Looking At Landscapes Through Artists Eyes:

Arts Programming for the Anthropocene Bill Gilbert, Anicca Cox, 2018-11-21 Arts Programming for the Anthropocene argues for a role for the arts as an engaged professional practice in contemporary culture charting the evolution of arts over the previous half century from a primarily solitary practice involved with its own internal dialogue to one actively seeking a larger discourse The chapters investigate the origin and evolution of five academic field programs on three continents mapping developments in field pedagogy in the arts over the past twenty years Drawing upon the collective experience of artists and academicians in the United States Australia and Greece operating in a wide range of social and environmental contexts it makes the case for the necessity of an update to ensure the real world relevance and applicability of tertiary arts education Based on thirty years of experimentation in arts pedagogy including the creation of the Land Arts of the American West LAAW program and Art and Ecology discipline at the University of New Mexico this book is written for arts practitioners aspiring artists art educators and those interested in how the arts can contribute to strengthening cultural resiliency in the face of rapid environmental change Sweden Through the Artist's Eye Carl Gustaf Laurin, 1911

Architecture On the banks of the Potomac River Mount Vernon stands with its iconic portico boasting breathtaking views and with a landscape to rival the great gardens of Europe as a monument to George Washington's artistic and creative efforts. More than one million people visit Mount Vernon each year drawn to the stature and beauty of Washington's family estate. Art historian Joseph Manca systematically examines Mount Vernon its stylistic moral and historical dimensions offering a complete picture of this national treasure and the man behind its enduring design. Manca brings to light a Washington deeply influenced by his wide travels in colonial America with a broader architectural knowledge than previously suspected and with a philosophy that informed his aesthetic sensibility. Washington believed that design choices and personal character mesh to form an ethic of virtue and fulfillment and that art is inextricably linked with moral and social concerns. Manca examines how these ideas shaped the material culture of Mount Vernon. Based on careful study of Washington's personal diaries and correspondence and on the lively accounts of visitors to his estate this richly illustrated book introduces a George Washington unfamiliar to many readers an avid art collector amateur architect and leading landscape designer of his time.
