Engerman,David Richardson,2021-08-12 Medieval slavery has received little attention relative to slavery in ancient Greece and Rome and in the early modern Atlantic world

This imbalance in the scholarship has led many to assume that slavery was of minor importance in the Middle Ages. In fact, the practice of slavery continued unabated across the globe throughout the medieval millennium. This volume, the final volume in The Cambridge World History of Slavery, covers the period between the fall of Rome and the rise of the transatlantic plantation complexes by assembling twenty-three original essays written by scholars acknowledged as leaders in their respective fields. The volume demonstrates the continual and central presence of slavery in societies worldwide between 500 CE and 1420 CE. The essays analyze key concepts in the history of slavery including gender, trade, empire, state formation, and diplomacy, labor, childhood, social status, and mobility, cultural attitudes, spectrums of dependency and coercion, and life histories of enslaved people.

Al-Hind, Volume 1: Early Medieval India and the Expansion of Islam, 7th-11th Centuries André Wink, 2011-10-25. In this volume, André Wink analyzes the beginning of the process of momentous and long-term change that came with the Islamization of the regions that the Arabs called al-Hind, India, and large parts of its Indianized hinterland. In the seventh to eleventh centuries, the expansion of Islam had a largely commercial impact on al-Hind. In the peripheral states of the Indian subcontinent, fluid resources, intensive raiding and trading activity, as well as social and political fluidity and openness produced a dynamic impetus that was absent in the densely settled agricultural heartland. Shifts of power occurred in combination with massive transfers of wealth across multiple centers along the periphery of al-Hind. These multiple centers mediated between the world of mobile wealth on the Islamic Sino-Tibetan frontier, which extended into Southeast Asia, and the world of sedentary agriculture epitomized by brahmanical temple Hinduism in and around Kanauj in the heartland. The growth and development of a world economy in and around the Indian Ocean, with India at its center and the Middle East and China as its two dynamic poles, was effected by continued economic, social, and cultural integration into ever wider and more complex patterns under the aegis of Islam. Please note that Early medieval India and the expansion of Islam, 7th-11th centuries was previously published by Brill in hardback, ISBN 90 04 09249 8, still available.
