Trade Unions and Global Governance Gerda van Roozendaal, 2020-04-22 As the world economy is liberalized and national economies become more intertwined the national decision making of states is also increasingly interdependent and it has become vital for non governmental organizations to create an international agenda This title is an important study of what makes such organizations successful on an international level The focus is on trade unions as a key international group of NGOs It asks whether a global system can be designed to stimulate countries to observe a set of minimum or core standards It explores three important questions how have unions attempted to influence the debate on the inclusion of minimum labour standards in the WTO agreement what accounts for their success or lack of success and what conclusions with respect to the effective behaviour of trade unions in the construction of international policy can be drawn from these experiences In exploring these questions the text looks at social clause debates within a number of international bodies the ILO OECD and the EU and within two countries the USA and India

Free Trade In The World Economy Herbert Giersch, 2019-03-04 International trade policy is facing a cross roads This is creating uncertainty impairing world economic growth Unless a policy of more open markets is pursued protectionism may well turn into a self perpetuating and cumulative process This is why the 1986 Kiel Conference was devoted to Free Trade in the World Economy Towards an Opening of Markets We felt that such a conference would help to stimulate policy discussion preceding the Uruguay Round under the auspices of the GATT and the moves within the European Community towards completing a common internal market by 1992
