England We had been at sea almost four months Swallows swooped near the railings indicating land nearby Mrs Cavendish likened these busy twittering creatures to the dove with its olive branch She was right and within another day villages were spotted along the coast The water became noisy with dozens of tiny rocking boatloads of Indians Bumboat men Mrs Cavendish called them shouting to be heard over the cries of the villagers as they boasted of their merchandise hoping to sell coconuts bananas or tamarinds I hung over the railing watching as the natives threw ropes with baskets attached over the ship's side Some of the crew called down to them in a strange tongue that I couldn't identify putting coins into the baskets The baskets were lowered and then came up again filled with whatever the sailors had requested I longed to try the strange looking fruit but Mrs Cavendish with a slight shake of her head indicated that it would be beneath us to purchase anything in this way During the last few days as we grew ever closer to our destination excitement grew in me At first I attributed it to the beauty of the water and sun the flying fish sending little droplets of water onto the smooth sea but then realized it was something else I detected a difference in the atmosphere and whether it was the air itself or the degree of heat I couldn't say Perhaps the smells carried in the wind contributed to the unexplained breathlessness I experienced My nose filled with the strange smells of an unfamiliar populace the scents of unknown vegetation I felt as heady as I had when twirled in my first quadrille from The Linnet Bird
