... Sir Charles Gavan Duffy, 1898      My Life in Two Hemispheres Sir Charles Gavan Duffy, 1898      My life in two hemispheres Charles Gavan Duffy, 1898      The Victorian Premiers, 1856-2006 Paul Strangio, Brian J. Costar, 2006 In the century and a half since Victoria was granted responsible government in 1856 44 premiers have presided over the state and colony from Honest William Haines to Steve Bracks Here is their story For the first time this book brings together a comprehensive collection of biographical and political portraits of the Victorian premiers written by leading Australian historians and political scientists The result is a compelling journey through a turbulent occasionally anarchic political landscape A cast of fascinating characters is brought to life the mercurial Graham Berry who in the 1870s threatened broken heads and flaming houses in his heroic struggle to tame the colony's intractably conservative upper house the roguish Tommy Bent the turn of the century can do premier whose development enthusiasms were unhindered by probities of office the bohemian Tom Hollway who conducted Victoria's affairs from his suite in the Windsor Hotel the accidental leader Henry Bolte who became Victoria's longest serving premier and the larrikin metropolitan Jeff Kennett who turned the state into a neo liberal laboratory in the 1990s A tale of premiers the book is also a narrative of politics in a state that has vied with New South Wales as Australia's most prosperous and powerful It recounts many extraordinary episodes the precocious development of democracy in a fledgling colony turned upside down by gold immigrants the titanic bicameral struggles of the 1860s and 1870s that brought Victoria to the brink of insurrection the bank crashes of the 1890s the police strike of 1923 the great Labor split of the 1950s the hanging of Ronald Ryan in 1967 the social democratic adventurism of the Labor decade of the 1980s brought to a shuddering halt by another era of financial collapses and the neo liberal experimentalism of the Kennett government This carefully researched and engagingly written book will leave the reader in no doubt that politics in the Garden State has seldom been sedate and its premiers rarely predictable      The Life of Thomas D'Arcy McGee
Volume I Irish Poet Irish Rebel 1825-1850 Charles MacNab Q. C., 2021-10-27 This is an extensive fresh account of the early life of Thomas D Arcy McGee Astonishing new details are provided of his escape across Ireland in 1848 including his stay on Lough Derg in the course of being rescued by Clogher and Derry priests in a carefully managed operation Indications are that his secret mission to the north at the start of the Irish Rebellion had astonishing possibilities but it was so sensitive he could never discuss it later The delightful discovery of his christening gown leads to further examination of his birth and early childhood at Carlingford There is an extensive account of his career as a journalist in America and his early involvement with Young Ireland's cultural and political mission which becomes his own Thomas Davis was an early acquaintance Gavan Duffy was a close friend John Mitchel was an early mentor While McGee led the moderates in the Confederation he was also preparing for war as he organized the Clubs to satisfy the militants just before the revolt There was no truer Irishman The official Government side of the story including Peel's extensive relief efforts made during the Great Irish Famine and Lord Clarendon's continuing vigilance is thoroughly researched and written so as to provide a balanced perspective to the general dissent and the determined and sustained efforts towards Irish independence including McGee's own glorious initiatives

Yeats, Revival, and the Temporalities of Irish Modernism Gregory Castle, 2024-04-18 Yeats Revival and the Temporalities of Irish Modernism offers a new understanding of a writer whose revivalist commitments are often regarded in terms of nostalgic yearning and dreamy romanticism. It counters such conventions by arguing that Yeats's revivalism is an inextricable part of his modernism. Gregory Castle provides a new reading of Yeats that is informed by the latest research on the Irish Revival and guided by the phenomenological idea of worldmaking: a way of looking at literature as an aesthetic space with its own temporal and spatial norms, its own atmosphere generated by language, narrative and literary form. The dialectical relation between the various worlds created in the work of art generate new ways of accounting for time beyond the limits of historical thinking. It is just this worldmaking power that links Yeats's revivalism to his modernism and constructs new grounds for recognizing his life and work. The Great Community David Dwan, 2008 Communities of Science in

Nineteenth-Century Ireland Juliana Adelman, 2016-09-12 The nineteenth century was an important period for both the proliferation of popular science and for the demarcation of a group of professionals that we now term scientists. Of course for Ireland, largely in contrast to the rest of Britain, the prominence of Catholicism posed various philosophical questions regarding research. Adelman's study examines the practical educational impact of the growth of science in these communities and the impact of this on the country's economy, the role of museums and exhibitions in spreading scientific knowledge and the role that science had to play in Ireland's turbulent political context. Adelman challenges historians to reassess the relationship between science and society, showing that the unique situation in Victorian Ireland can nonetheless have important implications for wider European interpretations of the development of this relationship during a period of significant change. Irish Culture and Nationalism, 1750-1950 Pauric Travers, 1983-07-21 The Churchman, 1898

By reading this book you will realise the significance of continuous learning. And that's how philosophy tries to discover the nature of truth and knowledge to find what is of basic value and importance in life. This is about the relationships between humanity and nature and between the individual and the society
