The Peenemünde Raid Martin Middlebrook, 2006-02-16 The author of The First Day on the Somme recounts Operation Hydra the British bombing on a Nazi army research center during World War II On the night of August 17 18 1943 RAF Bomber Command attacked a remote research establishment on the German Baltic coast The site was Peenemunde where Hitler s scientists were developing both the V 1 flying bomb and the V 2 rocket whose destructive powers could have swung the course of the war The raid was meticulously planned and hopes were high But the night sky was so cloudless that the British bombers presented an easy target for German night fighters and over 40 were lost Martin Middlebrook draws on the memories of over 400 people involved in the dramatic events on that night RAF and Luftwaffe aircrew German personnel at the research site and foreign laborers who had been forced to work there The result is a truly compelling account of this hazardous attempt to disrupt Hitler s V weapons program

Peenemunde: The German Experimental Rocket Center-Introduction David Myhra PhD,2013-09-28 This is the story and details of Peenemunde the German military rocket development and test site during World War II. It was one of the most modern technological facilities in the world in the years between 1936 and 1945. The first launch of a missile into space took place here in October 1942. In the nearby air force testing area, rocket engineers tested numerous flight objects equipped with revolutionary technology. From the start, this research was directed toward one goal only: achieving military superiority through advanced technology. Slave laborers, concentration camp inmates, and prisoners of war provided the work that enabled the construction of the test sites and the later serial production of the rockets, which the Nazi propaganda referred to as Vergeltungswaffe 2 or Vengeance Weapon 2, in so short a period of time. Both the inhumane labor conditions and the attacks on Belgian, British, and French cities using the supposed wonder weapon claimed thousands of lives.

Kirkus Reviews: The Battle of Berlin was the longest and most sustained bombing offensive against one target in the Second World War. Bomber Command Commander in Chief Sir Arthur Harris hoped to wreck Berlin from end to end and produce a state of devastation in which German surrender was inevitable. He dispatched nineteen major raids between August 1943 and March 1944; more than ten thousand aircraft sorties dropped over thirty thousand tons of bombs on Berlin. It was the RAF's supreme effort to end the war by aerial bombing. But Berlin was not destroyed, and the RAF lost more than six hundred aircraft and their crews. The controversy over whether the Battle of Berlin was a success or failure has continued ever since. Martin Middlebrook brings to this subject considerable experience as a military historian. In preparing his material, he collected documents from both sides; many of the German ones never before used he has also interviewed and corresponded with over four hundred of the people involved in the battle and has made trips to Germany to interview the people of Berlin and Luftwaffe aircrews He has achieved the difficult task of bringing together both sides of the Battle of Berlin the bombing force and the people on the ground to tell a coherent single story His straightforward narrative covers the 19 major raids with a detailed description of three in particular and includes recollections by British and German airmen as well as German civilians who weathered the storm Publishers Weekly 12
