Lieberman, 1989 In the late 1940s a left wing organization called People's Songs used their music as a battle cry for civil rights civil liberties and world peace They were inspired by Woody Guthrie led by Pete Seeger and sponsored by Aaron Copland Leonard Bernstein Oscar Hammerstein II and Paul Robeson among others Many members of the group were involved in musical and political activities that spanned twenty years and encompassed sweeping changes in the American political arena Jacket Singing the Songs of My Ancestors Linda Goodman, 2003 Ever since she was a small child Helma Swan the daughter of a Northwest Coast chief loved and learned the music of her people As an adult she began to sing even though traditionally Makah singers had been men How did such a situation develop In her own words Helma Swan tells the unusual story of her life her music and how she became a singer An excellent storyteller she speaks of both musical and non musical activities and events In addition to discussing song ownership and other Makah musical concepts she describes songs dances and potlatch ceremonies proper care of masks and costumes and changing views of Native music education More generally she speaks of cultural changes that have had profound effects on contemporary Makah life Drawing on more than twenty years of research and oral history interviews Linda J Goodman in Singing the Songs of My Ancestors presents a somewhat different point of view than that of the anthropologist ethnomusicologist interested in Makah culture and history as well as the changing musical and ceremonial roles of Makah men and women. Her information provides a context for Helma Swan's stories and songs. Taken together, the two perspectives allow the reader to embark on a vivid and absorbing journey through Makah life, music, and ceremony spanning most of the twentieth century. Studies of American Indian women musicians are rare; this is the first to focus on a Northwest Coast woman who is an outstanding singer and storyteller as well as a conservator of her tribe's cultural traditions.

Folk Songs of the Southern Appalachians as Sung by Jean Ritchie Jean Ritchie, 1997-03-06 This new edition has faithfully retained all seventy-seven line scores of the songs and added four new ones: Loving Hannah, Lovin' Henry, Her Mantle So Green, and The Reckless and Rambling Boy. The original headnotes and photographs tell the history of the song as well as how it became a part of the family's life. Chords are indicated for accompaniment; however, music notation and the printed word can present only a reasonable facsimile of any actual song.

My Song is My Testimony Bennie Lucille Williams, Jacquelyn Benton, 2024-09-12 I see that as such a powerful testimony since you're not just singing a song but also telling a story and it's your own story. Bennie Lucille Williams was born in Marshall, Texas, a city split not into two she would argue but into three. First of course there was racial segregation, but growing up with dark skin, Bennie saw a second split within her own black community, a split between those who were lighter skinned and those who looked like Bennie. There, sitting at the feet of former slaves, Bennie learned the songs that would carry her through her life. "Dem songs is what the woman she knew as Aunt Clay called spirituals; they sang to her, and those songs would first carry her into music and then into teaching." Bennie recalls working with black, white, and later desegregated church choirs, teaching school choirs with forced busing mandates, and directing public performances. Woven into those stories are the loves and heartbreaks of a vivid and compassionate woman's life: bittersweet at times but never half-hearted. Bennie's love for her music and for her students touched lives from Marshall to Dallas to Denver. Later, when she lay at home with a "Do Not Resuscitate" sign on her front door, she received calls from former students whose lives she had touched decades before returning to her the love she had always given them.
