Peking Opera And Politics In Taiwan:

Peking Opera and Politics in Taiwan Nancy Guy, 2005 Peking Opera and Politics in Taiwan tells the peculiar story of an art caught in a sea of ideological ebbs and flows Nancy Guy demonstrates the potential significance of the political environment for an art form's development ranging from determining the smallest performative details such as how a melody can or cannot be composed to whether a tradition ultimately thrives or withers away When Chiang Kai shek's Nationalist government and military retreated to Taiwan in 1949 they brought along numerous Peking opera performers Expecting that this symbolically important art would strengthen regime legitimacy and authority they generously supported Peking opera's perpetuation in exile Valuing mainland Chinese culture above Taiwanese culture the Nationalists generously supported Peking opera to the virtual exclusion of local performing traditions despite their wider popularity Later as Taiwan turned toward democracy the island's own indigenous products became more highly valued and Peking opera found itself on a tenuous footing Finally in 1995 all of its opera troupes and schools formerly supported by the Ministry of Defense were dismantled
