when I came by As I looked up into that tree top the sunlight was shining through and at first I thought I must be dreaming Instead of buds I saw what seemed like lighted candles each with a silken frill like the recurved petals of an iris below the tip of flame I had never seen a tree thus illuminated and the sight was enchanting The warm spring air had brought out the hickory buds with those of other trees and while I was looking for flowers on the ground the buds above had swollen cast off the winter covers revealing the silky inner wrappings of the young shoots The rich downward curving petals were only the inner scales of the great buds grown long and wide their vivid orange setting off the compact yellow buds that still stood erect I had never seen a hickory tree opening its iris like buds before but I have never missed it since From Chapter 1

Space(s) of the Fantastic David Punter, C. Bruna Mancini, 2020-12-29 This book provides a series of new addresses to the enduring problem of how to categorize the Fantastic The approach taken is through the lens of spatiality the Fantastic gives us new worlds although of course these are refractions of worlds already in being In place of real spaces whatever they might be the Fantastic gives us imaginary spaces although within those spaces historical and cultural conflicts are played out albeit in forms that stretch our understanding of everyday location and our usual interpretations of cause and effect Many authors are addressed here from a variety of different geographical and national traditions thus demonstrating how the Fantastic as a mode a genre a way of thinking imagining and writing continually traverses borders and boundaries We hope to move the ongoing debate about the Fantastic forward in a scholarly as well as an engaging way
