Jewish Thought, Utopia, and Revolution Elena Namli, Jayne Svenungsson, Alana M. Vincent, 2014-05-01 In response to the grim realities of the present world Jewish thought has not tended to retreat into eschatological fantasy but rather to project utopian visions precisely on to the present moment envisioning redemptions that are concrete immanent and necessarily political in nature In difficult times and through shifting historical contexts the messianic hope in the Jewish tradition has functioned as a political vision the dream of a peaceful kingdom of a country to return to or of a leader who will administer justice among the nations Against this background it is unsurprising that Jewish messianism in modern times has been transposed and lives on in secular political movements and ideologies The purpose of this book is to contribute to the deeper understanding of the relationship between Jewish thought utopia and revolution by taking a fresh look at its historical and religious roots We approach the issue from several perspectives with differences of opinion presented both in regard to what Jewish tradition is and how to regard utopia and revolution These notions are multifaceted comprising aspects such as political messianism religious renewal Zionism and different forms of Marxist and Anarchistic movements

Jesus in Twentieth Century Literature, Art, and Movies Paul C. Burns, 2007-07-15 Burns collection taken from a conference at a

2004 regional SBL meeting explores the ways in which these portraits of Jesus continue to fulfill the familiar observation that people tend to depict Jesus in their own image "Art and Visual Culture on the French Riviera, 1956-1971" Rosemary O'Neill, 2017-07-05 The Riviera in the 1950s and 1960s was culturally rich with modernist icons such as Matisse and Picasso in residence but also a burgeoning tourist culture that established the Côte d'Azur as a center of indigenous artists associated with Nouveau Réalisme Fluxus and Supports Surfaces emerged under the mantle of the Ecole de Nice Drawing on the primary sources and little known publications generated during the period from museum archives collections in the region and privately owned archives this study integrates material published in monographic studies of individuals and art movements to offer the first in depth study of this important movement in twentieth century art The author situates the work of the Ecole de Nice within the broader social currents that are so important in contextualizing this phenomenon within this internal region of France and underscores why this work was so significant at this historical moment within the context of the broader European art scene and contemporary American art with which it shared affinities Despite their stylistic differences and associations with groups that are generally considered distinct O'Neill discloses that these artists shared conceptual affinities theatrical modes of presentation based on appropriation use of the ready made and a determination to counter style driven painting associated with the postwar Ecole de Paris Art and Visual Culture on the Riviera 1956-1971 suggests that the emergence of an Ecole de Nice internally eroded the dominance of Paris as the national standard at this moment of French decentralization efforts and that these artists fostered a model of aesthetic pluralism that remained locally distinct yet fully engaged with international vanguard trends of the 1960s

Kitaj 1932-2007 This highly comparative study draws on theological philosophical and literary sources from Franz Rosenzweig to Franz Kafka and Philip Roth Rosen deepens our understanding not only of Chagall Guston and Kitaj but also of how art might serve as a key resource for rethinking such fundamental Jewish concepts as family tradition and homeland
