Rhetoric Of Religion Studies In Logology:

The Rhetoric of Religion Kenneth Burke, 1970-04 But the point of Burke's work and the significance of his achievement is not that he points out that religion and language affect each other for this has been said before but that he proceeds to demonstrate how this is so by reference to a specific symbolic context After a discussion On Words and The Word he analyses verbal action in St Augustine's Confessions He then discusses the first three chapters of Genesis and ends with a brilliant and profound Prologue in Heaven an imaginary dialogue between the Lord and Satan in which he proposes that we begin our study of human motives with complex theories of transcendence rather than with terminologies developed in the use of simplified laboratory equipment Burke now feels after some forty years of search that he has created a model of the symbolic act which breaks through the rigidities of the sacred secular dichotomy and at the same time shows us how we get from secular and sacred realms of action over the bridge of language Religious systems are systems of action based on communication in society They are great social dramas which are played out on earth before an ultimate audience God But where theology confronts the developed cosmological drama in the grand style that is as a fully developed cosmological drama for its religious content the logologer can be further studied not directly as knowledge but as anecdotes that help reveal for us the quandaries of human governance Hugh Dalziel Duncan from Critical Responses to Kenneth Burke 1924 1966 edited by William H Rueckert Minneapolis University of Minnesota Press 1969 The Rhetoric of Religion Kenneth Burke, 1970-04-01 But the point of Burke's work and the significance of his achievement is not that he points out that religion and language affect each other for this has been said before but that he proceeds to demonstrate how this is so by reference to a specific symbolic context After a discussion On Words and The Word he analyses verbal action in St Augustine's Confessions He then discusses the first three chapters of Genesis and ends with a brilliant and profound Prologue in Heaven an imaginary dialogue between the Lord and Satan in which he proposes that we begin our study of human motives with complex theories of transcendence rather than with terminologies developed in the use of simplified laboratory equipment Burke now feels after some forty years of search that he has created a model of the symbolic act which breaks through the rigidities of the sacred secular dichotomy and at the same time shows us how we get from secular and sacred realms of action over the bridge of language Religious systems are systems of action based on communication in society They are great social dramas which are played out on earth before an ultimate audience God But where theology confronts the developed cosmological drama in the grand style that is as a fully developed cosmological drama for its religious content the logologer can be further studied not directly as knowledge but as anecdotes that help reveal for us the quandaries of human governance Hugh Dalziel Duncan from Critical Responses to Kenneth Burke 1924 1966 edited by William H Rueckert Minneapolis University of Minnesota Press 1969 The Rhetoric of Religion Kenneth Burke, 1970 Critical Responses to Kenneth Burke, 1924-1966 William H. Liliana M. Naydan, 2016-05-23 Rhetorics of Religion in American Fiction considers the way in which contemporary American authors address the subject of belief in the post 9/11 Age of Terror. Naydan suggests that after 9/11 fiction by Mohsin Hamid, Laila Halaby, Philip Roth, Don DeLillo, John Updike, and Barbara Kingsolver dramatizes and works to resolve impasses that exist between believers of different kinds at the extremes. These impasses emerge out of the religious paradox that shapes America as simultaneously theocratic and secular and they exist for instance between liberals and fundamentalists, between liberals and certain evangelicals, between fundamentalists and artists, and between fundamentalists of different varieties. Ultimately, Naydan argues that these authors function as literary theologians of sorts and forge a relevant space beyond or between extremes. They fashion faith or lack thereof as hybridized and hence as a negotiation among secularism, atheism, faith, fundamentalism, and fanaticism. In so doing, they invite their readers into contemplations of religious difference and new ways of memorializing 9/11.

Kenneth Burke's Logology and Literary Criticism Robert Garlitz, 2004. Kenneth Burke's Logology and Literary Criticism by Robert Garlitz. Publisher: Xlibris Corporation. December 21, 2004. ISBN 1413464084.

DESCRIPTION: One of America's greatest writers, critics, and theorists, Kenneth Burke (1897-1993) engaged questions in nearly every field of knowledge and studied the ways language and literature relate to symbolic action in all aspects of life. His works have influenced the fields of aesthetics, ethics, rhetoric, communication, semiotics, and sociology, as well as literary studies. Kenneth Burke's Logology and Literary Criticism emphasizes the importance of religious ideas and religious rhetoric in the development of his work. My Outlaw Book is how Burke himself often referred to his book The Rhetoric of Religion. Studies in Logology: Robert Garlitz closely studies the four essays on Logology and argues that they show us more clearly than many of his other books the analogical forms of thought that shape Burke's brilliant contributions to twentieth-century American letters. Garlitz concludes his book with a logological meditation on Joseph Conrad's epic novel Nostromo. An Appendix publishes for the first time seven letters Kenneth Burke wrote to Garlitz in 1980-81. One of the best studies of The Rhetoric of Religion. Quite good for its detail, accuracy, and clarity, Garlitz is especially adept at putting complex material in perspective. More than other commentators, he fully recognizes the centrality of the analogy at the heart of the book, embracing the logic/narrative problem that Burke contemplates. Ross Wolin, author of The Rhetorical Imagination of Kenneth Burke. University of South Carolina Press, 2001. Robert Garlitz received his PhD from the University of Chicago and is Professor of English at Plymouth State University. He is the author of Robert Lax: Speaking Into Silence and, with Rupert Loydell, Snowshoes Across the Clouds.

God Talk Kathryn Michelle Elvey, 2010. In 1960, Kenneth Burke wrote The Rhetoric of Religion. Studies in Logology: In his book, Burke comments on the rhetoric of religion and its uses. Using Burke's analysis of religious rhetoric, this study attempts to show that Burke's concepts of religion as a rhetorical device are applicable in a modern case study of post-Katrina New Orleans, concerning the way words in the New Orleans community have taken on new meanings among both secular and religious institutions. Likewise, this case study will raise serious questions about why the language changed and what the implications are for society This project shows how religious rhetoric in New Orleans has shifted in African American communities from being confined simply to the religious sphere and how it has taken on more philanthropic overtones in the Protestant African American community and more racist overtones in the Catholic African American community Since the tragedy of Katrina churches religious organizations and institutions have used their grassroots efforts to bring the city back to life The African American community is the majority population in New Orleans and they were also the population most affected by Katrina In sum this study shows how religious rhetoric shifted in Catholic African American communities and Protestant African American communities through a Burkian lens and presents the implications of what a shifting rhetoric means

Kenneth Burke + The Posthuman Chris Mays, Nathaniel A. Rivers, Kellie Sharp-Hoskins, 2017-10-15 While rhetoric as a discipline is firmly planted in humanism and anthropology posthumanism seeks to leave the human behind This highly original examination of Kenneth Burke's thought grapples with these ostensibly contradictory concepts as opportunities for invention revision and importantly transdisciplinary knowledge making Rather than simply mapping posthumanist rhetorics onto Burke s scholarship Kenneth Burke The Posthuman focuses on the multiplicity of ideas found both in his work and in the idea of posthumanism Taking varied approaches organized within a framework of boundaries and futures the contributors show that studying the humanist theories of Burke in this way creates a satisfyingly chaotic web of interconnections The essays look at how Burke s writing on the human mind and technology from his earliest works to his very latest revisions interrelates with current concepts such as new materiality and coevolution Throughout the contributors pay close attention to the fluidity concerns and contradictions inherent in language symbolism and subjectivity A unique illuminating exploration of the contested relationship between bodies and language this inherently transdisciplinary book will propel important future inquiry by scholars of rhetoric Burke and posthumanism In addition to the editors the contributors are Casey Boyle Kristie Fleckenstein Nathan Gale Julie Jung Steven B Katz Steven LeMieux Jodie Nicotra Jeff Pruchnic Timothy Richardson Thomas Rickert and Robert Wess Persuasion Lillian L.

Beeson,2014 By including works from Aristotle to Kenneth Burke Persuasion Theory and Applications provides a comprehensive introduction to persuasion Author Lillian Beeson offers a balance of classic rhetorical theories and contemporary social science approaches demonstrating how these multiple perspectives apply to various fields including politics religion art entertainment advertising public relations and law The text contains relevant controversial and compelling examples that will engage students in the discussion of how persuasion works and show them how to effectively apply this knowledge to their everyday lives Management of Corporate Communication Robert L. Heath,2020-07-24

Whereas many organizational communication texts address internal communication processes few consider the efforts that companies expend to communicate with external stakeholders Likewise many texts that concentrate on public relations or advertising consider external communication but fail to give attention to internal communication Combining both points of view this text explains how an entire organization operates through enactments of personnel and external stakeholders Central to this book is a concern for meaning and its influence on the performance of jobs in response to expectations of co workers and external publics The concept of narrative is used to explain how individual and organization performance is the expression of personae that are best when enacted jointly in varying degrees of coordination to satisfy mutual performance expectations Narrative explains the power of organizational meaning interpersonal contacts group performance stakeholder negotiation and internal and external organizational zones of meaning assumptions that are shared by people who enact an organization through coordinated efforts Religion, Allegory, and Literacy in Early Modern England, 1560-1640

John S. Pendergast,2006 Using as a primary focus the manner in which Protestant and Catholic paradigms of the Word affect the understanding of how meaning manifests itself in material language this book develops a history of literacy between the middle of the sixteenth century and the middle of the seventeenth century The author emphasizes how literacy is defined according to changing concepts of philological manifestation and embodiment and how various social and political factors influence these concepts The study looks at literary texts such as The Fairie Queene early Shakespearean comedies sermons and poems by John Donne Latin textbooks and religious primers and educational and religious treatises which illustrate how language could be used to perform spiritual functions The cross section of texts serves to illustrate the pervasive applicability of the author s theories to early modern literature and culture and their relationship to literature the study of sixteenth and seventeenth century literature Protestant reading and exegetical strategies in contrast with Catholic strategies and secular versus spiritual literacies

The Explosive World of Tatyana N. Tolstaya's Fiction Helena Goscilo,2016-09-16 This study of the work of Tatyana N Tolstaya initiates the reader into the paradoxes of her fictional universe a poetic realm ruled by language to which the mysteries of life imagination memory and death are subject

The Politics of Resentment Jeremy Engels,2015-06-18 In the days and weeks following the tragic 2011 shooting of nineteen Arizonans including congresswoman Gabrielle Giffords there were a number of public discussions about the role that rhetoric might have played in this horrific event In question was the use of violent and hateful rhetoric that has come to dominate American political discourse on television on the radio and at the podium A number of more recent school shootings have given this debate a renewed sense of urgency as have the continued use of violent metaphors in public address and the dishonorable state of America s partisan gridlock This conversation unfortunately has been complicated by a collective cultural numbness to violence But that does not mean that fruitful conversations should not continue In The Politics of Resentment Jeremy Engels picks up this thread examining the costs of violent political rhetoric for our society and the future of democracy The Politics of Resentment traces the rise of especially violent rhetoric in American public discourse by investigating key events in American history Engels analyzes how resentful rhetoric has long been used by public figures in order to achieve political ends He goes on to show how a more devastating form of resentment started in the 1960s dividing Americans on issues of structural inequalities and foreign policy He discusses for example the rhetorical and political contexts that have made the mobilization of groups such as Nixon s silent majority and the present Tea Party possible Now in an age of recession and sequestration many Americans believe that they have been given a raw deal and experience feelings of injustice in reaction to events beyond individual control With The Politics of Resentment Engels wants to make these feelings of victimhood politically productive by challenging the toxic rhetoric that takes us there by defusing it and by enabling citizens to have the kinds of conversations we need to have in order to fight for life liberty and equality

Good and Evil in the Garden of Democracy Rodney Wallace Kennedy,2023-04-13 Democracy faces threats from an emerging right wing movement in democratic governments around the world This may be even more prevalent in the United States because there is an evil that uses rhetorical tropes to undermine the anchor institutions of democracy press courts universities and Congress This evil has a personification former President Donald Trump All the rhetorical critiques of Trump that he is a demagogue an authoritarian a serial liar a populist on steroids fail to take into account the evil that is fomented by his angry and vengeful rhetoric Pictures of evil in Scripture philosophy and rhetoric bear a striking resemblance to Trump It is not enough to say that he is dangerous to democracy Kennedy claims that he is the evil seed in democracy that is even now sprouting new versions of the Trump rhetoric as each acolyte attempts to outrage the next Good and Evil in the Garden of Democracy screams at the evil fights against the evil and then attempts to sing the songs of goodness and democracy from poets prophets and rhapsodes For the health of democracy these words have been written The Mirror of Language (Revised Edition) Marcia L. Colish,1983-01-01 Early Christianity faced the problem of the human word versus Christ the Word Could language accurately describe spiritual reality The Mirror of Language brilliantly traces the development of one prominent theory of signs from Augustine through Anselm of Canterbury Thomas Aquinas and Dante Their shared epistemology validated human language as an authentic but limited index of preexistent reality both material and spiritual This sign theory could thereby account for the ways men receive know and transmit religious knowledge always mediated through faith Marcia L Colish demonstrates how the three theologians used different branches of the medieval trivium to express a common sign theory Augustine stressed rhetoric Anselm shifted to grammar including grammatical proofs of God s existence and Thomas Aquinas stressed dialectic Dante the one poet included in this study used the Augustinian sign theory to develop a Christian poetics that culminates in the Divine Comedy The author points out not only the commonality but also the sharp contrasts between these writers and shows the relation between their sign theories and the intellectual ferment of the times When first published in 1968 The Mirror of Language was recognized as a pathfinding study This completely revised edition incorporates the scholarship of the intervening years and reflects the refinements of the author s thought Greater prominence is given to the role of Stoicism and sharper attention is paid to some of the thinkers and movements surrounding the major thinkers treated Concerns of semiotics philosophy and literary criticism are elucidated further The original thesis still controversial is now even wider ranging and more salient to current intellectual debate Fault Lines of Modernity Kitty Millet,Dorothy Figueira,2018-09-20 This state of the art collection offers fresh perspectives on why intersections between literature religion and ethics can address the fault lines of modernity and are not necessarily the cause of modernity s faults From a diverse cohort of scholars from around the world with appointments in comparative literature and other disciplines the essays suggest that the imagined hegemony of a Judeo Christian Western project is neither exclusively true nor productive However the essays also suggest that elements of the Western religious traditions are important vectors for understanding modernity s complicated relationship to the past How Non-being Haunts Being Corey Anton,2020-11-03 How Non being Haunts Being reveals how the human world is not reducible to what is Human life is an open expanse of what was and what will be what might be and what should be It is a world of desires dreams fictions historical figures planned events spatial and temporal distances in a word absent presences and present absences Corey Anton draws upon and integrates thinkers such as Jean Paul Sartre Henri Bergson Kenneth Burke Terrence Deacon Lynn Margulis R D Laing Gregory Bateson Douglas Harding and E M Cioran He discloses the moral possibilities liberated through death acceptance by showing how living beings who are of space not merely in it are fundamentally on loan to themselves A heady multidisciplinary work How Non being Haunts Being explores how absence incompleteness and negation saturate life language thought and culture It details how meaning and moral agency depend upon forms of non being and it argues that death acceptance in no way inevitably slides into nihilism Thoroughgoing death acceptance in fact opens opportunities for deeper levels of self understanding and for greater compassion regarding our common fate Sure to provoke thought and to stimulate much conversation it offers countless insights into the human condition
