process tracing analysis of the evolution of proxy ships partnerships and other types of connections between states and non state actors Degrees sources and types of control and influence are considered Further the Handbook s chapters also examine NSAs impact on the dynamics of interstate conflict and cooperation in the East West dimension The systematic examination of the relationship between states and NSAs in East West relations proposed here is the first undertaking of its kind International scholarship in political science and strategic analyses have so far neglected to develop an analytical framework and a truly nuanced understanding that could capture the intricate and multilevel relationships that exists between NSAs and states in this context
