Out of the Depths Barry Ivker,2014-03 The Holocaust has presented us with innumerable questions that we wrestle with today How could such systematic evil be perpetuated in a country renowned for its sophistication in all areas of the sciences and the arts How could the world turn a blind eye to what was happening and close its doors to potential victims How could ordinary people participate in this horror How could others act to save Jews at the risk of their own lives and the lives of their families How could those facing imminent destruction continue to study agricultural techniques useful to the future state of Israel or teach their children how to paint It is my hope that these plays will serve to focus on some of these questions even as we witness new genocidal wars around the world There is an imperative here as old as the Biblical account of Genesis It is for us to affirm the goodness of the world as it is the potential goodness of human nature and the need to create and procreate even in the force of destruction and death

Weaving Work and Motherhood Anita Ilta Garey, 1999 In American culture the image of balancing work and family life is often represented in the glossy shot of the executive track woman balancing cell phone laptop and baby In Weaving Work and Motherhood Anita Ilta Garey focuses not on the corporate executives so frequently represented in American ads and magazines but rather on the women in jobs that typify the vast majority of women's employment in the United States A sociologist and work and family expert Garey situates her research in the health service industry Interviewing a racially and ethnically diverse group of women hospital workers clerical workers janitorial workers nurses and nurse's aids Garey analyzes what it means to be at once a mother who is employed and a worker with children Within the limits of the resources available to them women integrate their identities as workers and their identities as mothers by valuing their relation to work while simultaneously preserving cultural norms about what it means to be a good mother Some of these women work non day shifts in order to have the right blocks of time at home including for example a registered nurse who explains how working the night shift enables her to see her children off to school greet them when they return and attend school events in the way she feels good mothers should even if she finds little time for sleep Moving beyond studies of women work and family in terms of structural incompatibilities Garey challenges images of the exclusively work oriented or exclusively family oriented mother As women talk about their lives Garey focuses on the meanings of motherhood and of work that underlie their strategies for integrating employment and motherhood She replaces notions of how women balance work and family with a better understanding of how women integrate negotiate and weave together their identities as both workers and mothers Breaking new ground in the study of work and family Weaving Work and Motherhood offers new insights for those interested in sociology gender and women's studies social policy child care social welfare and health care
