Virginia Woolf, Europe, and Peace Ariane Mildenberg, Patricia Novillo-Corvalán, 2020-06-13

Virginia Woolf's pacifist ideology and aesthetic response to the World Wars by re-examining her writings and cultural contexts transnationally and comparatively through the complex interplay between modernism, politics and aesthetics. The transnational paradigm that undergirds this collection revolves around the idea of transnational cultural communities of writers, artists and musicians worldwide who were intellectually involved in the war effort through the forging of pacifist cultural networks that arose as a form of resistance to war, militarism and the rise of fascism. The book also offers philosophical approaches to notions of transnational pacifism, anti-war ethics and decolonization, examining how Woolf's prose undermines center edge or self/other bifurcations. Breathing new life into Woolf's anti-war writings through a transnational lens and presenting us with the voices and perspectives of a range of significant scholars and critics, the chapters in this volume engage with mobile and circulatory pacifisms, calling attention to the intersections of modernist inquiries across the arts, art, music, literature and performance and transnational critical spaces. Asia, Europe and the Americas to show how the convergence of different cultural and linguistic horizons can significantly expand and enrich our understanding of Woolf's modernist legacy.

Transrational Peace Research and Elicitive Facilitation Norbert Koppensteiner, 2020-06-22

This book sheds new light on transrational approaches to peace research and highlights elicitive approaches to facilitation. Rather than encouraging researchers, teachers and practitioners to control and suppress their own positionality, the book argues that they can see themselves as a potential resource that can be creatively tapped for their work. Using dance as a central metaphor, it seeks to reposition research and facilitation as a truly experiential process where the entirety of human experiences and epistemologies can be brought into interplay, opening up new sources of knowledge. Providing a cutting-edge theoretical framework and based on his practical experience, the author demonstrates that facilitation and research are not just cognitive but can also become embodied, emotional, intuitive, relational and spiritual. By proposing a systematic methodological framework for research and facilitation, the book offers practical guidance for peace practitioners, facilitators and researchers interested in working through all dimensions of their being and engaging with
