Peace Security And Conflict Prevention:

Peace, Security and Conflict Prevention Stockholm International Peace Research Institute, Unesco, 1998 Peace Security and Conflict Prevention SIPRI UNESCO Handbook is a comprehensive concise volume on security and conflict prevention in the post cold war period 1992-96. It is drawn from the results of SIPRI's research and includes chapters on major armed conflicts, armed conflict prevention, management and resolution, world military expenditure, arms production and the arms trade, nuclear, chemical and biological weapons, the arms control and agreements currently in force and under negotiation, the United Nations Organization and special studies of regional and subregional security in Europe and Asia. A detailed chronology lists the major events of 1992-96 related to peace, security and conflict prevention. The book also includes a useful glossary of terms and acronyms used in the security literature and gives the membership of international organizations concerned with security issues. Conflict Prevention and Peace-building in Post-War Societies T. David Mason, James D. Meernik, 2006-05-02 This volume provides an overview of the costs, benefits, consequences and prospects for rebuilding nations emerging from violent conflict. The rationale for this comes from the growing realization that in the post Cold War era and in the aftermath of 9/11, our understanding of conflict and conflict resolution has to include consideration of the conditions conducive to sustaining the peace in nations torn by civil war or interstate conflict. The chapters analyze the prospects for building a sustainable peace from a number of different perspectives, examining the role of economic development, democratization, respect for human rights, the potential for renewal of conflict, the United Nations and other critical topics. In an age when nation building is once again on the international agenda and scholars as well as policy makers realize both the tremendous costs and benefits in fostering developed, democratic, peaceful and secure nations, the time has truly come for a book that integrates all the facets of this important subject. Conflict Prevention and Peace building in Post War Societies will appeal to students and scholars of peace studies, international relations, security studies and conflict resolution as well as policy makers and analysts. New Paths and Policies towards Conflict Prevention Courtney J. Fung, Björn Gehrman, Rachel F. Madenyika, Jason G. Tower, 2021-03-14 This book explores the discourse on conflict prevention and peacebuilding by bringing together researchers from China and Switzerland over a series of policy dialogues. The Charter of the United Nations adopted in the immediate aftermath of World War II is clear about the fundamental necessity for the international community to act in partnership to prevent violent conflict. Given recent shifts in global power dynamics, there is an apparent need for international policy issues to be addressed in ways that are inclusive of a wider variety of perspectives and approaches. Chinese policy actors are increasingly interested in fostering their own discourse on issues of prevention and peacebuilding rooted in Chinese experience and engaging with peers from other contexts. The chapters in this volume explore the rationale for conflict prevention and review prevailing academic and practitioner discourses on fundamental questions such as the rationales for why conflicts should be prevented and whether mainstream approaches are still relevant This book will be of interest to students of peacebuilding conflict resolution Chinese politics and International Relations The Open Access version of this book available at <https://www.routledge.com/New+Paths+and+Policies+towards+Conflict+Prevention+Chinese+and+Fung+Gehrmann+Madenyika+Tower+p+book/9780367683368> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license

Conflict Prevention in the UN's Agenda 2030 Bertrand Ramcharan, Robin Ramcharan, 2020-01-27 This book analyses the UN's Agenda 2030 and reveals that progress is lagging on all five interlocking and interdependent themes that are discussed: conflict prevention, development, peace, justice and human rights. Many voices have already been raised, including that of the UN Secretary General, that the Sustainable Development Goals will not be met by 2030 unless there is a re-doubling of efforts. Still on development as such, there is much striving. The book puts the concept of preventive diplomacy into all of the issues of modern international relations, from the US-China confrontation to the various conflicts bedeviling Africa. It bridges the two worlds of the international relations specialist on the one hand and that of the academic interested in UN affairs on the other hand. There is normally little contact between those two specializations. The authors have taken several current issues to show how the millennium debates and the SDG targets are relevant to realist school conflicts and that there is work under way to operationalize ideas and theories in this respect. This is the first ever discussion of the conflict prevention dimension in the UN's Agenda 2030 which seeks to advance sustainable development with a view to reinforcing peace and justice on the foundations of respect for universal human rights.

Rethinking Peace and Security Paula Duarte Lopes, Stephen Villanueva Ryan, 2009-01-01 During ten days in July 2008, around fifty students and a dozen professors from twelve different European universities met at the University of Coimbra for the Fifth Intensive Seminar of the European Doctorate Enhancement Programme on Peace and Conflict (EDEN) and discussed the new dimensions of peace and security studies. Their contributions reflect the research agendas of a new generation who continue to address enduring themes in peace and conflict studies but whose formative influences are those of a complex post-Cold War world.

Handbook of Regional Conflict Resolution Initiatives in the Global South Jeronimo Delgado-Caicedo, 2022-07-28 During the first half of the twentieth century, the international system was largely dominated by the USA and the colonial powers of western Europe. After the two world wars, the political and economic dominance of these states guaranteed them and their allies an almost complete control of world politics. However, as it is the norm in the international system, power structures are not immutable. After the end of the Cold War, rapid changes to the existing international hierarchies took place as new countries from the so-called developing world began to emerge as crucial actors capable of questioning and altering the power dynamics of the world. It is therefore unthinkable to ignore emerging countries such as Russia, the People's Republic of China, India, Brazil or South Africa in the decision-making process in today's world order. In addition, there is a group of smaller yet increasingly important countries that, while acknowledging their inability radically to change the rules of the international system are still eager to shift power relations and enhance their influence in the world Argentina Colombia Egypt Indonesia Iran South Korea Mexico Nigeria Pakistan Saudi Arabia Turkey and Vietnam are generally recognised as part of this grouping of emerging powers from the Global South While there is a consensus amongst academics that emerging powers from the Global South must have a stabilising role within their own regions previous analyses have focused primarily on the impact that emerging powers have had in their own regions conflict resolution initiatives This volume instead aims to go beyond these analyses and provide new insights regarding the effect that this stabilising role has on the continental and global positioning of emerging powers In other words this book explores the relation between a country s involvement in conflict resolution initiatives and its positioning in the international system The volume will contribute to this approach using the perspective of academics and practitioners from countries of the Global South particularly from states that have strengthened or sometimes weakened their position in the international hierarchy of power through a leading role in regional conflict resolution initiatives

Africa's New Peace and Security Architecture J. Gomes Porto, 2016-04-01 This volume offers an informed and critical analysis of the operationalization and institutionalization of the peace and security architecture by the African Union and Africa s Regional Economic Communities RECs In creating this architecture the African Union and the RECs tread new ground with potentially significant consequences to the lives and livelihoods of millions of Africans who are affected by war and armed conflict In depth critical chapters inform clarify and provide key points for reflection on the architecture as a whole as well as on each of the structures currently under implementation The volume examines the institutions that will carry the mandate forward raises pertinent research questions for the successful operationalization of the architecture and debates the medium and long term challenges to implementation Students and researchers of African approaches to peace building conflict resolution and regional security will benefit from the deep and critical engagement of issues covered in this volume by world renowned scholars and practitioners

Conflict Resolution in the Twenty-first Century Jacob Bercovitch, Richard Dean Wells Jackson, 2009-09-08 In the past arbitration direct bargaining the use of intermediaries and deference to international institutions were relatively successful tools for managing interstate conflict In the face of terrorism intrastate wars and the multitude of other threats in the post Cold War era however the conflict resolution tool kit must include preventive diplomacy humanitarian intervention regional task sharing and truth commissions Here Jacob Bercovitch and Richard Jackson two internationally recognized experts systematically examine each one of these conflict resolution tools and describe how it works and in what conflict situations it is most likely to be effective Conflict Resolution in the Twenty first Century is not only an essential introduction for students and scholars it is a must have guide for the men and women entrusted with creating stability and security in our changing world Cover illustration iStockphoto com

Conflict Resolution and Ontological Security Bahar Rumelili, 2014-12-17 This volume highlights the ways in which the prospect of peace can generate anxieties and consequently set in motion social and political processes that reproduce and reactivate conflicts In analysing this issue the volume builds on the notion of ontological security and its recent applications to international relations theory Although conflicts threaten the physical security of the parties involved they also help settle existential questions about basic parameters of life being and identity and thus over time become sources of ontological security The prospect of peace through the resolution or transformation of conflict threatens to unsettle the stability and consistency of self narratives and their associated routines and habits at the individual group and state levels The contributors argue two key points 1 that ontological insecurity may set in motion political and social processes that reproduce and reactivate conflicts 2 that coping with peace anxieties necessitates the formulation of alternative self narratives at the individual societal and state levels that re situate the Self in relation to Other and to the world at large Consequently the book analyses the ways in which and the conditions under which conflict resolution induces ontological insecurity and the different ways in which ontological insecurity has prevented the successful culmination of peace processes in different conflict contexts including Cyprus Israel Palestine and Northern Ireland This book will be of much interest to students of critical security studies conflict resolution peace and conflict studies social theory and IR in general

The European Union and Conflict Prevention Emma J. Stewart, 2006 The book examines the evolution of EU conflict prevention as an internal EU process and as an area of external cooperation with the UN OSCE and NATO Conflict prevention has emerged as a prominent EU policy in the post Cold War era Yet how suited is the organisation to practice conflict prevention and what does the record of cooperation with other key European organisations tell us about the EU s external priorities The book critically analyses the EU s policy and outcomes to date concluding that conflict prevention is underdeveloped by the EU and is in danger of being marginalised in favour of shorter term crisis management Moreover EU external cooperation reinforces this the priority is cooperation in crisis management with the UN and NATO rather than longer term cooperation with the OSCE
