economic and humanitarian issues served as a popular lever which helped to eliminate feudal remnants that lingered in Japanese society and individual attitudes after the war thereby modernizing the political process and the outlook of the ordinary Japanese Including extensive primary material such as letters essays memoirs and interviews specialists in Japanese

Bah,Nikolas Emmanuel,2024 At the turn of the twenty first century manipulation of the democratic process coupled with preexisting political and economic grievances led to years long civil wars in Sierra Leone Liberia and Cote d'Ivoire During and after these conflicts international peacekeeping efforts and humanitarian intervention became the dominant paths for restoring stability by rebuilding the state Using these three countries as case studies this manuscript sheds light on internationally driven state building in war torn West African nations the problematic nature of the postcolonial state and the difficulties of securing its people's wellbeing Connecting peace and conflict democracy and international development studies Bah and Emmanuel argue that there is a clear nexus between the concepts and practices of peace building and statebuilding that peace building and statebuilding are not domestic matters alone but also matters of global intervention and that civil wars can be viewed as opportunities for state building through creative postwar partnerships and organization This study goes beyond the familiar concepts of failed states R2P peacekeeping and peace mediation and introduces and enhances the concepts of state decay new humanitarianism people centered liberalism and institutional design In doing so it provides critical lessons that local and international actors can draw on as they try to figure out practical solutions to the political economic and social problems that impede the development of peaceful and democratic multiethnic postcolonial states in Africa and beyond Applying comparative historical methods and theory to archival materials and expert interviews

International Statebuilding in West Africa seeks to shift the discourse on civil wars from their causes and implications to the opportunities they provide to rework failed states and to shift the discourse on African states from their colonial and neocolonial legacies to their shared moral and security interests with the rest of the world Towards Social Stability and Democratic Governance in Central Eurasia I. Morozova, Irina Yurievna Morozova, 2005-11-15 Through invasions migrations trade and cultural exchange developments in Central Eurasia have for millennia impacted upon the history of both Europe and Asia For the last three hundred years Central Eurasia has been the stage upon which great empires clashed Following the dissolution of the Soviet Union Central Eurasia has once again emerged as a region of geo political concern with various new international actors involved the USA international monetary organizations strategic alliances TNCs NGOs regional blocks as well as criminal groups and ethno religious movements The new centrality of Central Eurasia brings new security threats to the region's population to Europe and to the rest of the world Repressive political regimes and marginalization of whole groups of the population inflame conflicts that spill across national borders Migration to Europe both legal and illegal the illicit production and trade of drugs are the direct outcome of social economic destabilization in Central Eurasia Territorial disputes border conflicts and competition for resources among the Central Eurasian ethnicities have become the unfortunate reality Post Soviet Central Eurasia as a direct neighbor to the turbulent Middle East is a potential playground for extremist movements radical Islamic groups and terrorist organizations The contributors to this book coming from various theoretical schools and presenting innovative interdisciplinary approaches provide their views on the socio political challenges confronting the nine Central Eurasian states Kazakhstan Uzbekistan Kyrgyzstan Tajikistan Turkmenistan
