Modernization In Naga Society:

Change and Development in Phom Naga Society A. Rahman, 2015-01-01 Change and Development in Phom Naga Society is a comprehensive book which describes the various socio political aspects of the Phom Naga Tribe of Nagaland. The book throws light on the topographical and demographic character of Longleng district, the home of the Phoms, along with their traditional beliefs, customs, and institutions, and also their stages of migration to the present domicile. The study highlights the emergence of the Phom identity and their relations with the neighbours. Elaborate discussions are made especially on the social change, economic transformation from traditional to a modern economy, administrative and political development of the people, with references to their role in the political process of the state since independence. Assessing the pace of development that has been witnessed in the Phom inhabited areas over the bygone decades, the author tries to trace the internal and external challenges which the society has been facing. The book will definitely be useful to researchers, planners, policy makers, and social workers.

Indigenous Ethnographies of North East India Somenath Bhattacharjee, Anup Kumar Dey, 2021-01-01. Northeast India is very rich in its multiethnic and multicultural diversity. Their indigenous culture is nourished in the lap of nature. However, with the changing dimension of time and influence of globalization, a number of social and cultural changes can be noticed among them. On the other hand, as their cultural practices, social norms, values, and customs are oral in tradition, these are remaining undocumented. In this context, to understand about the traditional culture, contemporary period demands an in-depth analytical research from the emic perspective to write the ethnography of indigenous communities. It is an academic effort to build the co-relation between central and marginal traditions to frame the holistic national integrity in multiethnic and multicultural India. Through this book, Indigenous Ethnographies of North East India: A Study From Emic Perspective, it has been tried to find out the similarities in between different cultural traditions as well as to find out the relevance of such traditions in the greater dimension of Indian civilization as a whole.

Sautman,2006-10-30 This volume engages the concept and related notions of cultural hegemony cultural erosion cultural hybridity and cultural survival by considering whether five regimes in Asia deploy policies aimed at extirpating the language religion arts customs or other elements of the cultures of non dominant peoples Development Vision of North-East India Jaynal Uddin Ahmed,2010 Contributed articles The Ending of Tribal Wars Jürg Helbling,Tobias Schwoerer,2021-03-24 All over the world and throughout millennia states have attempted to subjugate control and dominate non state populations and to end their wars This book compares such processes of pacification leading to the end of tribal warfare in seven societies from all over the world between the 19th and 21st centuries It shows that pacification cannot be understood solely as a unilateral imposition of state control but needs to be approached as the result of specific interactions between state actors and non state local groups Indigenous groups usually had options in deciding between accepting and resisting state control State actors often had to make concessions or form alliances with indigenous groups in order to pursue their goals Incentives given to local groups sometimes played a more important role in ending warfare than repression In this way indigenous groups in interaction with state actors strongly shaped the character of the process of pacification This volume s comparison finds that pacification is more successful and more durable where state actors mainly focus on selective incentives for local groups to renounce warfare offer protection and only as a last resort use moderate repression combined with the quick establishment of effective institutions for peaceful conflict settlement Depopulation, Aging, and Living Environments Kenji Tsutsumi,2020-11-23 This book provides perspectives on depopulated areas and regional social capital from positivistic field surveys Among the developed countries of the world Japan has a very small amount of national land with almost 70% of it being in mountainous locations Concentration of populations and economic capital into large metropolitan areas along with many depopulated and population aged regions in the mountainous parts can be seen in the country A very clear regional disparity has arisen in Japan especially since the era of its high economic growth This book also offers critical suggestions for the shrinking societies of the developed world in the era of Society 5 0 the fifth stage of society where economic development is achieved and social issues are resolved by the fusion of cyber and physical space To begin the book refers to an outline of depopulation and depopulated areas in Japan Then it deals with issues of depopulation out migration from a mountainous village revitalization of local industries and maintenance of daily living functions in these areas This book is suitable for students and scholars of the social sciences regional planners staffs of government offices members of NPOs general citizens and the many other people who are interested in sustainability of a region and a community in a shrinking social environment Socio-economic profile of Rural India (series II) S. N. Rajesh,2009-01-14 Locality History Memory

The Making of the Citizen in South Asia was born out of the need to interrogate the tropes through which place history and memory underpin notions of citizenship in present Southasia Time as both time present and time past is framed here in two settings as privileging both place material or ideological site and space The latter refers to religion oppression marginalization and or dalitisation Time transcends both site location and actual physical boundaries Locality or location is therefore envisioned in terms of both actual place as well as a gateway to a larger space in terms of a situation where historical memory negotiates the increasingly complex present Agency and contingency therefore assume a critical importance here Citizenship far from being a discrete entity is found to be multidimensional it refers to formal status and the legal status of nationality and citizenship authenticated in the passport but it also refers to rights and privileges identity and solidarity religious beliefs and a sense of belonging Moving away from the role of the state which has been at the centre of all inquiries on citizenship we ask here the following questions in Locality History Memory How does our history enforce or dilute the notion of the citizen How far does memory strengthen or weaken it What role does features not normally associated with citizenship such as access to natural resources or ritual faith and religion play in reinforcing such a status History in the end is written by the historian and it was easy to map the changing methodologies used by the historians to essay the past but this is becoming increasingly difficult now Another twist is the shift to hypertext at a popular level echoing what the late E H Carr had once called bringing more and more people into history These so called alternative histories or people s histories are becoming more and more popular because of the point at which we are located in time Moreover devices afforded by the new media enable these alternative histories to have an immediacy that the conventional historical format lacked The collapse of state control over the new media has led to the resurgence of many archaic voices unimaginable just a decade ago
