My Mirror of Me James Borgmann, 2001-01-20 I am human and so I am filled with emotion not unlike anyone else I don't know if it's a blessing or a curse or perhaps a bit of both I can be happy and sad feel love and loss know joy and sorrow This poetry is a picture of those feelings echoed from my heart and mind It's the journey I've taken to discover my soul Each word is the reflection of the feelings pouring from within me in its purest most honest form And now I share these words to offer support comfort and peace These poems are my story but they represent us all They are the mirrors that show us to ourselves

A Community of One Martin A. Danahay, 1993-08-24 Complementing recent feminist studies of female self representation this book examines the dynamics of masculine self representation in nineteenth century British literature Arguing that the category autobiography was a product of nineteenth century individualism the author analyzes the dependence of the nineteenth century masculine subject on autonomy or self naming as the prerequisite for the composition of a life history The masculine autobiographer achieves this autonomy by using a feminized other as a metaphorical mirror for the self The feminized other in these texts represents the social cost of masculine autobiography Authors from Wordsworth to Arnold including Samuel Taylor Coleridge Thomas De Quincey John Ruskin Alfred Tennyson Robert Louis Stevenson John Stuart Mill and Edmund Gosse use female lovers and family members as symbols for the community with which they feel they have lost contact In the theoretical introduction the author argues that these texts actually privilege the autonomous self over the images of community they ostensibly value creating in the process a self enclosed and self referential community of one

Dancing with the Unconscious Danielle Knafo, 2012-04-23 In writing and lecturing over the past two decades on the relationship between psychoanalysis and art Danielle Knafo has demonstrated the many ways in which these two disciplines inform and illuminate each other This book continues that discussion emphasizing how the creative process in psychoanalysis and art utilizes the unconscious in a quest for transformation and healing Part one of the book presents case studies to show how free association transference dream work regression altered states of consciousness trauma and solitude function as creative tools for analyst patient and artist Knafo uses the metaphor of dance to describe therapeutic action the back and forth movement between therapist and patient past and present containment and release and conscious and unconscious thought The analytic couple is both artist and medium and the dance they do together is a dynamic representation of the boundless creativity of the unconscious mind Part two of the book offers in depth studies of several artists to illustrate how they employ various media for self expression and self creation Knafo shows how artists though mostly creating in solitude are frequently engaged in significant relational processes that attempt rapprochement with internalized objects and repair of psychic injury. Dancing with the Unconscious expands the theoretical dimension of psychoanalysis while offering the clinician ways to realize greater creativity in work with patients. Getting the Picture

Margaret Helen Persin, 1997. This book takes a probing look at how Spanish poets of the twentieth century read objects of visual art, write poems that utilize the discursive strategy known as ekphrasis, and how in turn they are read by those texts. As a result of their reading practices, the artistic works read by the poets are inscribed in the poets' own texts and in a variety of ways. This analysis sheds light on the poets' own distinctive stance toward many primary issues such as textuality, representation, language, power, ideology, literature, and art. ARTHUR CONAN DOYLE Ultimate Collection: 21 Novels, 188 Short Stories, 88 Poems & 7 Plays, Including Works on Spirituality, Historical Writings & Personal Memoirs (Illustrated)
