define educational quality In order to raise their status in these rankings institutions pour money into new facilities and extracurricular activities while underfunding their educational programs In Why Public Higher Education Should Be Free Robert Samuels argues that many institutions of higher education squander funds and mislead the public about such things as average class size faculty to student ratios number of faculty with PhDs and other indicators of educational quality Parents and students seem to have little knowledge of how colleges and universities have been restructured over the past thirty years Samuels shows how research universities have begun to function as giant investment banks or hedge funds that spend money on athletics and administration while increasing tuition costs and actually lowering the quality of undergraduate education In order to fight higher costs and lower quality Samuels suggests universities must reallocate these misused funds and concentrate on their core mission of instruction and related research Throughout the book Samuels argues that the future of our economy and democracy rests on our ability to train students to be thoughtful participants in the production and analysis of knowledge If leading universities serve only to grant credentials and prestige our society will suffer irrevocable harm Presenting the problem of how universities make and spend money Samuels provides solutions to make these important institutions less expensive and more vital By using current resources in a more effective manner we could even he contends make all public higher education free

Student Financing of Higher Education Donald Heller, Claire Callender, 2013-06-07 The financing of higher education is undergoing great change in many countries around the world In recent years many countries are moving from a system where the costs of funding higher education are shouldered primarily by taxpayers through government subsidies to one where students pay a larger share of the costs There are a number of factors driving these trends including A push for massification of higher education in the recognition that additional revenue streams are required above and beyond those funds available from governments in order to achieve higher participation rates Macroeconomic factors which lead to constraints on overall government revenues Political factors which manifest in demands for funding of over services thus restricting the funding available for higher tertiary education A concern that the returns to higher education accrue primarily to the individual rather than to society and thus students should bear more of the burden of paying for it This volume will help to contribute to an understanding of how these trends occur in various countries and regions around the world and the impact they have on higher education institutions students and society as a whole With contributions for the UK USA South Africa and China this vital new book gives a truly global picture of the rapidly changing

Modernisation of higher education in Europe: funding and the social dimension 2011 EURYDICE,2011 There is an urgent need to address the social dimension of higher education more forcefully and coherently particularly in view of the economic downturn across Europe This is the conclusion of the new Eurydice report which looks at national policies on access to higher education funding and student support The report covering eu Member States plus Iceland Liechtenstein Norway and Turkey suggests that countries are struggling to adapt their higher education systems to meet the challenges brought about by rapid societal change in recent years In particular they need to open up opportunities for more people to benefit from higher education matching this objective with coherent measures funding and monitoring to evaluate their impact European leaders have agreed a headline target that 40% of 30 34 year olds should have a higher education qualification by 2020 an increase from just over 33% today The study focuses on three key topics policies to widen participation in higher education funding trends and the impact of student fee and support systems It reveals that approaches to meet shared European objectives vary greatly between countries and have different impacts on the performance of higher education For example there seems to be an East West divide regarding routes to higher education for non traditional candidates such as adult learners and people entering university on the basis of skills gained in the workplace rather than school qualifications The report highlights changes in higher education spending in response to the crisis Over the past academic year 2010 11 compared to 2009 10 budgets were most increased in Lithuania Liechtenstein Austria France Finland and Malta while the deepest cuts were made in Greece Ireland Iceland 8 10% decrease as well as in Spain Italy the Czech Republic and Slovakia up to 3% decrease A glossary is included Individual chapters contain footnotes Contains 26 figures International Perspectives on Financing Higher Education Josef C. education is increasingly important to the labor market success of individuals and the prosperity of nations yet as this book shows public funding for higher education is declining It presents innovative approaches to increasing funding for universities through closer ties with business and through privatization of universities
