Peasants Against Politics Rural Organization In Brittany 1911 1967:

Peasants Against Politics Suzanne Berger, 1972 Peasants against Politics provides a new perspective on the process of rural politicization and offers a fresh interpretation of the lag that modernization theorists have discovered between socioeconomic progress and political development

German Peasants and Agrarian Politics, 1914-1924 Robert G. Moeller, 2017-10-10 Robert Moeller investigates the German peasantry's rejection of the Weimar Republic in the 1920s and provides a new interpretation of Catholic peasant conservatism in western Germany According to Moeller rural support for conservative political solutions to the troubled Weimar Republic was the result of a series of severe economic jolts that began in 1914 and continued unabated until 1933 During the late nineteenth century peasant farmers in the Rhineland and Westphalia adjusted their production to a capitalist market and enjoyed an unprecedented period of prosperity that lasted until the outbreak of World War I After August 1914 peasant producers confronted state intervention in the agricultural sector regulation of prices and markets and the subordination of agrarian interests to the demands of urban consumers A controlled economy for many agricultural products continued into the postwar period Focusing on the Catholic peasantry Moeller shows that peasant rejection of the Weimar Republic was firmly grounded in the immediate circumstances of the war economy and the uneven process of postwar recovery He challenges the dominant view that rural support for conservative political solutions was primarily the product of the peasantry's hostility toward industrial capitalism and of long term social and political affinities dating from the nineteenth century Moeller's findings show that conservative agrarian ideology was carefully formulated in response to the specific peasant grievances that originated in this period of continuing economic and political crisis Originally published in 1986 A UNC Press Enduring Edition UNC Press Enduring Editions use the latest in digital technology to make available again books from our distinguished backlist that were previously out of print These editions are published unaltered from the original and are presented in affordable paperback formats bringing readers both historical and cultural value

Anticommunism in French Society and Politics, 1945-1953 Aaron Clift, 2023-06-20 Anticommunism in French Society and Politics 1945 1953 evaluates the prevalence of anticommunism among the French population in 1945 to 1953 and examines its causes character and consequences through a series of case studies on different segments of French society These include the scouting movement family organisations agricultural associations middle class groups and trade unions and other working class organisations Aaron Clift contends that anticommunism was more widespread and deeply rooted than previously believed and had a substantial impact on national politics and on these social groups and organisations Furthermore he argues that the study of anticommunism allows us a deeper understanding of the values they regarded as the most important to defend Although anticommunism was a diverse phenomenon this work identifies common discourses including portrayals of communism as a threat to the nation the colonial empire the traditional family private property religion the rural world and Western civilisation It also highlights common aims such as the rehabilitation of wartime collaborators and tactics such as the invocation of apoliticism While acknowledging the importance of the Cold War it rejects the assumption that anticommunism was an American import or foreign to French society and demonstrates links between anticommunism and anti Americanism It concludes that anticommunism drew its strength from the connection or even conflation of communism with perceived negative social changes that were seen to threaten traditional French civilisation interacting with the postwar international and domestic environment and the personal experiences of individual anticommunists

Enacting Brittany Patrick Young, 2017-03-02 Brittany offers an excellent example of a French region that once attracted a certain cultivated elite of travel connoisseurs but in which more popular tourism developed relatively early in the twentieth century It is therefore a strategic choice as a case study of some of the processes associated with the emergence of mass tourism and the effects of this kind of tourism development on local populations Efforts to package Breton cultural difference in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries marked a significant advance in heritage tourism and a departure from what is commonly perceived to be a French intolerance of cultural diversity within its borders This study explores the means by which key actors middle class associations businesses governmental bodies cultural intermediaries pursued tourist development in the region and the effect this had on Breton cultural identification Chapters are arranged thematically and consider the rise of rural tourism in France and the preservation display and enactment of Breton culture in its most visible locations the natural landscape of Brittany Breton dress early heritage festivals and religious Pardons The final chapter explores the staging of Breton culture at the Paris World s Fair of 1937 and the roots of state sponsored mass tourism Beyond those interested in the history of French tourism this study will also be invaluable to historians and social scientists concerned with understanding the dynamics involved in the emergence of mass tourism its causes and consequences in particular locales in the present as well as in the past

Place and Politics John A. Agnew, 2014-10-03 The first part of the book is concerned with developing the place perspective Three dimensions of place are put forward locale and sense of place describe the objective and subjective dimensions of local social arrangements within which political behaviour is realized location refers to the impact of the macro order to the fact that a single place is one among many and that the social life of a place is embedded in the workings of the state and the world economy The second part of the book provides detailed examinations of American and Scottish politics using the place perspective Contrary to the view that place or locality is important only in traditional societies this book argues that place is of continuing significance in even the most advanced societies

Family Farmers, Land Reforms and Political Action James Simpson, 2024-08-27 This book examines how European farmers responded to the economic and political challenges created by the First World War and the Great Depression The difficulties of interwar Europe have been frequently explored but rarely from the perspective of the agricultural sector where two fifths of the population earned their livelihood mostly as small family farmers The traditional literature argues that the landed elites conspired to undermine many of Europe's young democracies after the Great War This book shows instead that by the early 1920s most had either sold their land or seen it confiscated following the widespread land reforms of Eastern Europe leaving the family farm as the dominant unit of production The book advances several theories that place the family farmer at the heart of change and explores why some proved to be enthusiastic supporters of liberal democracy while others preferred political ideologies as diverse as social democracy in Scandinavia or fascism in Germany and Italy It explores the nuanced and evolving links between family farms and government interests showing how this relationship varied in different countries and contexts across Western and Central Europe The book discusses the impact of family farms on agricultural market trends the influence of collective action on government policies and the increasing politicization of farmers and rural populations more broadly The book also sheds light on how agrarian problems and their solutions differed in industrial agrarian and transforming societies in interwar Europe This book will be an illuminating read for scholars of economic history comparative history and European history interested in agriculture and rural communities

The Assassination of Jacques Lemaigre Dubreuil William A. Hoisington, Jr., 2004-11-10 This is a political biography of the French industrialist and political activist Jacques Lemaigre Dubreuil 1894-1955 president of the Taxpayers Federation in the 1930s entrepreneur in wartime France and Africa organizer of the Group of Five in Algiers which prepared for the Allied landings in North Africa November 1942 inventor of General Henri Giraud as a candidate for the leadership of liberated North and West Africa negotiator of the Murphy Giraud Agreements and the Anfa Memorandum with President Roosevelt 1942 and 1943 political writer on the postwar future of

France in Morocco and the owner of the liberal newspaper Maroc Presse He was assassinated in Casablanca by French counter terrorists in June 1955 a turning point event which pushed the French government to grant independence to Morocco Was he a rabble rouser a demagogue a betrayer of French interests at home and overseas or a reformer a patriot a hero of the anti German resistance and a champion of Franco Moroccan solidarity Ethnicity and Nationalism in Italian Politics Margarita Gómez-Reino Cachafeiro,2017-03-02 Employing primary sources and interviews with protagonists of the rebellion of the Italian North this book explores the invention of the Padanian nation and the construction of identity politics in Northern Italy It reveals for the first time the connection between the ethnic wave in European party politics in the 1970s and the rise of a new radical right nationalism in the 1990s The author highlights the way in which the discourse of national minorities was instrumental in the rise of a new political agenda that links territory identity and cultural rights to create new boundaries of exclusion In addition to clarifying the connection between the new nationalism and racism by demonstrating how cultural distinctiveness is constructed in contemporary European politics this unique book also explores the dynamics of new party mobilization and the symbolic resources of nationalist rhetoric This book presents for the first time data on political participation both party elites and members and the real dimension of the party organization Embedded Politics Gerald Andrew McDermott,2010-11-22 Embedded Politics offers a unique framework for analyzing the impact of past industrial networks on the way postcommunist societies build new institutions to govern the restructuring of their economies Drawing on a detailed analysis of communist Czechoslovakia and contemporary Czech industries and banks Gerald A McDermott argues that restructuring is best advanced through the creation of deliberative or participatory forms of governance that encourages public and private actors to share information and take risks Further he contends that institutional and organizational changes are intertwined and that experimental processes are shaped by how governments delegate power to local public and private actors and monitor them Using comparative case analysis of several manufacturing sectors Embedded Politics accounts for change and continuity in the formation of new economic governance institutions in the Czech Republic It analytically links the macropolitics of state policy with the micropolitics of industrial restructuring Thus the book advances an alternative approach for the comparative study of institutional change and industrial adjustment As a historical and contemporary analysis of Czech firms and public institutions this book will command the attention of students of postcommunist reforms privatization and political economic transitions in general But also given its interdisciplinary approach and detailed empirical analysis of policy making and firm behavior Embedded Politics is a must read for scholars of politics economics sociology political economy business organization and public policy Gerald A McDermott is Assistant Professor of Management in The Wharton School of Management at The University of Pennsylvania His research applies recent advances in comparative political economy and industrial organization including theories of social networks historical institutionalism and incomplete markets to analyze issues of economic governance firm creation and industrial restructuring in advanced and newly industrialized countries As evidenced by Embedded Politics his current focus is on problems of institutional and organizational learning in the formation of meso level governance institutions in emerging market and postsocialist economies McDermott also works as Senior Research Fellow at the IAE Escuela de Direccion y Negocios at Universidad Austral in Buenos Aires and he has served as Project Coordinator at the Inter American Development Bank He has consulted for the Finance Private Sector and Infrastructure Division at the World Bank and advised the Deputy Foreign Minister of the Czech Republic In addition he has published many papers and book chapters on entrepreneurship privatization institutions and networks in Central Europe and Latin America

Farmers on Welfare
Ann-Christina L. Knudsen, 2011-03-15 In 2007 the farm subsidies of the European Union's Common Agricultural Policy took over 40 percent of the entire EU budget How did a sector of diminishing social and economic importance manage to maintain such political prominence The conventional answer focuses on the negotiations among the member states of the European Community from 1958 onwards That story holds that the political priority given to the CAP as well as its long term stability resides in a basic deal's bargain between French agriculture and German industry In Farmers on Welfare a landmark new account of the making of the single largest European policy ever Ann Christina L Knudsen suggests that this accepted narrative is rather too neat In particular she argues it neglects how a broad agreement was made in the 1960s that related to national welfare state policies aiming to improve incomes for farmers Drawing on extensive archival research from a variety of political actors across the Community she illustrates how and why this supranational farm regime was created in the 1960s and also provides us with a detailed narrative history of how national and European administrations gradually learned about this kind of cooperation By tracing how the farm welfare objective was gradually implemented in other common policies Knudsen offers an alternative account of European integration history

The Politics of Representation in the Global Age
Peter A. Hall, Wade Jacoby, Jonah Levy, Sophie Meunier, 2014-04-07 This book argues that interests are actively forged through processes of politics It develops an analytic framework for understanding how representation takes place based on processes of identification mobilization and adjudication and explores how these processes have evolved over time The Politics of Expertise Stephen P. Turner, 2013-11-07 This book collects case studies and theoretical papers on expertise focusing on four major themes: legitimation, the aggregation of knowledge, the distribution of knowledge, and the distribution of power. It focuses on the institutional means by which the distribution of knowledge and the distribution of power are connected and how the problems of aggregating knowledge and legitimating it are solved by these structures. The radical novelty of this approach is that it places the traditional discussion of expertise in democracy into a much larger framework of knowledge and power relations and, in addition, begins to raise the questions of epistemology that a serious account of these problems requires.
