

A Personal Recollection of Bob Harney

W. H. Nelson

Today, as some of you will know, is the American Thanksgiving Day, a serious civic, if no longer a religious, holiday in the United States. It is a day of feasting and celebration, and Bob Harney enjoyed those aspects of it, and seemed to enjoy as well the day's opportunities for hospitality. I must say I would rather be at Bob Harney's house eating Thanksgiving dinner than here. And I am sure Bob would rather be at home on this day with his family and friends than here in remembered spirit.

Many of you, no doubt, know Bob Harney's personal history; some of you may not. He was brought up in Salem, Massachusetts, his neighbours Irish, French-Canadian, Italian, and some old-stock Yankees. His own family background was Irish and Jewish, with a bit of French-Canadian and only the slightest trace of Italian. His mother recalls that he had no apparent special interest in Italians as a boy (except for being beaten up from time to time by Italian kids), and became interested in Italian history at Harvard almost accidentally. It seems he was doing a paper on Yugoslav foreign relations and needed to use the diaries of Mussolini's Foreign Minister, Count Ciano, which were available only in Italian. He discovered he could, with only a little effort, read Italian, having some facility with languages and having won a Latin prize in preparatory school. In any event, he took to Italian history, and went from Harvard to Berkeley to do a Ph. D. in Italian history under Richard Webster's direction.

More Than A Movie

Miguel Valenti, 2018-04-24 In More Than a Movie producer and entertainment attorney F Miguel Valenti presents a compelling argument for the creative community to consider the consequences of its products from movies to TV to the Internet Valenti refrains from attacking the industries in which he himself works but argues for reflection on the part of those who create media More Than a Movie takes a pioneering first step toward outlining the issues in an insider fashion and provides the tools to make ethical decisions about creating for the big and small screens Edited by veteran media writer Les Brown and media consultant Laurie Trotta More Than a Movie is written to stimulate debate in professional and academic arenas and for the enjoyment of everyone who loves entertainment The book contains a foreword by noted author and director Peter Bogdanovich and commentary from producers Christine Vachon and David Brown Mediascope a Studio City California based media policy organization commissioned the book upon discovering that ethical discussions seldom occur in film and television schools although they are staples for studying law medicine business and journalism Issues range from ethnic and gender stereotyping to excessive and gratuitous violence It s not about censorship it s about having a responsibility for what we do says author Valenti no relation to MPAA s Jack Valenti The book outlines how we are helping to shape societal values and individual behavior with the artistic choices we make A team of writers from across the nation offer essays Neil Hickey editor Columbia Journalism Review Annette Insdorf Columbia University Ted Pease professor and columnist Jack Pitman Variety Martin Koughan Emmy Award winning documentarian The essays in More Than a Movie are interspersed with stories of actual ethical dilemmas told by noted screenwriters directors and other practitioners in interviews by Manhattan writer Laura Blum

To Establish Justice for All Earl Johnson,2013-11-12 For over a century many have struggled to turn the Constitution s prime goal to establish Justice into reality for Americans who cannot afford lawyers through civil legal aid This book explains how and why American statesman Sargent Shriver called the Legal Services Program the most important of all the War on Poverty programs he started American Bar Association president Edward Kuhn said its creation was the most important development in the history of the legal profession Earl Johnson Jr a former director of the War on Poverty s Legal Services Program provides a vivid account of the entire history of civil legal aid from its inception in 1876 to the current day The first to capture the full story of the dramatic ongoing struggle to bring equal justice to those unable to afford a lawyer this monumental three volume work covers the personalities and events leading to a national legal aid movement and decades later the federal government s entry into the field and its creation of a unique institution an independent Legal Services Corporation to run the program The narrative also covers the landmark court victories the attorneys won and the political controversies those cases generated along with the heated congressional battles over the shape and survival of the Legal Services Corporation In the final chapters the author assesses the current state of civil legal aid and its future prospects in the United States

Lost in Transition: Constructing Memory in Contemporary Spain H. Rosi Song,2016-05-06 This book examines contemporary recollection of Spain s transition to democracy in the late 1970s and its connection to the country s current political financial and cultural crises through fiction film and television

Mining Memory Mary Beth Tierney-Tello,2017-01-23 Every major Peruvian author of the twentieth century has written a narrative focused on childhood or coming of age Mining Memory argues that Peruvian narratives of the twentieth century re imagine childhood not only to document personal pasts but also to focus on national identity as a dynamic and incomplete process Mining Memory shows how 20th century narratives and films reimagine the self and the nation by representing child and adolescent protagonists and their evolution using the remembrance of childhood as part of a nation making project The book demonstrates how in the context of Peru fictions focusing on childhood become vehicles for the national reimagining and collective remembering central to much of Latin American literature The figure of the child as emblem of both a collective memory and an always deferred utopian project holds special promise for twentieth century Peruvian writers as they write from a national context rife with cultural racial and political conflict The book intervenes in debates internal to Peruvian cultural studies as well as wider conversations in Latin American Studies and post colonial studies Mining Memory provides a new understanding to both the Latin American and Anglo American traditions regarding the representations of national subjectivities through the voices of the child and adolescent Such a representational strategy performs a very particular kind of hybridity and temporal balancing act capable of addressing the very issues of cultural memory and fractured identities so relevant to multi cultural post colonial cultural contexts

History and memory Geoffrey Cubitt,2013-01-18 In recent years memory has become a central though also a controversial concept in historical studies a term that denotes both a new and distinctive field of study and a fresh way of conceptualizing history as a field of inquiry more generally This book which is aimed both at specialists and at students provides historians with an accessible and stimulating introduction to debates and theories about memory and to the range of approaches that have been taken to the study of it in history and other disciplines Contributing in a wide ranging way to debate on some of the central conceptual problems of memory studies the book explores the relationships between the individual and the collective between memory as survival and memory as reconstruction between remembering as a subjective experience and as a social or cultural practice and between memory and history as modes of retrospective knowledge

The Philosophy of Human Learning Christopher Winch,2002-01-04 The Philosophy of Human Learning addresses current concerns with the nature of human learning from a distinctive philosophical perspective Using insights derived from the work of Wittgenstein it mounts a vigorous attack on influential contemporary accounts of learning both in the romantic Rousseauian tradition and in the scientific cognitivist tradition These two schools Professor Winch argues are more closely related than is commonly realised

Memory and Suggestibility in the Forensic Interview Mitchell L. Eisen,Jodi A. Quas,Gail S. Uncovered Katherine Hempstead,2024-06-18 Historically the insurance industry in America has been fragmented As a result there have been debates and conflicts over the proper roles of federal and state governments business and the responsibilities of individuals Who should cover the risks of loss And to what extent should risk be shared and by whom In Uncovered Katherine Hempstead answers these questions by exploring the history of the insurance business and its regulation in the United States from the 1870s through the twentieth century Specifically she focuses on the friction between the public demand for insurance and the private imperatives of insurers Tracing the history of the industry from the early days of life fire and casualty insurance to the development of state regulation in the late nineteenth century Hempstead examines the role that insurers initially played in the largely voluntary social safety net and how this changed over time After the Great Depression the federal government assumed a greater role in the provision of insurance while insurers enthusiastically pursued the growing business of employee benefits As the twentieth century progressed insurers and government have become interdependent with insurers participating in publicly funded markets As Hempstead shows periodic crises in life fire health auto and liability insurance highlighted gaps between the coverage that insurers were willing to provide and what the public demanded Highlighting how the major part states play in insurance regulation has made it harder to solve important problems Uncovered fundamentally changes our understanding of the crucial role that insurance has always played in American politics

Jesus and the Eyewitnesses Richard Bauckham, 2008-09-22 Noted New Testament scholar Bauckham challenges the prevailing assumption the accounts of Jesus circulated as anonymous community traditions instead asserting that they were transmitted in the name of the original eyewitness The Dynamics

Of Foreign-policy Decisionmaking In China Ning Lu, 2018-02-19 Lu Ning former assistant to a vice foreign minister of China draws on archival materials interviews and personal experiences to provide unique insights into the formal and informal structures processes mechanisms and dynamics of and key players in foreign policy decisionmaking in Beijing Lu Ning sheds light on controversial decisions that were made such as China's entering the Korean War selling DF 3 missiles to Saudi Arabia in 1986 and cooperating with the Israeli defense establishment Lu Ning divulges the inner workings of Beijing's foreign ministry introduces new Chinese language sources and presents a series of case studies that challenge existing Western theoretical analysis of Chinese policymaking Based on his examination of the past forty years Lu Ning makes predictions about likely changes in Beijing's leadership and in its foreign policy decisionmaking process This accessibly written incisive book will be invaluable to anyone interested in Sinology Chinese foreign policy comparative foreign policy and contemporary international relations of East Asia This second edition contains a fully revised Introduction and it has been updated through President Clinton's recent visit to China The new edition also contains new material on the Clinton Administration's varying policy positions toward China

Topographies of Memories Anita Bakshi, 2017-11-09 This book explores new approaches towards developing memorial and heritage sites moving beyond the critique of existing practices that have been the traditional focus of studies of commemoration Offering understandings of the effects of conflict on memories of place as manifested in everyday lives and official histories it explores the formation of urban identities and constructed images of the city Topographies of Memories suggests interdisciplinary approaches for creating commemorative sites with shared stakes The first part of the book focuses on memory dynamics the second on Nicosia the divided capital of Cyprus and the third on physical and material world interventions Design practices and modes of engagement with places of memory are explored making connections between theoretical explorations of memory and forgetting and practical strategies for designers and practitioners
