Peacekeeping In Africa:

Failures and Successes of Peacekeeping in Africa Osee R. Lieberman, 2018-10-20 Peacekeeping and peace building undertaken by the UN and the Security Council historically has had mixed results The deployment of UN peacekeeping troops has tended to be both tortuous and highly problematic because decisions to deploy peacekeeping forces cannot be made without the unanimity of the Security Council's five permanent members the United States Great Britain France Russia and China This has made rapid deployment of UN forces very often impossible In addition the UN peacekeeping missions in Africa did not last long as a result of the fiascos in the 1990s Peacekeeping in Africa Marco Wyss, Thierry Tardy, 2014-02-24 This book provides a comprehensive analysis of peacekeeping in Africa Recent events in the Democratic Republic of Congo DRC and Mali remind us that violence remains endemic and continues to hamper the institutional social and economic development of the African continent Over the years an increasing number of actors have become involved in the effort to bring peace to Africa The United Nations UN has been joined by regional organisations most prominently the African Union AU and the European Union EU and by sub regional organizations like the Economic Community of West African States ECOWAS Meanwhile traditional and emerging powers have regained an interest in Africa and as a consequence in peacekeeping This book provides a comprehensive analysis of the trends and challenges of international peacekeeping in Africa with a focus on the recent expansion of actors and missions Drawing upon contributions from a range of key thinkers in the field Peacekeeping in Africa concentrates on the most significant and emerging actors the various types of missions and the main operational theatres thus assessing the evolution of the African security architecture and how it impacts on peace operations This book will be of much interest to students of peacekeeping and peace operations African politics war and conflict studies security studies and IR UN Peacekeeping in Africa Kwame Akonor, 2016-11-17 This timely volume explores the dark side of United Nations UN Peacekeeping in Africa when rather than help establish a rule of law in the host country they become perpetrators of crime The work of the UN peacekeepers is generally comprised of police and military personnel from countries who contribute voluntarily to assist war torn countries create conditions for lasting peace Overall these peacekeeping efforts are perceived positively with volunteers giving their time and risking their lives to bring normalcy and peace to civilians in countries with conflict In fact there are cases where UN Peacekeepers are sometimes the victims of violent crimes and need security and protection themselves Although instances of abuse are not widespread and are certainly not isolated to Africa this work focuses on Africa because there is a high concentration of UN Peacekeepers there and lessons learned can be applied to other regions The instances of abuse cover serious crimes including sexual abuse and exploitation child and arms trafficking and corruption all of some of the most vulnerable populations in the world at the time Although these instances are not extensive they remain a fundamental problem because there is no existing mechanism for prosecution in the international area it is only the troops home country not the UN who has the right to exercise criminal jurisdiction The also undermine the good work that UN Peacekeepers are doing all over the world This work is concerned with highlighting why these instances occur and why specific forms of abuse are more prevalent than others It also discusses how to prevent abuse and violations from happening in the first place and creating a culture of change and accountability Finally taking into account cultural and legal systems from troops home countries the author considers the ways that local rules can be aligned with international standards In will be of interest to researchers in Criminology and Criminal Justice International Relations Sociology and Demography Public Health Comparative Law and other related disciplines UN Peacekeeping in Africa Adekeye Adebajo,2011

Nearly half of all UN peacekeeping missions in the post Cold War era have been in Africa and the continent currently hosts the greatest number and also the largest of such missions in the world Uniquely assessing five decades of UN peacekeeping in Africa Adekeye Adebajo focuses on a series of questions What accounts for the resurgence of UN peacekeeping efforts in Africa after the Cold War What are the factors that have determined the success or contributed to the failure of the missions Does the mandating of so many peacekeeping missions signify the failure of Africa s regional security organizations And crucially how can a new division of labor be established between the UN and Africa s security organizations to more effectively manage conflicts on the continent Publisher s description Peacekeeping in Africa Oliver Furley,Roy May,2021-05-11 First published in 1998

Since 1960 Norrie Macqueen,2014-07-30 United Nations Peacekeeping in Africa provides an exploration of United Nations military intervention in Africa from its beginnings in the Congo in 1960 to the new operations of the twenty first century The scene is set by an examination of the theoretical bases both of United Nations peacekeeping and of Africa s post independence politics and international relations The peacekeeping project in Africa is then described on a region by region basis Central Africa Southern Africa West Africa the Horn and Trans Saharan Africa with comparisons and contrasts within and between each part of Africa highlighted throughout A number of key questions are considered how have developments in the broader international system affected conflicts in Africa what are the internal and external forces which have caused African states to fail and collapse how have external powers used UN Peacekeeping in pursuit of their own political agendas what determines success and failure in African peacekeeping are there African solutions to African problems which could supplant UN involvement As well as providing an account of UN involvement the book is concerned to explore the long historical origins of the African conflicts with which the UN has been engaged Written in an engaging and accessible manner United Nations Peacekeeping in Africa provides an invaluable examination of the complex issues surrounding UN interventions in Africa Cooperative Peacekeeping in Africa Malte Brosig, 2015-10-05 This book examines peacekeeping in Africa exploring how the various actors are forming an African security regime complex The changing dynamics of peacekeeping in today's world have encouraged a more cooperative approach between international and regional actors At the centre of this book is the analysis of how an African security regime complex could emerge in the area of cooperative peacekeeping The African regime complex on peacekeeping includes a number of organizations at the regional and sub regional African level as well as global institutions such as the UN interregional partners like the EU and individual lead nations This book is the first in providing a systematic overview of peacekeeping doctrines capacities and deployments of these key actors and single lead states Theoretically the book links up with regime complexity scholarship but connects it with dependency theory Here inter institutional relations are conceptualised as acts of resource exchange The book explores how primarily international organizations are partnering by exchanging resources Empirically the study analyses the phenomenon of regime complexity in three prominent African crises covering Eastern Africa Somalia Central African Republic and Western Africa Mali This book will be of much interest to students of peacekeeping international organisations African politics security studies and IR in general Major Powers and Peacekeeping R. E. Utley, 2006 This valuable volume explores the continuing significance of peacekeeping in international affairs particularly in terms of its military dimensions and examines the priorities and perspectives of the major powers in relation to their military participation

Peacekeeping in Africa Eric Berman, Katie E. Sams, Institute for Security Studies (South Africa), 2000 This book analyzes both indigenous and external efforts to develop African countries individual and collective capacities to undertake peacekeeping operations It chronicles the participation of African countries in United Nations peacekeeping operations and non African led multinational forces over the past 50 years It also discusses the role of the United Nations in peacekeeping in the region and concludes with recommendations on how to make current approaches more effective Publisher's description

Peacekeeping in Africa United States. Congress. House. Committee on International Relations. Subcommittee on Africa, 2004 Dangers of Co-deployment David J. Francis, 2005 Tracing the evolution of UN peacekeeping this engaging volume explores its historical background and by way of pertinent case studies focuses on the changing nature of UN peacekeeping with particular reference to Africa a continent that has been instrumental in shaping theory and practice The concept of co deployment between the UN and regional sub regional organizations is constantly evolving and is therefore studied in detail here In this context case studies of co deployment such as Britain's IMAT France's RECAP and America's ACRI enable the authors to ascertain how they link to regional peacekeeping efforts in Africa The book provides a comprehensive and critical analysis of the capacity of the African Regional Intergovernmental Organizations in collective security peacekeeping conflict management and resolution and the collaboration between the UN and ECOWAS in Liberia and Sierra Leone Peacekeeping in Africa Marco Jowell, 2018-02-21 In recent decades African states have developed an impressive infrastructure for training their peacekeepers In addition peacekeeping peacebuilding and associated areas of conflict resolution have become significant areas of employment Marco Jowell has spent a decade working in peacekeeping training in East Africa initially as one of the foreign Technical Advisers at the Peace Support Operations PSO training centre in Kenya the International Peace Support Training Centre IPSTC and subsequently as a strategic adviser to the Rwanda Peace Academy Using first hand experience he considers how military forces from a variety of African states with great differences in history language and political systems and with militaries with different cultures and capabilities can conduct complicated multinational peacekeeping operations He shows how regional peacekeeping training centres provide an environment for African elites predominately military to interact with each other through shared training and experiences This process of interaction or socialisation improves skills but also encourages cohesion so that future African led missions will be managed by well trained officers who are comfortable and willing to work within a regional or Pan African framework Jowell shows that part of the aim of peacekeeping training centres is to foster a Pan African outward looking ideology or disposition as well as improving technical ability This book will be essential reading for all involved with African military and security studies and analysts of peacekeeping training and operations Reinventing Peacekeeping in Africa F.

Olonisakin, 2021-07-26 The euphoric cries of a peaceful and more dynamic new world order which followed the end of the Cold War have been silenced by the increased intensity of local conflicts around the world The humanitarian crises resulting from these conflicts have attracted greater international attention Perhaps even more tragic is the failure of the international community to find early effective response to these conflicts which have profound security implications for the affected regions and have led to the collapse of state structures in some cases The intra state conflicts in Africa alone have claimed over one million lives since 1990 On the international scene these internal conflicts have created new challenges for the UN whose efforts at dealing with them have produced mixed results whilst international policy makers the military and academics are faced with difficult questions Can traditional peacekeeping be stretched to accommodate this class of conflict What is the legal basis for these operations Attempts to answer these questions at the conceptual level have led to the development of concepts such as second generation peacekeeping wider peacekeeping peace support operations and strategic peacekeeping It has emerged that there is no common view on an effective and realistic set of tools to manage these crises Perhaps the most significant point to arise from the differing conceptual views presently is that an effective approach and sound legal basis have not been found for dealing with recalcitrant internal conflicts in far away regions which are not high on the strategic considerations of the great powers This book reconsiders the role of the UN and regional organisations such as ECOWAS in Africa It examines the response to the civil war in Liberia which served as a precursor to the international response to the crisis in Sierra Leone On the one hand this book offers an analysis of a new conceptual framework for managing a specific class of violent conflict On the other hand it provides first hand account of the character of a force that attempted to apply this approach In drawing some of its conclusions the book relies on the testimonies of many of the soldiers who formed the core of the military operations in these difficult conflict areas in West Africa
