Luke, 2014-02-14

German artist Kurt Schwitters 1887-1948 is best known for his pioneering work in fusing collage and abstraction the two most transformative innovations of twentieth century art Considered the father of installation art Schwitters was also a theorist a Dadaist and a writer whose influence extends from Robert Rauschenberg and Eva Hesse to Thomas Hirschhorn But while his early experiments in collage and installation from the interwar period have garnered much critical acclaim his later work has generally been ignored In the first book to fill this gap Megan R. Luke tells the fascinating even moving story of the work produced by the aging isolated artist under the Nazi regime and during his years in exile Combining new biographical material with archival research Luke surveys Schwitters's experiments in shaping space and the development of his Merzbau describing his haphazard studios in Scandinavia and the United Kingdom and the smaller quieter pieces he created there She makes a case for the enormous relevance of Schwitters's aesthetic concerns to contemporary artists arguing that his later work provides a guide to new narratives about modernism in the visual arts These pieces she shows were born of artistic exchange and shaped by his rootless life after exile and they offer a new way of thinking about the history of art that privileges itinerancy over identity and the critical power of humorous inversion over unambiguous communication Packed with images Kurt Schwitters completes the narrative of an artist who remains a considerable force today

Troubling Images Federico Freschi, Brenda Schmähmann, Lize van Robbroeck, 2020-02-01

Troubling Images explores how art and visual culture helped to secure hegemonic claims to the nation state via the construction of a unified Afrikaner imaginary Emerging in the late nineteenth century and gaining currency in the 1930s and 1940s Afrikaner nationalist fervour underpinned the establishment of white Afrikaner political and cultural domination during South Africa's apartheid years Focusing on manifestations of Afrikaner nationalism in paintings sculptures monuments buildings cartoons photographs illustrations and exhibitions Troubling Images offers a critical account of the role of art and visual culture in the construction of a unified Afrikaner imaginary which helped secure hegemonic claims to the nation state This insightful volume examines the implications of metaphors and styles deployed in visual culture and considers how the design production collecting and commissioning of objects images and architecture were informed by Afrikaner nationalist imperatives and ideals While some chapters focus only on instances of adherence to Afrikaner nationalism others consider articulations of dissent and criticism By troubling these images looking at them teasing out their meanings and connecting them to a political and social project that still has a major impact on the present moment the authors engage with the ways in which an Afrikaner nationalist inheritance is understood and negotiated in contemporary South Africa They examine the management of its material effects in contemporary art in archives the commemorative landscape and the built environment Troubling Images adds to current debates about the histories and ideological underpinnings of nationalism and is particularly relevant in the current context of globalism and diaspora resurgent nationalisms and calls for decolonisation

Karlsruhe approaches modern sculpture from a spatial perspective interpreting it through contour, emptiness and levitation rather than the conventional categories of unbroken volume, mass and gravity. It examines works by dozens of twentieth and twenty-first century artists including Hans Arp, Marcel Duchamp, Henry Moore, Barbara Hepworth, Lygia Clark, Anish Kapoor, Olafur Eliasson, Ana Mendieta, Fujiko Nakaya, Tomás Saraceno and Alicja Kwade. The large-scale book contains over 800 color images. Negative Space comes out of an epic exhibition at ZKM and volume editor Peter Weibel, Chairman and CEO of ZKM, takes a curatorial approach to the topic. The last exhibition to deal comprehensively with the question 'What is modern sculpture?' was at the Centre Georges Pompidou in 1986. Weibel and ZKM pick up where the Pompidou left off, examining sculptures not as figurative, solid and self-contained monoliths but in terms of open and hollow spaces, reflection, light, shadow, innovative materials, data and the moving image. Weibel puts advances in science, architecture and mathematics in the context of avant-garde sensibilities to show how modern sculpture significantly deviates from the work of the past. Texts in the volume include an introduction and twelve chapters written by Weibel with contributions by cocurators as well as facsimiles and reproductions of artist-authored manifestos.

Where is Creativity? Jim Shorthose, Neil Maycroft, 2017-05-12

Where is Creativity? A Multi-disciplinary Approach goes beyond the orthodox image of creativity as lying inside the brain/mind to explore how and why it also emerges from relationships between people from physical spaces such as workplaces and cities as a result of new media technology and the Web and due to the effects of broad contexts of the economy and industry. It explores contemporary psychological, sociological, anthropological, economic and philosophical debates concerning creativity in an accessible way which non-specialist and creative practitioners can appreciate, culminating in a picture of the anatomy of creativity which seeks to provide a concrete guide to the doing of creativity to complement a deeper understanding of its nature and origins. The book will be useful for teaching staff and students, businesses and practitioners and professionals and policy makers working within a wide range of creative and innovation-based industries.
