Constance Classen, 2017-11-02 Traditionally sight has been the only sense with a ticket to enter the museum The same is true of histories of art in which artworks are often presented as purely visual objects In The Museum of the Senses Constance Classen offers a new way of approaching the history of art through the senses revealing how people used to handle smell and even taste collection pieces Topics range from the tactile power of relics to the sensuous allure of cabinets of curiosities and from the feel of a Rembrandt to the scent of Monet s garden The book concludes with a discussion of how contemporary museums are stimulating the senses through interactive and multimedia displays Classen a leading authority on the cultural history of the senses has produced a fascinating study of sensual and emotional responses to artefacts from the middle ages to the present The Museum of the Senses is an important read for anyone interested in the history of art as well as for students and researchers in cultural studies and museum studies The Remarkable Lushington Family David

Taylor, 2020-07-15 Drawing on previously unpublished archival materials this study spans three generations of the Lushington family It investigates their personal histories through the themes of social artistic and cultural history The author analyzes the Lushington family s relationships with well known figures like Lady Byron Queen Caroline and members of the Bloomsbury Group Most importantly this study examines Lushington family members roles within larger trends including abolitionism the Pre Raphaelite movement and Positivism The Irish Vampire Sharon M. Gallagher, 2017-04-11 The origins of the vampire can be traced through oral traditions ancient texts and archaeological discoveries its nature varying from one culture to the next up until the 20th century Three 19th century Irish writers Charles Robert Maturin Joseph Sheridan Le Fanu and Bram Stoker used the obscure vampire of folklore in their fiction and developed a universally recognizable figure culminating in Stoker s Dracula and the vampire of today s popular culture Maturin Le Fanu and Stoker did not set out to transform the vampire of regional folk tales into a global phenomenon Their personal lives national concerns and extensive reading were reflected in their writing striking a chord with readers and recasting the vampire as distinctly Irish This study traces the genealogy of the modern literary vampire from European mythology through the Irish literature of the 1800s

Travel Writing in an Age of Global Quarantine Gary Fisher, David Robinson, 2021-09-07 Travel Writing in an Age of Global Quarantine is an anthology of travel accounts by a diverse range of writers and academics Challenging conventional academic authority each contributor writes from memory during the Covid 19 lockdown about a place they have previously visited accompanied by an historical traveller who published an account of the same place As immobility is forced upon us at least for the immediate future we have the chance to reflect Travel Writing in an Age of Global Quarantine presents opportunities to approach a text as a scholar differently We break with the traditional academic rules by inserting ourselves into the narrative and foregrounding the personal subjective elements of literary scholarship Each contributor critiques an historical description of a place about which simultaneously they write a personal account

Male Poets and the Agon of the Mother Hannah Baker Saltmarsh,2019-04-23 A thoughtful exploration of male poets contributions to the literature of motherhood In the late 1950s the notion of a mother poem emerged during a confessional literary movement that freed poets to use personal psychosexual material about intimate topics such as parents childhood failed marriages children infidelity and mental illness In Male Poets and the Agon of the Mother Hannah Baker Saltmarsh argues that male poets have contributed to what we think of as the literature of motherhood that confessional and postconfessional modes have been formative in the way male poets have grappled with the stories of their mothers and how those stories reflect on the writers and their artistic identities Through careful readings of formative elegies and homages written by male poets of this time Saltmarsh explores how they engaged with femininity and feminine voices in the 1950s and 60s and sheds light on the inheritance of confessional motifs of gender and language as demonstrated by postconfessional writers responding to the rich subject matter of motherhood within the contexts of history myth and literature A foreword is provided by Jo Gill professor of twentieth century and American literature in the Department of English and associate dean for education at the University of Exeter

What is Good? A.C. Grayling,2011-07-21 A C Grayling answers the most important question How do we live a good life One of the most fundamental questions in our life is to find out what we value what principles we want to live by and which codes we will use to guide our behaviour Most of us want to live a good life But what in today s secular society does good actually mean To classical Greeks the acquisition of knowledge the enjoyment of the senses creativity and beauty were all aspects of life to strive for Then came the volcanic declarations of St Paul and his fundamentalist ideas on sin and human nature In WHAT IS GOOD A C Grayling examines these and other proposals on how to live a good life from the heroic ideals of the Greek poets to Kant s theories on freedom and the UN Declaration on Human Rights
