Security, Socialisation and Affect in Indian Families Ira Raja, 2016-05-23 Sociological research on Indian families has largely focused on questions of household form and structure to the exclusion of not only the more nebulous dimensions of family life and relationships but also the discursive and imagined aspects of our familial worlds such as may be accessed through an analysis of film literature and the electronic media Moreover when sociological inquiry has sought to go beyond the demographic and census aspects of the household it has trained its eye on the heterosexual family centred on the conjugal couple frequently at the expense of those relational patterns and diversities that fall outside the familiar circuits of desire within the family The present volume brings together ten essays from a range of disciplines including law literature available to their local and global peers Juxtaposing findings on the legal profession with those on elite consulting firms Swethaa Ballakrishnen reveals that parity arises not from a commitment to create feminist organizations but from structural factors that incidentally come together to do gender differently Simultaneously their research offers notes of caution while conditional convergence may create equality in ways that more targeted endeavors fail to achieve accidental developments are hard to replicate and are in this case buttressed by embedded inequalities Ballakrishnen examines whether gender parity produced without institutional sanction should still be considered feminist In offering new ways to think about equality movements and outcomes Accidental Feminism forces readers to critically consider the work of intention in progress narratives

Marek Muller, 2020-08-01 In 2011 in one sign of a burgeoning interest in the morality of human interactions with nonhuman animals a panel hosted by the American Association for the Advancement of Science declared that dolphins and orcas should be legally regarded as persons Multiple law schools now offer classes in animal law and have animal law clinics placing their students with a growing range of animal rights and animal welfare advocacy organizations But is legal personhood the best means to achieving total interspecies liberation To answer that question Impersonating Animals evaluates the rhetoric of animal rights activists Steven Wise and Gary Francione as well as the Earth jurisprudence paradigm Deploying a critical ecofeminist stance sensitive to the interweaving of ideas about race gender class sexuality ability and species author S Marek Muller places animal rights rhetoric in the context of discourses in which some humans have been deemed more animal than others and some animals have been deemed more human than others In bringing rhetoric and animal studies together she shows that how we communicate about nonhuman beings necessarily affects relationships across species boundaries and among people This book also highlights how animal studies scholars and activists can and should use ideological rhetorical criticism to investigate the implications of their tactics and strategies emphasizing a critical vegan rhetoric as the best means of achieving liberation for human and nonhuman animals alike The Government of Social Life in Colonial India Rachel Sturman, 2012-06-29 This book analyses religious law in colonial India exploring how it encouraged gender equality and a rethinking of the relationship between state and society
