preparations of the Hyolmo their specific rituals of grieving and the practices they use to heal the psychological trauma of loss Desjarlais's research marks a major advance in the ethnographic study of death dying and grief one with broad implications Ethnologically nuanced beautifully written and twenty five years in the making Subject to Death is an insightful study of how fundamental aspects of human existence identity memory agency longing bodiliness are enacted and eventually dissolved through social and communicative practices

Death and Bereavement Across Cultures Colin Murray Parkes, Pittu Laungani, William Young, 2015-06-05 All societies have their own customs and beliefs surrounding death In the West traditional ways of mourning are disappearing and although Western science has had a major impact on how people die it has taught us little about the way to die or to grieve Many whose work brings them into contact with the dying and the bereaved from Western and other cultures are at a loss to know how to offer appropriate and sensitive support Death and Bereavement Across Cultures 2nd Edition is a handbook which meets the needs of doctors nurses social workers hospital chaplains counsellors and volunteers caring for patients with life threatening illness and their families before and after bereavement It is a practical guide explaining the religious and other differences commonly met with in multi cultural societies when someone is dying or bereaved In doing so readers may be surprised to find how much we can learn from other cultures about our own attitudes and assumptions about death Written by international experts in the field the book Describes the rituals and beliefs of major world religions Explains their psychological and historical context Shows how customs are changed by contact with the West Considers the implications for the future The second edition includes new chapters that explore how members of the health care professions perform roles formerly conducted by priests and shamans can cross the cultural gaps between different cultures and religions consider the relevance of attitudes and assumptions about death for our understanding of religious and nationalist extremism and its consequences discuss the Buddhist Islamic and Christian ways of death Death raises questions which science cannot answer Whatever our personal beliefs we can all gain from learning how others view these ultimate problems This book explores the richness of mourning traditions around the world with the aim of increasing the sensitivity and understanding which we all bring to the issue of death and bereavement

Irregular Unions Katharine Cleland, 2021-03-15 Katharine Cleland's Irregular Unions provides the first sustained literary history of clandestine marriage in early modern England and reveals its controversial nature in the wake of the Elizabethan Religious Settlement which standardized the marriage ritual for the first time Cleland examines many examples of clandestine marriage across genres Discussing such classic works as The Faerie Queene Othello and The Merchant of Venice she argues that early modern authors used clandestine marriage to explore the intersection between the self and the marriage ritual in post Reformation England The ways in which authors grappled with the political and social complexities of clandestine marriage Cleland finds suggest that these narratives were far more than interesting plot devices or scandalous stories ripped from the headlines Instead after the Reformation fictions of clandestine marriage allowed early century Capoeira, Mobility, and Tourism Sergio González Varela, 2019-05-22 In Capoeira Mobility and Tourism Preserving an Afro Brazilian Tradition in a Globalized World Sergio González Varela examines the mobility of capoeira leaders and practitioners. He analyzes their motivations and spirituality as well as their ability to reconfigure social practices. Varela draws on tourism mobilities, multisited ethnography, global networks, heritage, and the anthropology of ritual and religion in order to stress the commitment, dedication, and value that international practitioners bring to capoeira. For more information, check out A Conversation with Sergio González Varela Ritual in Its Own Right Don Handelman, Galina Lindquist, 2005. First published in 2004 by Berghahn Books. Social analysis volume 48 issue 2 summer 2004. T p verso The Character of the Self in Ancient India Brian Black, 2012-02-16. This groundbreaking book is an elegant exploration of the Upanisads, often considered the fountainhead of the rich, varied philosophical tradition in India. The Upanisads, in addition to their philosophical content, have a number of sections that contain narratives and dialogues, a literary dimension largely ignored by the Indian philosophical tradition, as well as by modern scholars. Brian Black draws attention to these literary elements and demonstrates that they are fundamental to understanding the philosophical claims of the text. Focusing on the Upanisadic notion of the self, the book is organized into four main sections that feature a lesson taught by a brahmin teacher to a brahmin student, debates between brahmins, discussions between brahmins and kings, and conversations between brahmins and women. These dialogical situations feature dramatic elements that bring attention to both the participants and the social contexts of Upanisadic philosophy, characterizing philosophy as something achieved through discussion and debate. In addition to making a number of innovative arguments, the author also guides the reader through these profound and engaging texts, offering ways of reading the Upanisads that make them more understandable and accessible. Histories of Religious Thought and Practice in Africa PROFESSOR LOUIS. BRENNER, 2024-12-17. This book is a richly detailed comparative analysis of endogenous Muslim and Christian religious thought and practice in sub-Saharan Africa. Organized thematically, the book presents a conceptual and analytical framework for the study of religious traditions as complex and constantly evolving social phenomena. The most salient theme in the book is how different religious traditions defined and provided for the personal and communal wellbeing of their adherents. Other major themes explore how religious traditions have influenced one another, how religious practitioners conceptualized and interacted with spiritual entities, how religious knowledge and expertise were acquired and transmitted, how rituals were organized and structured in order to achieve their aims, and how rituals affected those who performed them. Additional topics analysed include the personalization of relationships with spiritual entities, the gendering of religious thought and practice, how personal transformative rituals were conceptualized and enacted with reference to stages of the life cycle such as birth, marriage, and death, and how suffering was seen as integral to the process of personal transformation. Overall, the book engages with issues that continue to animate the study of religious thought and practice in Africa and African studies more generally. Moebius Anthropology Don

Handelman, Matan Shapiro, Jackie Feldman, 2020-10-07 Don Handelman's groundbreaking work in anthropology is showcased in this collection of his most powerful essays edited by Matan Shapiro and Jackie Feldman. The book looks at the intellectual and spiritual roots of Handelman's initiation into anthropology, his work on ritual and on bureaucratic logic, analyses of cosmology, and innovative essays on Anthropology and Deleuzian thinking. Handelman reconsiders his theory of the forming of form and how this relates to a new theory of the dynamics of time. This will be the definitive collection of articles by one of the most important anthropologists of the late 20th Century. Contemporary Confucian Political Philosophy Stephen C. Angle, 2012-06-25 Confucian political philosophy has recently emerged as a vibrant area of thought both in China and around the globe. This book provides an accessible introduction to the main perspectives and topics being debated today and shows why Progressive Confucianism is a particularly promising approach. Students of political theory or contemporary politics will learn that far from being confined to a museum, contemporary Confucianism is both responding to current challenges and offering insights from which we can all learn. The Progressive Confucianism defended here takes key ideas of the twentieth-century Confucian philosopher Mou Zongsan (1909-1995) as its point of departure for exploring issues like political authority and legitimacy, the rule of law, human rights, civility, and social justice. The result is anti-authoritarian without abandoning the ideas of virtue and harmony; it preserves the key values Confucians find in ritual and hierarchy without giving in to oppression or domination. A central goal of the book is to present Progressive Confucianism in such a way as to make its insights manifest to non-Confucians, be they philosophers or simply citizens interested in the potential contributions of Chinese thinking to our emerging shared world. Death and Bereavement Across Cultures Pittu Laungani, William Young, 2003-09-02 All societies have their own customs and beliefs surrounding death. In the West, traditional ways of mourning are disappearing, and though science has had a major impact on views of death, it has taught us little about the way to die or to grieve. Many who come into contact with the dying and the bereaved from other cultures are at a loss to know how to offer appropriate and sensitive support. Death and Bereavement Across Cultures provides a handbook with which to meet the needs of doctors, nurses, social workers, counsellors, and others involved in the care of the dying and bereaved. Written by international authorities in the field, this important text describes the rituals and beliefs of major world religions, explains their psychological and historical context, shows how customs change on contact with the West, considers the implications for the future. This book explores the richness of mourning traditions around the world with the aim of increasing the understanding which we all bring to the issue of death.
