Klara Joseph Leary, 2010 Winston Churchill called the Hungarian Holocaust the worst crime in the history of humanity That was 1944 It seems unlikely that many residents of Chicago's Ukrainian Village thought much about that event in 1977 when this story begins Those who did think about it would never have acknowledged it or if forced to acknowledge it would claim no clear memories of it Klara the protagonist of this novel lived her life among such people normal enough people She was fairly happy except for her dreams dreams that churned up something terrible from her earliest years Klara's aunt and uncle tried to comfort her after these dreams They protected her for she had no parents but could not entirely love her She could sense this She never understood the reasons but accepted her life for what it was By 1977 at the age of thirty eight she had a comfortable job at the bakery She had friends few worries and a flat of her own in the Village Her uncle was the most powerful Catholic priest on the northwest side of Chicago The old Polish folks thought of him as their patron a saint who gave them practical blessings He could do no wrong in their eyes or for that matter in Klara's So life was good enough until the crazy old woman came to the neighborhood Then everything changed Joseph Leary is a native of Indianapolis a graduate of Indiana University and an avid student of history He has two adult sons and currently lives in Lewiston New York The origins of this novel come partly from the years he spent in Chicago in the late 1970's Working near Ukrainian Village he became intrigued by the hard working somewhat reticent people who lived there and how they interacted with the communities around them The more he researched this story the more natural it seemed that the Village should be the setting
