represented Years later the memory of that woman's act came to the fore and Magda Hollander Lafon could be silent no longer In her words she wrote her book not to obey the duty of remembering but in loyalty to the memory of those women and men who disappeared before her eyes Her story is not a simple memoir or chronology of events Instead through a series of short chapters she invites us to reflect on what she has endured Often centered on one person or place the scenes of brutality and horror she describes are intermixed with reflections of a more meditative cast Four Scraps of Bread is both historical and deeply evocative melancholic and at times poetic in nature Following the text is a Historical Note with a chronology of the author's life that complements her kaleidoscopic style After liberation and a period in transit camps she arrived in Belgium where she remained Eventually she chose to be baptized a Christian and pursued a career as a child psychologist The author records a journey through extreme suffering and loss that led to radiant personal growth and a life of meaning As she states Today I do not feel like a victim of the Holocaust but a witness reconciled with myself Her ability to confront her experiences and free herself from her trauma allowed her to embrace a life of hope and peace Her account is finally an exhortation to us all to discover life giving joy

The Yellow Dahlias Mary Sandor, 2020-07-03 This collection of short stories is very diverse dealing with difficult times of human suffering during World War Two and the Hungarian Revolution but it also celebrates the exultation that goes with winning a life of freedom There are also stories of life in the Golden Horseshoe area of Ontario and the enjoyment from the multitude of lakes and beaches the area has to offer Mixed in with these historically accurate stories are others purely from the imagination filled with clever fantastical locations and humorous characters that will leave the reader in thought but most likely laughter as well
