Identity-Trajectories of Early Career Researchers Lynn McAlpine, Cheryl Amundsen, 2017-12-06

The book asks how we can make sense of career paths for PhD graduates something that has rarely been systematically studied It offers a coherent synthesis of the empirically based insights that arose from the experiences of 48 early career researchers who were participants in a 10 year qualitative longitudinal research program

The book has the power to inform other researchers conceptual and methodological approaches to the study of post PhD career trajectories

The authors draw on the conceptual lens of identity trajectory which emerged from their research program to examine the decision making processes underpinning the careers of PhD graduates whether contingent researchers and teachers assistant professors within the academy or professionals elsewhere

The book highlights the role of personal agency in negotiating academic and non academic work and careers within broader personal lives

It will be compelling reading for researchers and students working in the areas of Education and Sociology particularly those with an interest in examining career development and decision making
