Esquith, 2011-02-28 In a world where every person is exposed daily through the mass media to images of violence and suffering as most dramatically exemplified in recent years by the ongoing tragedy in Darfur the question naturally arises What responsibilities do we as bystanders to such social injustice bear in holding accountable those who have created the conditions for this suffering And what is our own complicity in the continuance of such violence it involves settling accounts as well as recognizing our own complicity even as bystanders In the Process of Becoming Janet Schmalfeldt, 2017-02-03 With their insistence that form is a dialectical process in the music of Beethoven Theodor Adorno and Carl Dahlhaus emerge as the guardians of a long standing critical tradition in which Hegelian concepts have been brought to bear on the question of musical form Janet Schmalfeldt's groundbreaking account of the development of this Beethoven Hegelian tradition restores to the term form some of its philosophical associations in the early nineteenth century when profound cultural changes were yielding new relationships between composers and their listeners and when music itself in particular instrumental music became a topic for renewed philosophical investigation Precedents for Adorno's and Dahlhaus's concept of form as process arise in the Athenäum Fragments of Friedrich Schlegel and in the Encyclopaedia Logic of Hegel The metaphor common to all these sources is the notion of becoming it is the idea of form coming into being that this study explores in respect to music by Beethoven Schubert Mendelssohn Chopin and Schumann A critical assessment of Dahlhaus's preoccupation with the opening of Beethoven's Tempest Sonata serves as the author's starting point for the translation of philosophical ideas into music analytical terms ones that encourage listening both forward and backward as Adorno has recommended Thanks to the ever growing familiarity of late eighteenth century audiences with formal conventions composers could increasingly trust that performers and listeners would be responsive to striking formal transformations The author's analytic method strives to capture the dynamic quasi narrative nature of such transformations rather than only their end results This experiential approach to the perception of form invites listeners and especially performers to participate in the interpretation of processes by which for example a brooding introduction like opening must inevitably become the essential main theme in Schubert's Sonata Op 42 or in which tremendous formal expansions in movements by Mendelssohn offer a dazzling opportunity for multiple retrospective reinterpretations Above all In the Process of Becoming proposes new ways of hearing beloved works of the romantic generation as representative of their striving for novel intensely self reflective modes of communication

Contemporary Visual Arts ,2000 Identity and Power in Narratives of Displacement Katrina M. Powell, 2015-02-11 In this book Powell examines the ways that identities are constructed in displacement narratives based on cases of eminent domain natural disaster and civil unrest attending specifically to the rhetorical strategies employed as barriers and boundaries intersect with individual lives She provides a unique method to understand how the displaced move within accepted and subversive discourses and how representation is a crucial component of that movement In addition Powell shows how notions of human rights and the public good are often at odds with individual well being and result in intriguing intersections between discourses of power and discourses of identity Given the ever increasing numbers of displaced persons across the globe and the layers of displacement experienced by many this study sheds light on the resources of rhetoric as means of survival and resistance during the globally common experience of displacement
