Peacebuilding As Politics Cultivating Peace In Fragile Societies:

Peacebuilding as Politics Elizabeth M. Cousens, Chetan Kumar, 2023 Although the idea of postconflict peacebuilding appeared to hold great promise after the end of the Cold War within a very few years the opportunities for peacebuilding seemed to pale beside the obstacles to it This volume examines the successes and failures of large scale interventions to build peace in El Salvador Cambodia Haiti Somalia and Bosnia and Herzegovina The authors shed light on the unique conditions for and constraints on peacebuilding in each country and examine the quality and coherence of international responses Arguing that the defining priority of peacebuilding initiatives should be the development of authoritative legitimate political mechanisms to resolve internal conflicts without violence they present peacebuilding as politics as an effective organizing principle for determining the best range timing and priorities of international action European Union

Peacebuilding and Policing Michael Merlingen, Rasa Ostrauskaite, 2006-09-27 This new volume draws on the work of Michel Foucault to make the case that the EU's self image as a model peacebuilder conceals another side of the European Security and Defence Policy ESDP It brings together and connects new research on European integration security policing and political sociology in an important and original way Making War and Building Peace Michael W. Doyle, Nicholas Sambanis, 2011-04-22 Making War and Building Peace examines how well United Nations peacekeeping missions work after civil war Statistically analyzing all civil wars since 1945 the book compares peace processes that had UN involvement to those that didn't Michael Doyle and Nicholas Sambanis argue that each mission must be designed to fit the conflict with the right authority and adequate resources UN missions can be effective by supporting new actors committed to the peace building governing institutions and monitoring and policing implementation of peace settlements But the UN is not good at intervening in ongoing wars If the conflict is controlled by spoilers or if the parties are not ready to make peace the UN cannot play an effective enforcement role It can however offer its technical expertise in multidimensional peacekeeping operations that follow enforcement missions undertaken by states or regional organizations such as NATO Finding that UN missions are most effective in the first few years after the end of war and that economic development is the best way to decrease the risk of new fighting in the long run the authors also argue that the UN's role in launching development projects after civil war should be expanded Peacebuilding and NGOs Ryerson Christie, 2013 Analysing the relationship between civil society and the state this book lays bare the assumptions informing peacebuilding practices and demonstrates through empirical research how such practices have led to new dynamics of conflict The drive to establish a sustainable liberal peace largely escapes critical examination When such attention is paid to peacebuilding practices scholars tend to concentrate either on the military components of the mission or on the liberal economic reforms This means that the roles of Non Governmental Organizations NGOs and the impact of attempting to nurture Northern forms of civil society is often overlooked Focusing on the case of Cambodia this book seeks to examine the assumptions underlying peacebuilding policies in order to highlight the reliance on a particular linear reading of European North American history The author argues that such policies in fostering a particular form of civil society have affected patterns of conflict dictating when and where politics can occur and who is empowered to participate in such practices Drawing on interviews with NGO representatives and government representatives this volume will assert that while the expansion of civil society may resolve some sources of conflict its introduction has also created new dynamics of contestation This book will be of much interest to students of peacebuilding conflict resolution development studies S E Asian politics and IR in general Peacebuilding Rob

Jenkins,2013 The emergence of The United Nations Peacebuilding Commission PBC in 2005 was the culmination of a long and contentious process In this work Rob Jenkins provides a concise introduction that traces the origins and evolution of peacebuilding as a concept the creation and functioning of the PBC as an institution and the complicated relationship between these two processes Jenkins discusses how continued contestation over what exactly peacebuilding is and how its objectives can most effectively be achieved influenced the institutional design and de facto functioning of the PBC its structure mandate and origins He then moves on to examine the peacebuilding architecture in action and analyses the role that the PBC has carved out for itself reflecting on the future prospects for the organization The theory and practice of peacebuilding has assumed increasing importance over the last decade and this work is essential reading for all students of conflict resolution peace studies and international relations The European Approach to Peacebuilding Dorly

Castañeda,2014-11-18 Examining peacebuilding through the intersection of security development and democracy Castaneda explores how the European Union has employed civilian tools for supporting peacebuilding in conflict affected countries by working at the same time with CSOs and government institutions Peaceland Séverine Autesserre,2014-05-19 This book suggests a new explanation for why international peace interventions often fail to reach their full potential Based on several years of ethnographic research in conflict zones around the world it demonstrates that everyday elements such as the expatriates social habits and usual approaches to understanding their areas of operation strongly influence peacebuilding effectiveness Individuals from all over the world and all walks of life share numerous practices habits and narratives when they serve as interveners in conflict zones These common attitudes and actions enable foreign peacebuilders to function in the field but they also result in unintended consequences that thwart international efforts Certain expatriates follow alternative modes of thinking and acting often with notable results but they remain in the minority Through an in depth analysis of the interveners everyday life and work this book proposes innovative ways to better help host populations build a sustainable peace The Responsibility to Protect International Commission on Intervention and State

Sovereignty,International Development Research Centre (Canada),2001 Responsibility to Protect Research bibliography background Supplementary volume to the Report of the International Commission on Intervention and State Sovereignty

Confronting Past Human Rights Violations Chandra Lekha Sriram,2004-08-12 This book examines what makes accountability for previous abuses more or less possible for transitional regimes to achieve It closely examines the other vital goals of such regimes against which accountability is often balanced The options available are not simply prosecution or pardon as the most heated polemics of the debate over transitional justice suggest but a range of options from complete amnesty through truth commissions and lustration or purification to prosecutions The question then is not whether accountability can be achieved but what degree of accountability can be achieved by a given country The

Transformation of Violent Intercommunal Conflict Stephen Ryan, 2016-02-24 In recent years there has been a remarkable growth of interest in the concept of conflict transformation and the closely related strategy of grass roots peace building Yet there exists no general critical analysis of the concept of conflict transformation in the context of violent intercommunal conflict and the different approaches that can be included in response to this category of dispute This study offers a comprehensive survey and critical overview of this emerging area Examining the reasons for the growing interest in the concept of conflict transformation in situations of ethnic conflict the book explores the different dimensions of transformation It draws on examples of strategies from a number of situations of ethnic conflict including Northern Ireland Israel Palestine Bosnia Kosovo Cyprus Spain Sri Lanka and the former Soviet Union to identify and assess key issues and problems that have emerged and ultimately to propose a stronger emphasis on the promotion of inter subjective understanding Managing Armed Conflicts in the 21st Century Adekeye Adebajo, Chandra Lekha Sriram, 2014-06-03 Produced with the International Peace Academy in New York this volume focuses largely on the conflicts of the 1990s and future projects examining multifaceted issues involved in conflict management suggesting new approaches and tools for future conflict management

Exploring Subregional Conflict Chandra Lekha Sriram, Zoe Nielsen, 2004 Selected bibliography pp 193 199

Statebuilding and Intervention David Chandler, 2014-05 This edited book sets out and engages with some of the key policies practices and paradigms of external intervention in the case of state support and reconstruction Many assumptions about statebuilding have been reconsidered in the wake of Iraq and ongoing problems in other states such as Afghanistan Bosnia and Kosovo Rather than being a regional survey or a policy orientated lessons learned book this collection explores the broader framing of policy goals statebuilding practices and the consensus on the need for Western states and international institutions to be engaged in this policy area The volume is divided into three parts the first engages with some of the key policy frameworks and conceptual issues raised by recent statebuilding interventions the second considers core statebuilding practices and the third reconsiders statebuilding paradigms more broadly The essays open up debate and critical discussion in the field at a time when many advocates of extending statebuilding intervention suggest that the complex nature of the problems of non Western states and societies mean that it will inevitably be contradictory and limited in its results The Last Mile in Ending Extreme Poverty Laurence Chandy, Hiroshi Kato, Homi Kharas, 2015-07-20

Yearbook of International Humanitarian Law - 2001 Avril McDonald, John Dugard, William Fenrick, Hans-Peter Gasser, Christopher Greenwood, Hortensia Gutierrez Posse, 2011-01-07 The defining moments of 2001 the terrorist attacks of September 11 against the United States of America marked a turning point in international law and relations By their scale and audaciousness overnight they helped to propel the issue of international terrorism to the top of the international security agenda and particularly that of the USA with consequences for many branches of international law including the jus ad bellum the jus in bello international law relating to terrorism international human rights law and international criminal law that were just beginning to be felt as the year closed The September 11 attacks were immediately characterised by the United States 3 as an act of war an armed attack on such a scale as to constitute an armed conflict Its immediate response was to declare a so called Global War on Terrorism Avowedly acting in self defense on 7 October the US launched armed attacks against Afghanistan not because Afghanistan was considered to be legally responsible for the September 11 attacks but for harbouring and refusing to surrender members of Al Qaeda including its leader Osama Bin Laden and refusing to dismantle terrorist training camps Although the main target of the attacks was Al Qaeda the armed conflict that ensued was an international armed conflict between the US and its allies and the state of Afghanistan notwithstanding that the US never recognised the Taliban as the government of Afghanistan

Linking Political Violence and Crime in Latin America Kirsten Howarth, Jenny H. Peterson, 2016-03-10 This edited collection explores the politics of crime and violence in Latin America through both theoretical reflections as well as several detailed case studies based on empirical primary research Its overall aim is to explore common misperceptions and simplifications which are often found in political discourses policy documentation as well as some academic work These simplifications include a focus on gangs narrow understandings of organized criminal groups and the knock on effect that such a focus has on policy making Instead the chapters in this book shift the reader's gaze to more structural explanations and analytical approaches moving them towards an understanding of how wider historical economic cultural and even psychological issues impact the complex relationships between crime violence and politics in the region The detailed case studies also allow for a unique comparative analysis of problems faced throughout the region While significant differences exist analysis of the case studies reveals common issues problems and debates between countries including structural violence militarization and neo liberalism These golden threads reveal not only the complexity of crime and violence in the region but also expose the failure of the overly simple gangsterism discourse found elsewhere Finally and importantly several of the chapters explore the politics of policy making in relation to these problems shedding light on the complex reasons for policy failures and highlighting innovative opportunities for change Whilst shedding light on current problems in the region the book also offers a range of analytical approaches for exploring other cases where crime violence and politics collide
