Historical Dictionary of the Inuit Pamela R. Hadley, 2017-08-05 an excellent anthology a lovely project. Silver Donald Cameron: Given that Canada has the longest coastline in the world and its motto is From Sea unto Sea, it is not surprising that virtually every Canadian writer has been inspired to write about some aspect of the sea at some point in their work. As this book shows, those watery passages are some of the very best writing the nation has produced. Journeying coast to coast to coast from the picturesque and isolated Vancouver Island village of Ucluelet through the desolate Northwest Passage to historic Signal Hill at the tip of Newfoundland's Avalon Peninsula. Spindrift: A Canadian Book of the Sea invites the reader on an evocative voyage. Reflecting on a myriad of sea-related themes including the earliest Indigenous presence, the first nautical exploration of Canada, the arrival of immigrants on the nation's shores, the realities of making a living on the water, tragic marine events, warfare and celebrated vessels and people, Spindrift paints a compelling portrait of Canada. Editors Michael and Anita Hadley have distilled the essence from a vast collection of maritime reflection by some of Canada's greatest fiction and non-fiction writers including Milton Acorn, Pierre Berton, Earle Birney, M. Wylie Blanchet, Emily Carr, Donald Creighton, Michael Crummey, Barry Gough, Lawrence Hill, Edith Iglauer, Joy Kogawa, Malcolm Lowry, Linden MacIntyre, Yann Martel, L. M. Montgomery, Donna Morrissey, Farley Mowat, Alice Munro, Peter C. Newman, E. J. Pratt, Al Purdy, Nino Ricci, Stan Rogers, Jane Urquhart and Rudy Wiebe, to name but a few. Whether yachtsman, professional seafarer or simply an admirer of ocean vistas, the reader will be moved and delighted by this treasury of Canadian voices. Please note that due to licensing concerns, selections in the ebook differ slightly from the print book. Northern Experience and the Myths of Canadian Culture Renée Hulan, 2002. In Northern Experience and the Myths of Canadian Culture, Renée Hulan disputes the notion that the north is a source of distinct collective identity for Canadians. Through a synthesis of critical historical and theoretical approaches to northern subjects in literary studies, she challenges the epistemology used to support this idea. By investigating mutually dependent categories of identity in literature that depicts northern peoples and places, Hulan provides a descriptive account of representative genres in which the north figures as a central theme, including autobiography, adventure narrative, ethnography, fiction, poetry and travel writing. She considers each of these diverse genres in terms of the way it explains the cultural identity of a nation formed from the settlement of immigrant peoples on the lands of dispossessed Indigenous peoples. Reading against the background of contemporary ethnographic literary and cultural theory, Hulan maintains that the collective Canadian identity idealized in many works representing the north does not occur naturally but is artificially constructed in terms of characteristics inflected by historically contingent ideas of gender and race, such as self-sufficiency.

independence and endurance and that these characteristics are evoked to justify the nationhood of the Canadian state

Rethinking settler colonialism Annie Coombes, 2017-03-01 Rethinking settler colonialism focuses on the long history of contact between indigenous peoples and the white colonial communities who settled in Australia Aotearoa New Zealand Canada and South Africa It interrogates how histories of colonial settlement have been mythologised narrated and embodied in public culture in the twentieth century through monuments exhibitions and images and charts some of the vociferous challenges to such histories that have emerged over recent years Despite a shared familiarity with cultural and political institutions practices and policies amongst the white settler communities the distinctiveness which marked these constituencies as variously Australian South African Canadian or New Zealander was fundamentally contingent upon their relationship to and with the various indigenous communities they encountered In each of these countries these communities were displaced marginalised and sometimes subjected to attempted genocide through the colonial process Recently these groups have renewed their claims for greater political representation and autonomy The essays and artwork in this book insist that an understanding of the political and cultural institutions and practices which shaped settler colonial societies in the past can provide important insights into how this legacy of unequal rights can be contested in the present It will be of interest to those studying the effects of colonial powers on indigenous populations and the legacies of imperial rule in postcolonial societies

Crossovers Christiane Lütge, Mark Stein, 2017 Crossing boundaries is a key issue in English as a Foreign Language EFL teaching and Postcolonial Studies It is an objective not only for the foreign language classroom that is facing increasingly global influences in terms of more heterogeneous societies but also with a view to the growing heterogeneity in the literature media and materials used in teaching and research Because the intersections between Postcolonial Studies and EFL are not only manifold but also highly significant this volume brings together papers that explore perform and theorize various kinds of crossovers be they disciplinary thematic or intermedial Series Foreign Language Education in a Global Perspective remdsprachendidaktik in globaler Perspektive Vol 6 Subject Education Post Colonial Studies English as a Second Language ESL Final Report of the Truth and Reconciliation Commission of Canada, Volume One: Summary The Truth and Reconciliation Commission of Canada, 2015-07-27 This is the Final Report of Canada's Truth and Reconciliation Commission and its six year investigation of the residential school system for Aboriginal youth and the legacy of these schools This report the summary volume includes the history of residential schools the legacy of that school system and the full text of the Commission's 94 recommendations for action to address that legacy This report lays bare a part of Canada's history that until recently was little known to most non-Aboriginal Canadians The Commission discusses the logic of the colonization of Canada's territories and why and how policy and practice developed to end the existence of distinct societies of Aboriginal peoples Using brief excerpts from the powerful testimony heard from Survivors this report documents the residential school system which forced children into institutions where they were forbidden to speak their language required to discard their clothing in favour of institutional wear given inadequate food housed in inferior and fire prone buildings required to work when they should have been studying and subjected to emotional psychological and often physical abuse In this setting cruel punishments were all too common as was sexual abuse More than 30 000 Survivors have been compensated financially by the Government of Canada for their experiences in residential schools but the legacy of this experience is ongoing today This report explains the links to high rates of Aboriginal children being taken from their families abuse of drugs and alcohol and high rates of suicide The report documents the drastic decline in the presence of Aboriginal languages even as Survivors and others work to maintain their distinctive cultures traditions and governance The report offers 94 calls to action on the part of governments churches public institutions and non Aboriginal Canadians as a path to meaningful reconciliation of Canada today with Aboriginal citizens Even though the historical experience of residential schools constituted an act of cultural genocide by Canadian government authorities the United Nations declaration of the rights of aboriginal peoples and the specific recommendations of the Commission offer a path to move from apology for these events to true reconciliation that can be embraced by all Canadians
