Miroslav Volf ABOUT VOLUME FOUR All the world's religions are experiencing rapid change due to a confluence of social and economic global forces. Factors such as the pervasive intrusion of globalizing political and economic developments, polarized and morally equivalent presentations seen in the media and the sense of surety demanded in and promised by a culture dominated by science are some of the factors that have placed extreme pressure on all religious traditions. This has stimulated unprecedented responses by religious groups ranging from fundamentalism to the syncretistic search for meaning. As religion takes on new forms, the balance between individual and community is disrupted and reconfigured. Religions often lose the capacity to recall their ultimate purpose or lead their adherents toward it. This is the situation we call the crisis of the holy. It is a confluence of threats, challenges, and opportunities for all religions. This volume explores the contours of pressures, changes, and transformations and reflects on how all our religions are changing. By identifying commonalities across religions as they respond to these pressures, The Crisis of the Holy recommends ways religious traditions might cope with these changes and how they might join forces in doing so. Contributors: Vincent J. Cornell, Alon Goshen-Gottstein, Sidney H. Griffith, Maria Reis, Habito B. Barry, Levy Deepak, Sarma Michael, von Brück. ABOUT VOLUME FIVE The chapters collected in this book, prepared by a think tank of the Elijah Interfaith Academy, address the subject of religious leadership. The subject is of broad relevance in the training of religious leaders and in the practice of religious leadership. As such, it is also germane to religious thought where reflections on religious leadership occupy an important place. What does it mean to be a religious leader in today's world? To what degree are the challenges that confront religious leadership today the same perennial challenges that have arrested the attention of the faithful and their leaders for generations, and to what degree do we encounter challenges today that are unique to our day and age? One dimension is surely unique and that is the very ability to explore these issues from an interreligious perspective and to consider challenges, opportunities, and strategies across religious traditions. Studying the theme across six faith traditions: Christianity, Islam, Judaism, Sikhism, Hinduism, and Buddhism. The Future of Religious Leadership: World Religions in Conversation recognizes the common challenges to present-day religious leadership. Contributors: Awet Andemicael, Timothy J. Gianotti, Alon Goshen-Gottstein, Anantanand Rambachan, Maria Reis, Habito Meir Sendor, Balwant Singh, Dhillon Miroslav Volf. VOLUME SIX One of the biggest challenges for relations between religions is the view of the religious Other. The question touches the roots of our theological views. The Religious Other: Hostility, Hospitality, and the Hope of Human Flourishing explores the views of multiple religious traditions on how to regard otherness. How does one move from hostility to hospitality? How can hospitality be understood not simply as social hospitality but as theological hospitality, making room for the religious Other on theological grounds? What is our vision for the flourishing of the Other while respecting his otherness? This volume is an exercise in constructive interreligious theology. By including Abrahamic and non-Abrahamic traditions, it approaches these challenges from multiple perspectives, highlighting commonalities in approach and ways in which one tradition might inspire another. Contributors: Vincent J. Cornell, Alon Goshen-Gottstein, Richard P. Hayes.

This book moves away from ordinary myths of region and identity that have dominated academic and mediated representations of Punjab a land locked region divided between India and Pakistan after the Partition of 1947 and instead focuses on the role of the imagination in producing Punjab It deconstructs Punjab as an ethno spatial ethno linguistic and ethno cultural construct produced by the communities who dwell there those who have left it and those formed by new narratives of the region By isolating imaginings of Punjab that are not centred on exclusivist regional linguistic sectarian or caste perspectives contributions to this book propose the concept of free flowing cartographies in relation to Punjab which facilitate its imaginings as a geographical region a social construct and a state of consciousness The region is simultaneously imagined as a small place a neighbourhood a city and a village but also as a performative practice and a certain ways of doing things Through focusing on a number of Punjabi spaces and communities and engaging with Punjab as a geographical region social construct and state of consciousness the papers in the book hope to contribute to broader debates on transnationalism postnationalism micronationalism and new identity narratives emerging in the twenty first century This book was originally published as a special issue of South Asian Diaspora

Exploring Gender and Sikh Traditions Doris R. Jakobsh, 2021-09-01 This volume gathers scholars who focus on gender through a variety of disciplines and approaches to Sikh Studies The intersections of religion and gender are here explored based on an understanding that both are socially constructed Far from being static as so often presented in world religions textbooks religious traditions are constantly in flux responding to historical cultural and social contexts So too is the Sikh tradition in terms of practices ideologies rituals and notions of identity We here conclude that a Sikh tradition does not exist instead there are numerous forms thereof In this volume Sikhism is presented as a collection of Sikh traditions Gender studies in line with women s liberation masculine and feminist studies have long examined and have long deconstructed the patriarchy but also move to identify other subordinate dominant relations between individuals Indeed there are numerous forms of discrimination and power structures that simultaneously create a multiplicity of oppression Intersectionality has become the basis of an increasingly systematized production of contemporary discourses on feminism and gender analysis as is evidenced by the varied contributions in this volume
