Histories of artists' personal possessions shed new light on the lives of their owners. Artists are makers of things. Yet it is a measure of the disembodied manner in which we generally think about artists that we rarely consider the everyday items they own. This innovative book looks at objects that once belonged to artists, revealing not only the fabric of the eighteenth-century art world in France but also unfamiliar and sometimes unexpected insights into the individuals who populated it, including Jean Antoine Watteau, François Boucher, Jean Baptiste Greuze, and Elisabeth Vigée LeBrun. From the curious to the mundane, from the useful to the symbolic, these items have one thing in common: they have all been eclipsed from historical view. Some of the objects still exist, like Jean Honor Fragonard's color box and Jacques Louis David's table. Others survive only in paintings, such as Jean-Siméon Chardin's cistern in his Copper Drinking Fountain, or in documents, like François Lemoyne's sword, the instrument of his suicide. Several were literally lost, including pastelist Jean Baptiste Perronneau's pencil case. In this fascinating book, the authors engage with fundamental historical debates about production, consumption, and sociability through the lens of material goods owned by artists. Almost Eternal: Painting on Stone and Material Innovation in Early Modern Europe, 2018-03-12. Almost Eternal: Painting on Stone and Material Innovation in Early Modern Europe gathers together an international group of ten scholars who offer a novel account of the phenomenon of oil painting on stone surfaces in Northern and Southern Europe. This technique was devised in Rome by Sebastiano del Piombo in the early sixteenth century and was practiced until the late seventeenth century. This phenomenon has attracted little attention previously; the volume therefore makes a significant and timely contribution to the field in the light of recent studies of materiality and the rise of technical Art History. Contributors: Nadia Baadj, Piers Baker, Bates, Elena Calvillo, Ana Gonsalez Mozo, Anna Kim, Helen Langdon, Johanna Beate Lohff, Judith Mann, Christopher Nygren, Suzanne Wegmann, and Giulia Martina Weston.

Art in Action, Nicholas Wolterstorff, 1980. Taking vigorous issue with the pervasive Western notion that the arts exist essentially for the purpose of aesthetic contemplation, Nicholas Wolterstorff proposes instead what he sees as an authentically Christian perspective that art has a legitimate even necessary place in everyday life. While granting that galleries, theaters, and concert halls serve a valid purpose, Wolterstorff argues that art should also be appreciated in action, in private homes, in hotel lobbies, in factories, and grocery stores on main street. His conviction that art should be multifunctional is basic to the author's views on art in the city; he regards most American cities as dehumanizing wastelands of aesthetic squalor dominated by the demands of the automobile, and leads him to a helpful discussion of its role in worship and the church Developing an aesthetic that is basically grounded yet always sensitive to the human need for beauty Wolterstorff make a brilliant contribution to understanding how art can serve to broaden and enrich our lives      Histories of Peirene

Betsey Ann Robinson, 2011 The Peirene Fountain as described by its first excavator Rufus B Richardson is the most famous fountain of Greece Here is a retrospective of a wellspring of Western civilization distinguished by its long history service to a great ancient city and early identification as the site where Pegasus landed and was tamed by the hero Bellerophon Spanning three millennia and touching a fourth Peirene developed from a nameless spring to a renowned source of inspiration from a busy landmark in Classical Corinth to a quiet churchyard and cemetery in the Byzantine era and finally from free flowing Ottoman fountains back to the streams of the source within a living ruin These histories of Peirene as a spring and as a fountain and of its watery imagery form a rich cultural narrative whose interrelations and meanings are best appreciated when studied together The author deftly describes the evolution of the Fountain of Peirene framed against the underlying landscape and its ancient medieval and modern settlement viewed from the perspective of Corinthian culture and spheres of interaction Published with the assistance of the Getty Foundation Winner of the 2011 Prose Award for Professional and Scholarly Excellence in the category of Archaeology Anthropology The Prose Awards are given annually by the Professional and Scholarly Publishing division of the American Association of Publishers
