Seascapes: Shaped by the Sea Mike Brown, Barbara Humberstone, 2016-04-01 Despite the fact that the sea covers 70 per cent of the Earth's surface and is integral to the workings of the world it has been largely neglected or perceived as marginal in modern consciousness This edited collection disrupts notions of the sea as other as foreign and featureless through specific situated accounts which highlight the centrality of the sea for the individuals concerned Bringing together academics who combine scholarly expertise with lived experiences on in and with the sea it examines humans relationships with the sea Through the use of auto ethnographic accounting the contributors reflect on how the sea has shaped their sense of identity belonging and connection They examine what it is to be engaged with the sea and narrate their lived sentient corporeal experiences The sea is a cultural seascape just as it is physical reality The sea shapes us and we in turn attempt to shape it as we construct various versions of it that reflect our on going and mutable relationship with it The use of embodied accounts as a way of conveying lived experiences and the integration of relevant theoretical frames for understanding the broader cultural implications provide new opportunities to understand seascapes

Waves of Knowing Karin Amimoto Ingersoll, 2016-10-13 In Waves of Knowing Karin Amimoto Ingersoll marks a critical turn away from land based geographies to center the ocean as place Developing the concept of seascape epistemology she articulates an indigenous Hawaiian way of knowing founded on a sensorial intellectual and embodied literacy of the ocean As the source from which K naka Maoli Native Hawaiians draw their essence and identity the sea is foundational to Kanaka epistemology and ontology Analyzing oral histories chants artwork poetry and her experience as a surfer Ingersoll shows how this connection to the sea has been crucial to resisting two centuries of colonialism militarism and tourism In today s neocolonial context where continued occupation and surf tourism marginalize indigenous Hawaiians seascape epistemology as expressed by traditional cultural practices such as surfing fishing and navigating provides the tools for generating an alternative indigenous politics and ethics In relocating Hawaiian identity back to the waves currents winds and clouds Ingersoll presents a theoretical alternative to land centric viewpoints that still dominate studies of place making and indigenous epistemology

Scylla Marianne Govers Hopman, 2013-01-03 What s in a name Using the example of a famous monster from Greek myth this book challenges the dominant view that a mythical symbol denotes a single clear cut figure and proposes instead to define the name Scylla as a combination of three concepts sea dog and woman whose articulation changes over time While archaic and classical Greek versions usually emphasize the metaphorical coherence of Scylla s components the name is increasingly treated as a well defined but also paradoxical construct from the late fourth century BCE onward Proceeding through detailed analyses of Greek and Roman texts and images Professor Hopman shows how the same name can variously express anxieties about the sea dogs aggressive women and shy maidens thus offering an empirical response to the semiotic puzzle raised by non referential proper names

Michelle Foa, 2015-07-14 Studie van het werk van de Franse schilder 1859 1891 Extreme Landscapes of Leisure Patrick Lavolette, 2016-04-15 In recent years there has been an increased engagement throughout the social sciences with the study of extreme places and practices Dangerous games and adventure tours have shifted from being marginal exotic or mad to being more than merely acceptable They are now exemplary mainstream even there are a variety of new types increasing numbers of people are doing them and they are being appropriated and have infiltrated more and more contexts This book argues that hazardous sports and adventure tourism have become rather paradoxical As a set of activities where players and holidaymakers are closer to death or danger than they would otherwise be they are the complete opposite of normal games or vacations Adventure sports and tours reverse the general definition of a holiday as being an escape from the seriousness of everyday life as in most cases they are innately serious requiring as they do life or death decision making Beginning with the rise in colonial explorations and moving on to consider the Dangerous Sports Club of Oxford this book examines the increasing phenomena of adventure sports such as bungy jumping cliff jumping or tomb stoning surfing and parkour within a framework of positive risk It explores how certain assumptions about knowledge agency the body and nature are beginning to coalesce around newly developing spheres of social relations Additionally extreme games have become activities that are germane to the dawning of green social thought and so the book also addresses issues that deal with the intimate connections that exist between pleasure and the moral responsibility towards the environment

Sea Fire Emma Shelford, 2022-02-11 My song is magic Too bad someone else controls it I escaped topside from my downtrodden past under the waves Out of the shark's mouth into the squid's grip as my people say Now I'm indebted to a seedy dealer who uses my siren song to squeeze his clients for secrets A new job at a vacation lodge for land loving sirens will pay enough to free me of my debts My sexy new boss is tempting but I don't like his secrets I have enough of my own to fill a mermaid's purse A fire threatens the lodge and my livelihood and it isn't an accident I need to find the culprit before my promised payout vanishes in a puff of smoke It's a tall order the visiting sirens can't recognize me while I'm investigating If they do they'll drag me screaming to the depths for my former crimes
