Death and Funeral Practices in Aotearoa New Zealand Ruth McManus, Denise Blake, Jessica Thompson, 2025-04-03 This book provides a shortform definitive reference text on the landscape and features of Aotearoa New Zealand that underpin its familiar though country specific ways of caring for the dead. It provides an account of diverse funerary practices that have taken shape through the various cultures that have settled here. In the backdrop of the colonising history of Aotearoa New Zealand the book examines the complex legislative framework that separates M ori and non M ori funerary legislation and practices. Examining the mixed model of provision spanning municipal, commercial and private organisations the book outlines various aspects of funerals such as the care of the body, funeral arrangements, costs and what state support is available. It also delves into the two legal ways to manage the dead: burial or cremation, with cremation now the majority option. The book explores the numbers, ownership and locations of crematoria and cemeteries before identifying the new trends influencing death care including sustainability. It then looks at how death is memorialised in Aotearoa New Zealand including in cemeteries for war memorialisation and other public commemoration and memorialisation. This book will be of interest to the growing body of local authority planners, researchers and funeral professionals who must be responsive to and provide their services in complex multi cultural contexts. As the scope of the book is historical and contemporary death practices it will also appeal to social historians.

The Penguin History of New Zealand Michael King, 2023-10-10 This bestselling book by the late Michael King is the unchallenged contemporary reference on the history of New Zealand. First published in 2003 and hailed as a triumph of careful research, wide reading and judicious assessment, it has been continuously in print for 20 years and has sold over 300 000 copies. It remains the definitive yet highly readable starting point for anybody wanting to understand this country. New Zealand was the last country in the world to be discovered and settled by humankind. It was also the first to introduce full democracy. Between those events and in the century that followed the movements and conflicts of human history have been played out more intensively and more rapidly in New Zealand than anywhere else on Earth. The Penguin History of New Zealand tells that story in all its colour and drama. The narrative that emerges is an inclusive one about men and women, M ori and P keh. It shows that British motives in colonising New Zealand were essentially humane and that M ori far from being passive victims of a fatal impact, coped heroically with colonisation and survived by selectively accepting and adapting what Western technology and culture had to offer. Now more relevant than ever, this edition includes a Foreword by Sir Tipene O Regan and a biographical essay on the author by Jock Phillips.
