Sir Horace Rumbold

Recollections Of The Yukon:

Recollections of the Youkon François Xavier Mercier, 1986 Memoirs dealing with the Yukon District the area from the Yukon River Delta to the Klondike River which include information on the first women in the area miners in the district the first Catholic missionaries trading posts along the Yukon River and their inhabitants Senate chief of the Kutchin and explorers and visitors to the district He was responsible for establishing of Fort Reliance now Dawson City Translated from French Portrait of a Prospector Edward Schieffelin, 2017-11-09 Edward Ed Schieffelin 1847 1897 was the epitome of the American frontiersman A former Indian scout he discovered what would become known as the legendary Tombstone Arizona silver lode in 1877 His search for wealth followed a path well trod by thousands who journeyed west in the mid to late nineteenth century to try their luck in mining country But unlike typical prospectors who spent decades futilely panning for gold Schieffelin led an epic life of wealth and adventure In Portrait of a Prospector historian R Bruce Craig pieces together the colorful memoirs and oral histories of this singular individual to tell Schieffelin s story in his own words Craig places the prospector s family background and times into context in an engaging introduction then opens Schieffelin s story with the frontiersman s accounts of his first prospecting attempts at ten years old his flight from home at twelve to search for gold and his initial wanderings in California Nevada and Utah In direct unsentimental prose Schieffelin describes his expedition into Arizona Territory where army scouts assured him that he would find no rock but his own tombstone Unlike many prospectors who simply panned for gold Schieffelin took on wealthy partners who invested the enormous funds needed for hard rock mining He and his co investors in the Tombstone claim became millionaires Restless in his newfound life of wealth and leisure Schieffelin soon returned to exploration Upon his early death in Oregon he left behind a new strike the location of which remains a mystery Collecting the words of an exceptional figure who embodied the western frontier Craig offers readers insight into the mentality of prospector adventurers during an age of discovery and of limitless potential Portrait of a Prospector is highly recommended for undergraduate western history survey courses Gamblers and Dreamers Charlene Porsild, 2011-11-01 The popular image of the Klondike is of a rush of white male adventurers who overcame great physical and geographical obstacles in their quest for gold Young white single American men carried forward the ideals and structures of the western frontier It was a man s world made respectable only after the turn of the century with the arrival of white middle class women who miraculously swept out the corners of dirt and vice and civilized the society These impressions endure despite recent attempts to correct them Gamblers and Dreamers tackles some of the myths about the history of the North in the era of the gold rush Though many inhabitants came and went Charlene Porsild focuses on the concept of community commitment to show that many put down roots This in depth study of Dawson City at the turn of the century reveals that the city had a cosmopolitan character a stratified society and a definite permanence It examines the lives of First Nations peoples miners and other labourers professionals merchants dance hall performers and sex trade workers providing fascinating detail about those who left homes and jobs to strike it rich in the last great gold rush of the nineteenth century In the process Gamblers and Dreamers puts a human face on this compelling period of history

Northern Passage Robert Jarvenpa,1998-02-23 What is it like living among and learning about the cultural realities of other people for the first time Northern Passage uses the motif of apprenticeship to reveal the humbling childlike quest of the novice ethnographer on the one hand and the trials of an active participant learning the intricacies of bush life and livelihood from subarctic Indian hunting partners and teachers on the other hand In the process Jarvenpas reflexive narrative presents a compelling vision of northern Dene or Athapaskan society The Han people of the Yukon Territory and eastern Alaska and the Chipewyan of northern Saskatchewan emerge as vividly drawn actors in a cultural landscape distinctly influenced by gold miners fur traders missionaries conservation officers and other post colonial agents This candid but sensitive treatment deals with issues such as trapping economies knowledge of the environment dreaming and hunting power permission and informed consent language learning accusations of spying alcohol use economic development partnerships note taking and the pros and cons of active participation Jarvenpas early field experiences unfold as a primer on false leads setbacks and revealing discoveries building to a suspenseful aftershock Recollections of a Diplomatist Sir Horace Rumbold,1903

D'Enquête Archéologique Du Canada Archaeological Survey of Canada,1972 Recollections of Leroy N. McQuesten of Life in the Yukon, 1871-1885 ,1977 Alaska History Marvin W.
