My Hand Will Write what My Heart Dictates Frances Porter, Charlotte Macdonald, Tui MacDonald, 1996 The women of this book are mainly Pakeha They are domestic servants governors wives and farmers married single widowed or deserted They write about love friendship children destitution illness and grief Maori women write about land loss and love about families and domestic events in both Maori and English Tom's Letters Margot Fry, 2001 The correspondence of Thomas King from his arrival in New Plymouth in 1841 following his progress in business politics and his family life It allows us to see the pleasures and pressures of colonial life and gives an insight into Victorian marriage Needlework and Women's Identity in Colonial Australia Lorinda Cramer, 2019-09-05 In gold rush Australia social identity was in flux gold promised access to fashionable new clothes a grand home and the goods to furnish it but could not buy gentility Needlework and Women's Identity in Colonial Australia explores how the wives mothers sisters and daughters who migrated to the newly formed colony of Victoria used their needle skills as a powerful claim to social standing Focusing on one of women's most common daily tasks the book examines how needlework's practice and products were vital in the contest for social position in the turmoil of the first two decades of the Victorian rush from 1851 Placing women firmly at the center of colonial history it explores how the needle became a tool for stitching together identity From decorative needlework to household making and mending women's sewing was a vehicle for establishing asserting and maintaining social status Interdisciplinary in scope Needlework and Women's Identity in Colonial Australia draws on material culture written primary sources and pictorial evidence to create a rich portrait of the objects and manners that defined genteel goldfields living Giving voice to women's experiences and positioning them as key players in the fabric of gold rush society this volume offers a fresh critical perspective on gender and textile history Victorian Settler Narratives Tamara S Wagner, 2015-10-06 This edited collection from a distinguished group of contributors explores a range of topics including literature as imperialist propaganda the representation of the colonies in British literature the emergence of literary culture in the colonies and the creation of new gender roles such as girl Crusoes in works of fiction The Loving Stitch Heather Nicholson, 2013-11-01 The Loving Stitch is an engaging history of a subject never before explored but familiar to many New Zealanders Heather Nicholson's knowledge of knitting and spinning is formidable but she also knows how to tell a good story and has a keen sense of humor The Loving Stitch presents a chronological account of antipodean knitting which is also a history of the domestic lives of women of their resourcefulness their talent and sociability She follows the growth of pattern books the role of knitting for troops in the two world wars knitting in the Depression and the recent interest in art knitting She also explores the different items produced by the skilled knitter from jerseys and guernseys to counterpanes socks and stockings and a scarf that stretched right round Parliament Buildings The book also includes material on spinning and on local wool mills as well as general good advice drawn from the personal experience of hundreds of knitters and spinners The Loving Stitch is impeccably researched it is full of characters memories and advice and it is superbly illustrated The History of New Zealand Tom Brooking,2004-06-30 With its closest neighbor some 1 200 miles away New Zealand is one of the most geographically isolated countries in the world Its remoteness led to its relatively late settlement Brooking traces New Zealand from its earliest Maori settlers to issues in 2003 covering intertribal relations the effects of European contact the challenges of globalization and more The volume includes a timeline of historical events biographical entries of notable people in the history of New Zealand a glossary of Maori terms and a bibliographic essay With its closest neighbor some 1 200 miles away New Zealand is one of the most geographically isolated countries in the world Its remoteness led to its relatively late settlement Brooking traces New Zealand from its earliest Maori settlers to issues in 2003 covering intertribal relations the effects of European contact the challenges of globalization and more The volume includes a timeline of historical events biographical entries of notable people in the history of New Zealand a glossary of Maori terms and a bibliographic essay This concise engagingly written volume is ideal for students and general interest readers seeking information on New Zealand s history He Reo Wahine Lachy Paterson,Angela Wanhalla,2017-08-21 During the nineteenth century Maori women produced letters and memoirs wrote off to newspapers and commissioners appeared before commissions of enquiry gave evidence in court cases and went to the Native Land Court to assert their rights He Reo Wahine is a bold new introduction to the experience of Maori women in colonial New Zealand through Maori women s own words the speeches and evidence letters and testimonies that they left in the archive Drawing from over 500 texts in both English and te reo Maori written by Maori women themselves or expressing their words in the first person He Reo Wahine explores the range and diversity of Maori women s concerns and interests the many ways in which they engaged with colonial institutions as well as their understanding and use of the law legal documents and the court system The book both collects those sources providing readers with substantial excerpts from letters petitions submissions and other documents and interprets them Eight chapters group texts across key themes land sales war land confiscation and compensation politics petitions legal encounters religion and other private matters Beside a large scholarship on New Zealand women s history the historical literature on Maori women is remarkably thin This book changes that by utilising the colonial archives to explore the feelings thoughts and experiences of Maori women and their relationships to the wider world Irish Migration, Networks and Ethnic Identities Since 1750 Dr Enda Delaney,Donald M. MacRaild,2007-08-29 This book demonstrates in vivid detail how a range of formal and informal networks shaped the Irish experience of emigration settlement and the construction of ethnic identity It contributes to wider debates in the history of global migration with conclusions of relevance far beyond the history of Irish migration and settlement Old Black Cloud Jacqueline Leckie,2024-06-13 Mental depression is a serious issue in contemporary New Zealand and it has an increasingly high profile But during our history depression has often been hidden under a long black cloud of denial that we have not always lived up to the Kiwi ideal of being pragmatic and have not always coped Using historic patient records as a starting place and informed by her own experience of depression academic Jacqueline Leckie's timely social history of depression in Aotearoa analyses its medical cultural and social contexts through an historical lens From detailing its links to melancholia and explaining its expression within Indigenous and migrant communities this engrossing book interrogates how depression was medicalised and has been treated and how New Zealanders have lived with it Parrot Pie for Breakfast Jane Robinson, 1999 There is nothing quite like parrot pie for breakfast First one must catch one's parrot of course and build the hearth to bake it but that is all in a day's work for the woman pioneer This riveting anthology tells the story of over 100 such women spanning four centuries from the lowliest kitchen skivvy to ambassadors wives emigrants who settled the wildernesses of the world in search of new and better lives Many were lured abroad by the promise of work or fortune some went because imperial duty called while for others it was a most unfeminine lust for adventure that drew them away But all faced challenges in their homes from home that were to test to the limit their spirits their resourcefulness even their survival Girl of New Zealand Michelle Erai, 2020-04-07 Girl of New Zealand presents a nuanced insight into the way violence and colonial attitudes shaped the representation of M ori women and girls Michelle Erai examines more than thirty images of M ori women alongside the records of early missionaries and settlers in Aotearoa as well as comments by archivists and librarians to shed light on how race gender and sexuality have been ascribed to particular bodies Viewed through M ori feminist queer and film theories Erai shows how images such as Girl of New Zealand 1793 and later images cartoons and travel advertising created and deployed a colonial optic Girl of New Zealand reveals how the phantasm of the M ori woman has shown up in historical images how such images shape our imagination and how impossible it has become to maintain the delusion of the innocent eye Erai argues that the process of ascribing race gender sexuality and class to imagined bodies can itself be a kind of violence In the wake of the Me Too movement and other feminist projects Erai's timely analysis speaks to the historical foundations of negative attitudes toward Indigenous M ori women in the eyes of colonial others outsiders from elsewhere who reflected their own desires and fears in their representations of the Indigenous inhabitants of Aotearoa New Zealand Erai resurrects M ori women from objectification and locates them firmly within M ori wh nau and communities A Controversial Churchman Allan K. Davidson, 2021-05-03 New Zealand's first Anglican bishop George Selwyn was a towering figure in the young colony Denounced as a turbulent priest for speaking out against Crown practices that dispossessed M ori he brought a vigorous approach to Episcopal leadership His wife Sarah Selwyn supported all her husband's activities in a life characterised as one of hardship and anxiety She expressed independently her sense of outrage over the Waitara dispute Selwyn promoted participatory church government founded the innovative Melanesian Mission and developed a distinctive style of colonial church architecture More controversially he battled with the Church Missionary Society and was caught up in the bitter maelstrom of settler and M ori politics His personal links with colonial and ecclesiastical networks gave him access to the heart of empire These essays offer new insights into Selwyn's role in developing pan Anglicanism strengthening links between the Church of England and the Episcopal and Anglican Churches in North America and his time as Bishop of Lichfield 1868-78 His place in Treaty history as a political commentator and a valuable source of historical information is recognised George Selwyn left a large imprint on New Zealand church and society This collection both honours and critiques a controversial bishop Contributors include Ken Booth Judith Bright Terry M Brown Janet E Crawford Bruce Kaye Warren E Limbrick Jonathan Mane Wheoki Grant Phillipson John Stenhouse and Rowan Strong

Henry Prinsep's Empire Malcolm Allbrook, 2014-09-01 Henry Prinsep is known as Western Australia's first Chief Protector of Aborigines in the colonial government of Sir John Forrest a period which saw the introduction of oppressive laws that dominated the lives of Aboriginal people for most of the twentieth century But he was also an artist horse trader member of a prominent East India Company family and everyday citizen whose identity was formed during his colonial upbringing in India and England As a creator of Imperial culture he supported the great men and women of history while he painted wrote about and photographed the scenes around him In terms of naked power he was a middle man perhaps even a small man His empire is an intensely personal place a vast network of family and friends from every quarter of the British imperial world engaged in the common tasks of making a home and a career while framing new identities new imaginings and new relationships with each other indigenous peoples and fellow colonists This book traces Henry Prinsep's life from India to Western Australia and shows how these texts and images illuminate not only Prinsep the man but the affectionate bonds that endured despite the geographic bounds of empire and the historical social geographic and economic origins of Aboriginal and colonial relationships which are important to this day

Te Puna - A New Zealand Mission Station Angela Middleton, 2009-03-01 Evangelical missionary societies have been associated with the processes of colonisation throughout the globe from India to Africa and into the Pacific In late 18th century Britain the Church Missionary Society for Africa and the East CMS began its missionary ventures and in the first decade of the 19th century sent three of its members to New South Wales Australia and then on to New Zealand an unknown little explored part of the world Across the globe a common material culture travelled with its evangelizing and later colonizing settlers with artefacts appearing as cultural markers from Cape Town in South Africa to Tasmania in Australia and the even more remote Bay of Islands in New Zealand After missionization colonization occurred Additionally common themes of interaction with indigenous peoples household economy the development of commerce and social and gender relations also played out in these communities This work is unique in that it provides the first archaeological examination of a New Zealand mission station and as such makes an important contribution to New Zealand historical archaeology and history It also situates the case study in a global context making a significant contribution to the international field of mission archaeology It informs a wider audience about the processes of colonization and culture contact in New Zealand along with the details of the material culture of the country's first European settlers providing a point of comparison with other outposts of British colonization      A Civilized Community Margaret McClure, 2013-10-01 A history of social security in New Zealand      Queer Indigenous Studies Qwo-Li Driskill, Chris Finley, Brian Joseph Gilley, Scott Lauria Morgensen, 2011-03-05 This book is an imagining So begins this collection examining critical Indigenous centered approaches to understanding gay lesbian bisexual transgender queer and Two Spirit GLBTQ2 lives and communities and the creative implications of queer theory in Native studies This book is not so much a manifesto as it is a dialogue a writing in conversation among a luminous group of scholar activists revisiting the history of gay and lesbian studies in Indigenous communities while forging a path for Indigenous centered theories and methodologies The bold opening to Queer Indigenous Studies invites new dialogues in Native American and Indigenous studies about the directions and implications of queer Indigenous studies The collection notably engages Indigenous GLBTQ2 movements as alliances that also call for allies beyond their bounds which the co editors and contributors model by crossing their varied identities including Native trans straight non Native feminist Two Spirit mixed blood and queer to name just a few Rooted in the Indigenous Americas and the Pacific and drawing on disciplines ranging from literature to anthropology contributors to Queer Indigenous Studies call Indigenous GLBTQ2 movements and allies to center an analysis that critiques the relationship between colonialism and heteropatriarchy By answering critical turns in Indigenous scholarship that center Indigenous epistemologies and methodologies contributors join in reshaping Native studies queer studies transgender studies and Indigenous feminisms Based on the reality that queer Indigenous people experience multilayered oppression that profoundly impacts our safety health and survival this book is at once an imagining and an invitation to the reader to join in the discussion of decolonizing queer Indigenous research and theory and by doing so to partake in allied resistance working toward positive change      Webs of Empire Tony Ballantyne, 2014-04-01 Breaking open colonization to reveal tangled cultural and economic networks Webs of Empire offers new paths into colonial history Linking Gore and Chicago Maori and Asia India and newspapers whalers and writing Ballantyne presents empire building as a spreading web of connected places people ideas and trade These links question narrow national stories while broadening perspectives on the past and the legacies of colonialism that persist today Bringing together essays from two decades of prolific publishing on international colonial history Webs of Empire establishes Tony Ballantyne as one of the leading historians of the British Empire      Her Master's Tools? Caroline Vander Stichele, Todd C. Penner, 2005 This collection of essays originating in the SBL International Meetings in Berlin 2002 and Cambridge 2003 explores the current reception of historical criticism in feminist biblical studies pushing the boundaries of past study and opening new vistas for future research By framing the discussion in the context of the current reevaluation of both historical criticism and feminist exegesis the contributors highlight the ongoing need to engage methodological issues In addition a strong postcolonial emphasis throughout the volume challenges the hegemony of Western biblical interpretation promoting a format of dialogue and engagement The collection brings together diverse cultural and geographical perspectives on biblical criticism with over ten countries represented Consisting of Western and non Western perspectives female and male scholars junior and senior voices in the field and a range of feminist scholars situated alongside postcolonial and gender critics this collection reveals not only the multiplicity of perspectives but also the various transitions in scholarship that have taken place over the past thirty years Volume contributors include Roland Boer Athalya Brenner Ann Graham Brock Kristin De Troyer Esther Fuchs Archie Chi Chung Lee Joseph Marchal John Marshall Hjamil Mart nez V zquez Madipoane Masenya ngwana Mphahlele Judith McKinlay Priscilla Geisterfer Nyvlt Jorunn kland Todd Penner Vernon Robbins Susanne Scholz Hanna Stenstr m and Caroline Vander Stichele Paperback edition is available from the Society of Biblical Literature www.sbl-site.org

Scottishness and Irishness in New Zealand since 1840 Angela McCarthy, 2017-02-01 This book examines the distinctive aspects that insiders and outsiders perceived as characteristic of Irish and Scottish ethnic identities in New Zealand When how and why did Irish and Scots identify themselves and others in ethnic terms What characteristics did the Irish and the Scots attribute to themselves and what traits did others assign to them Did these traits change over time and if so how Contemporary interest surrounding issues of ethnic identities is vibrant In countries such as New Zealand descendants of European settlers are seeking their ethnic origins spurred on in part by factors such as an ongoing interest in indigenous genealogies the burgeoning appeal of family history societies and the booming financial benefits of marketing ethnicities abroad This fascinating book will appeal to scholars and students of the history of empire and the construction of identity in settler communities as well as those interested in the history of New Zealand

Imperial White Radhika Mohanram, Radhika Mohanram shows not just how British imperial culture shaped the colonies but how the imperial rule of colonies shifted and gave new meanings to what it meant to be British Imperial White looks at literary social and cultural texts on the racialization of the British body and investigates British whiteness in the colonies to address such questions as How was the whiteness in Britishness constructed by the presence of Empire How was whiteness incorporated into the idea of masculinity Does heterosexuality have a color And does domestic race differ from colonial race In addition to these inquiries on the issues of race class and sexuality Mohanram effectively applies the methods of whiteness studies to British imperial material culture to critically racialize the relationship between the metropole and the peripheral colonies Considering whether whiteness like theory can travel Mohanram also provides a new perspective on white diaspora a phenomenon of the nineteenth century that has been largely absent in diaspora studies ultimately rereading and rethinking British imperial whiteness Radhika Mohanram teaches postcolonial cultural studies in the School of English Communication and Philosophy at Cardiff University Wales She is the author of Black Body Women Colonialism Space Minnesota 1999 and edits the journal Social Semiotics
