Silas Weir Mitchell,1905 Personal Recollections Of Abraham Lincoln And The Civil War (Expanded, Annotated) James R.

Gilmore,1899-01-01 In 1864 America was more than weary of the bloody civil war At that moment James R Gilmore made a suggestion to Abraham Lincoln to take to Confederate President Jefferson Davis a set of accords by which the North would be willing to have peace But the purpose of the trip was to propose terms that Lincoln and Gilmore knew Northerners and the rest of the world would consider fair and that the Confederates would never accept thereby gaining Jeff Davis the scorn of the world It would also help secure Lincoln the 1864 election What made Gilmore the man to take the message was his familiarity with the South He d spent 20 years there as a businessman before the war and knew many prominent people Right after the attack on Fort Sumter he was asked to meet with Abraham Lincoln to talk about southern feelings They subsequently met many times Gilmore came to Lincoln with his peace idea and asked will you allow me five minutes by a slow watch Lincoln replied Yes ten and if you are very entertaining I ll give you twenty In a remarkable account of presidential plausible deniability before the term was even invented they had this exchange in the presence of Salmon Chase GILMORE I have accepted sir I answered on the condition that you allow me to make such overtures to Davis as will put him entirely in the wrong if he should reject them LINCOLN But first another question Do you understand that I neither suggest nor request nor direct you to take this journey GILMORE I do LINCOLN And will you say so if it should seem to me to be necessary GILMORE I will whether you should ask it of me or not LINCOLN And if those people should hold on to you should give you free lodgings till our election is over or in any other manner treat you unlike gentlemen do you understand that I shall be absolutely powerless to help you GILMORE I understand that sir fully LINCOLN And you are willing to go entirely upon your own muscle GILMORE No sir not upon my muscle I suspect it will be more a matter of nerve than of muscle LINCOLN Do you hear that Mr Chase said Mr Lincoln with an indescribable look of comic gravity He criticises my English at the very moment I am giving him an office Every memoir of the American Civil War provides us with another view of the catastrophe that changed the country forever For the first time this long out of print volume is available as an affordable well formatted book for e readers and smartphones Be sure to LOOK INSIDE by clicking the cover above or download a sample
